

Raiders Trounce Port Credit Again

When Port Credit killers make their application for admission to the 1962-63 addition of the Central Ontario Intermediate A hockey league, the OHA might do well to file it promptly in the waste basket.

Friday night the league bowties took their second shattering in succession from the Georgetown Raiders, this time swallowing a 14 to 3 rout. But it was not fact that the club lost by such a wide margin that rates a second look by the league fathers. It was the way it came about.

Raiders customers brought a more degree cold than to be in the ice pavilion for 40 minutes of intermediate hockey but the pre-New Year's turkey turned out to be chicken soup. Port Credit didn't show up. At least two thirds of the team elderly.

The Raiders started a lineup of 8 men including the goalie, and an early injury reduced it to 7. With a much larger lineup in midweek and on their home ice, the Raiders had gone under 9-0 to the Raiders so what fans were in store for couldn't be exactly termed suspenseful. The P.C.'s were part of the same situation last year at the height of the holiday season when they turned up with five players. Raiders were handed the game by default.

It may have been a little less painless all around if a couple more Raiders had decided to abandon ship just before game time Friday, so this one could have died the same death.

But it is an ill wind, etc. Raiders snipers used the lopsided battle to fatten their point totals. Dave Irons and Doug Richardson each netted hat tricks, Moe Galand scored the showdown is scheduled for this upcoming weekend when Fords and Raiders crash head on in home and home tussles for six (6) points. Four points will be at stake here Friday when a transplanted 10 minute overtime period will be played off before the regular game which should have been fought out in November. The other two go up for grabs back in the marshland on Saturday night.

SPORT SHORTS: Nick Ferri who left the action early in the season with a back injury would like to watch the rest of the campaign from the seats, but the club exec say he'll be back in uniform — Blake Inglis' apparent switch from goal scorer supreme to play maker supreme (he has 21 assists) hasn't caused Elmer Lee any new gray hairs, however Blake isn't jumping up and down about his new success — he'd like to be popping them in the net again.

Patten Totals

McDonald scored twice and Neil once for the losers. Surprisingly the Raiders led only 3-0 at the end of the first period, but built it to 9 by the end of the second. Shots on goal were by Raiders 65, by Port Credit 18.

Bradford Series

Georgetown coach Elmer Lee wasn't smiling.

The two point gift put the Raiders into undisputed possession of 2nd place in the seven team circuit but what it may have done to their timing and desire could be chaotic. The Bradford Brad's Fords are just two points behind the locals and

"GHOST OF CHRISTMAS PAST"

STRIPPED OF ALL the glitter that made her a thing of wonder to the children only a few days ago, the Christmas tree, which on December 26th became the most complete item in the house, gets the old leave-home next week when garbagemen make a special pickup exclusively for the ejected confetti.
