WINNIPEG BOUND

MR. AND MRS. Robert Elder, who are living in Winnipeg, were married in Knox Presbyterian Church in a ceremony performed by Rev. Norman Young. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Benham of town and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Elder of Toronto.

Winnipeg New Home For Georgetown Bride

Pink and white flowers and flat bows on top and stand-out aqua gowns blended into a pastel background for the August 19th wedding of Carol Ann Benham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Benham, 55 Market St., and Robert James Elder, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Elder of Toronto.

Standards of white gladioli and pink mums decorated Knox Presbyterian Church for the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony, at which Rev. Norman Young officiated. Organist was Mrs. Gowland and Miss Frances Heslop sang 'The Lord's Prayer' and 'O Promise Me.'

Organza Rose
The bridal gown was floor-length, of white silk organza over taffeta, applique around the neckline and on the skirt. The slight bustle back was topped by a flat bow. A large silk organza rose in white held her shoulder length flared veil. White gardenias and stephanotis formed a cascade bouquet. Matron of honour was Mrs. Barbara Johnson and bridesmaids were Miss Jean Penrice and Miss Carol Hicham. They were dressed alike in aqua silk organza. Their gowns were street length and trimmed in lace at the neckline and skirt edge.

The matron of honour wore a large aqua rose and stand-out veil identical to the bride's, and the bride was an employee of the headpieces of the bridesmaids were petalled bands with Lid. in Brampton.

Goodlet-Carney Wedding In Norval United Church

Standards of pink and white gladioli decorated Norval United Church on August 26th for ushers. The marriage of Sheila Doreen Carney and Thomas Brian Goodlet.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Carney of de soie dress with black shoes and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Goodlet, 8 Edith St.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Lloyd Freelt. Ronald Laidlaw played the organ and Mrs. Clark Lyons sang 'I'll Walk Beside You' and 'O Perfect Love.'

Ice White
The bride was gowned in Italian peau de soie, ice white, swept into a chapel length train. Her Irish Limerick lace jacket finished with three quarter sleeves. Seed pearls and orange blossoms held the finger tip veil, which was appliqued with Limerick lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white roses and orange blossoms.

Miss Marilyn Souther was maid of honour in green taffeta with an over-dress of white organza embroidered in pink and green flowers. Pink carnations complemented her gown.

Pink Taffeta
Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carl Schenk, Mrs. William Staines, and Miss Wendy Saunders. Their dresses were pink taffeta with white organza embroidered in pink and green flowers as an overdress. They carried crescents of green carnations. Mr. Carney gave his daughter in marriage. Groomsman was Ken Langdon of Downsview and Charles Carney, and Ken

Gideons, Businessmen Arrange Manor Services

By Muriel Thompson
The residents of the Manor are indebted to two organizations for having arranged church services in the Chapel for all the Sundays in July and August. These organizations are the Gideons of the Oakville Millon camp and the Christian Businessmen's committee of Oakville.

On Sunday afternoon, August 6th, the Christian Businessmen were in charge of the service. Mr. Garfield Browne led the singing, with Mrs. Browne at the organ. Mr. George McAllister delivered the sermon, the theme of which was Christ as the Good Shepherd. He drew upon verses in Chapter 53 of Isaiah and Chapter 10 of St. John's Gospel, as well as Psalm 23 to describe what a good shepherd in Biblical times did for his sheep and what Jesus, the Divine Shepherd, can do for us today.

The service on Sunday afternoon, August 13th, was conducted by the Oakville Corps of the Salvation Army. Mr. Andrew Dalby, a member of the Oakville Gideons, was on hand to introduce Lt. and Mrs. C. H. Williams, the officers in charge of the Corps, to the congregation.

The Army brought its own hymn book, Songs of Salvation, with it, and a number of familiar hymns were sung. These were accompanied by Gordon Castle at the organ and by a small band of seven instrumentalists. Two young girls also played the timbrels for some of the hymns.

Six ladies belonging to the Army sang the musical number 'Heart Aches' a male quartette sang the hymn 'When I Survey the Wondrous Cross' and the band played several numbers. A very welcome guest was Mrs. Don Ballantine of Windsor, Ont., who is a sister of Lt. Williams. She sang a very fine solo, a new setting of the familiar hymn, 'What a Friend We Have in Jesus.'

Mrs. Williams offered prayers and several personal testimonies were given. Lt. Williams based a brief sermon on verse 8 of Chapter 13 of Hebrews, stressing the thought that Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever.

It is quite some time since any copy of the Salvation Army has conducted a service at the Manor and this service was enjoyed and appreciated very much.

Softball Game
On Sunday afternoon, August 13th, a number of the men residents attended a softball game at the Meter Plant diamond in Milton. It was a game between the Bel-Air and Meter teams, both of which belong to the Milton Industrial Softball League.

Transportation was provided and every care was taken of the residents. Each resident was presented with a commemorative pin. The residents enjoyed the game very much and appreciated the generosity of the men and ladies who made such a pleasant afternoon possible.

On Sunday afternoon, August 20th, Mr. Dalby was again the welcome leader at the church service in the Chapel. He introduced Rev. M. Christensen of the Highway Gospel Church in Milton as the speaker. Mr. and Mrs. John Cheeper, who are members of the same Church, provided the music for the service. Mrs. Cheeper played and is able to do a little bit to the organ for the singing of the hymns and accompanied the couple when he sang a very enjoyable solo, 'The Old Rugged Cross.' Mr. and Mrs. Cheeper also sang a fine duet, 'I See a Crimson Stream.'

Mr. Christensen delivered an interesting and consoling sermon with the theme 'Asking' which he based on Verse 14 of Chapter 14 of St. John's Gospel.

Mr. Christensen pointed out that in this verse Jesus was speaking to His disciples and in the same way He speaks to us today, telling us that if we ask a favour in His name, it will be granted us.

Four staunch friends of the residents came to the Manor on Sunday afternoon, August 27, to conduct the church service in the Chapel. These friends were three Gideons, Mr. Stanley Wright, Mr. A. Dalby and Mr. Norman Hare, and one lady, Mrs. Norman Hare, who played the organ. Mr. Hare sang two very enjoyable solos 'In Times Like These,' and 'The City Four Square.'

Mr. Wright was the speaker, and before delivering his very earnest sermon, he read part of Chapter 9 of Isaiah. He based his sermon on this portion of Scripture and on verse 2 of Isaiah.

Mr. Wright explained that Isaiah foretold the coming of Christ some eight hundred years before Christ's birth. Christ is often spoken of as the Prince of Peace, yet in our present age, nearly two thousand years after His birth, we have more fear, more turmoil and more wars than ever before. Peace will come only when Christ comes again, and so the hope of the nations is in the Second Coming of Christ.

his own gardening too, and he grows excellent tomatoes, cucumbers, beans, etc.
They are very proud, too, of the photographs of by-gone days that are everywhere on the walls and on the tables. It takes quite a time to see them all and to hear about them, but they mean a visit to the Herkes' is most interesting and enjoyable.

We have had a happy life together," said Mrs. Herkes. "Not without its ups-and-downs, of course, but it has been a good life." Mr. Herkes is uncle of a Georgetown resident John "Scotty" Herkes, 56 Hewson Crescent.

Fort Erie Parents 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lee King and children Paul and Laura, 16 Mill-St. were in Fort Erie recently to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. King. Mr. and Mrs. King were married in Innerkip where he was manager of the old Standard Bank. He was later in the insurance business in Woodstock and for fifteen years worked with Fleet Aircraft in Fort Erie, retiring last spring.

Their three sons, Lee, Victor of Woodstock and Robert of Richmond Hill with their wives and six grandchildren were joined by a number of other relatives for dinner at the Royal Hotel which is operated by former Georgetown residents Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heslop. There was another local touch to the party, a 3-tiered wedding cake which was the product of the local Scotch Bakery.

Couple Reminisces At 65th Anniversary

as written in the Brampton Times and Conservator

Celebrating their 65th wedding anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Herkes, 68 Wellington St. E. and when I called on them on the previous Friday, their living room was a mass of flowers sent to them by a friend who had heard of the occasion from 'a little bird.'

So he stated in the letter he sent them congratulating them on attaining this outstanding milestone in their lives.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Herkes can relate many tales of their childhood. She was born in the north of Scotland on Lord Lov-bath's estate, where her father was employed, and she lived for some time on a street in Liverpool where I had lived in my childhood for eight years.

It isn't often that such a coincidence arises, and consequently, friendships are sealed and strengthened on such a basis. Mr. Herkes came from Edinburgh district and his south country accent is well in evidence.

Many of Mrs. Herkes paintings hang on the walls, and on a table there is a large vase decorated all over with designs in colored beads that she made.

She also did a lot of fancy work and embroidery. Although she can no longer do these things, she likes to read a lot.

Can Really Say Now Born in Georgetown

In the somewhat-over-a-month that Georgetown hospital was in operation at the end of July a total of 153 adults and children had been admitted as patients.

It is common for local natives to say 'I was born in Georgetown' but it would be technically more correct to say Brampton or Geelph, for until the new hospital opened, a large majority of births took place in hospitals in those communities.

However, 42 new youngsters can now boast without equivocation that Georgetown is their birthplace, for that is the total of boys and girls delivered by local doctors in the period ending July 31st.

Statistics provided by hospital administrator Graham Gillbody show 6 major and 40 minor operations performed; 149 patients treated on an emergency basis and 262 patients x-rayed.

Slightly over 6,000 meals were served to patients and the total days of care given amounted to 1209.

As of July 31st, the hospital was employing 117 full time staff members and 3 part-time. Cost of providing service during the month period totalled $53,929. Of this $38,154 was for salaries, $4,174 for medical and surgical supplies, and $10,417 for other supplies and expenses.
