Extra Day is Slated For Bantam Hockey

Easter Tournament Is Planned Again

Organization for Georgetown's second annual bantam hockey tournament got under way on Thursday when a group of interested men and women met in the arena house room to make initial plans.

The tournament is again slated for Easter week, and will comprise 40 teams in a week-long elimination tournament which will begin on Saturday, April 21st. An extra day has been added this year, and competitors increased by six.

Walter "Red" Asseline is again chairman of the tournament committee. Paul Armstrong will be vice chairman and Jan Toupousis treasurer.

Food an Army

It is expected that the Legion ladies will again supervise the catering, with other ladies groups taking turns in this important department.

The Kinettes will be in charge of billposting, and service clubs are being asked to look after transportation, entertainment and trophies. Ladies of the All Star support group are conducting a lucky draw and will look after the souvenir booth.

Chairman Asseline told the meeting that most of last year's entries are expected to return, and new teams may include Winnipeg, Mount Royal, Quebec, Copper Cliff, Kingston, St. E. Marie and Petawawa.

New Trophy

A new trophy has been added, one for the runner-up in the playoffs, with the Board of Parks Management offering to donate this.

Reviewing last year's tournament, the treasurer reported a net profit of $10.17.

Total tournament cost was $1870.00, with main items of expense food and crests, the latter provided by the town council.

Sales in the souvenir booth were disappointing, and surplus items will be put on sale again this year.

Council Still Is Divided On Industrial Appointments

THEY RECOMMEND AN OPERATION —Peter Jones, Georgetown

OUT OF THE MOUTHS of babes, and the minds of writers and composers, some times come the wisest gems. And it's almost inevitable that when this group gets down to business the ideas flow. They're the "brains" behind Operation '62, the satirical stage show which this year will replace Show Boat as the highlight of the local entertainment scene. Left to right, Herald reporter Mrs. Al Currie, lyrics writer Wheldon "Steamer" Emmerson, the show's director-producer, Lem Rundle, writer; and Ralph Ussel, music director-composer. "Operation" is a joint Rotary Club - Hospital project. It will be ready for the stage in April.

Can't Agree Who and How Many on Board

Selecting an industrial commission seems to be as tough a proposition for council this year as the unbecoming of new industry to locate here.

The question has occupied the lion's share of time at the first three council meetings of 1962, and still no appointments have been made.

Twenty Members

On Monday, from a welter of motions, some presented and then withdrawn, council finally arrived at a recorded vote on a Harrison - McNeilly proposal which would establish the commission as a 20-member group. Mayor Sargent and Cr. Cock supported the motion, and when the other five councillors lined up against it, discussion ended for the night.

A suggestion of Reeve Elliott that the matter be discussed again at a committee of the whole meeting Wednesday indicated that some decision might be made by next Monday.

The defeated motion would have had the commission comprise the mayor and three councillors, 7 recommendations by the Jaycees, 4 by the Chamber and 10 members from the town of Georgetown.

Earlier the mayor reviewed a list of ten names of potential members submitted a week ago by Cr. McNeilly. The town clerk had contacted the men and found nine willing to act on the commission.

Deputy Reeve Hunter challenged that the list contained names of some Chamber of Commerce members and he thought the Chamber should be entitled to name its own representatives.

"I phoned one of these men and he said Cr. McNeilly had told him the job would entail one night and half a day a month. Is that an active commission?" he asked.

"I told him there is one meeting a month, but I didn't say what other time is entailed," replied Cr. McNeilly.

Cr. Harrison remarked that the deputy Reeve had said last week that half of the 1961 commissioners were not active, yet it had been made up of Chamber and council appointees.

"This list could be used by the Chamber as a guide for their choices," he said. "It wasn't our intent to tell the Chamber who to pick, only to be helpful."

Cr. Brown thought council should start with the mayor and two councillors as a nucleus and build a commission from there.

Cr. Barrager agreed. "The commission was originally formed to assist land developers in obtaining a proper industrial rate," he said.

Cr. McNeilly said he couldn't understand the confusion. "We need industry. My idea was to augment the commission with these ten names, not to restrict it to them," he said.

Two other motions which were never formally presented were reviewed by the mayor — one that part of the commission be composed of the ten names submitted, another which would appoint Cr. Harrison to the commission.

"I'm not self employed or a read estate salesman, and if I were on the commission my first consideration would have to be my employer" said Cr. Harrison.

"If the councillor is hinting at me, I can assure you there has been no personal gain," said Deputy Reeve Hunter. "If I rendered a bill for time spent in industrial promotion last year, there would be something coming to me."

Cr. Cock said he was bothered that there seems to be an undercurrent which hampers the commission's efficiency.

"Mightn't it be advisable to let the Chamber of Commerce choose the commission and do away with the feeling that some individual might gain by the normal course of his business," he said.

Before the formal motion was finally presented, two more amendments were made, but ruled out of order by the mayor as being entirely new motions, rather than amendments.

St. George's Anglican Has New Appointment

Rev. John McMulklin Coming As Rector

Rev. John H. McMulklin, B.A., S.T.B., will become rector of St. George's Anglican Church on March 1st.

The appointment was announced on Sunday by Rev. Kenneth Richardson who is leaving after an eight year pastorate to become a hospital chaplain in Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and their family moved to the city last week, but he will continue as priest in charge of the local church for the next month, commuting from Hamilton for Sunday services.

A Toronto native, Mr. McMulklin, is presently rector of St. Patrick's Church, Guelph. After graduation from the University of Toronto and Trinity College, he served as curate at St. James, Dundas and rector at Christ Church, West Flamboro. He has been in Guelph since 1958.

Mr. McMulklin has been the chaplain of the Ontario Reformatory and the rural dean of Wellington during his time in Guelph.

Mr. and Mrs. McMulklin and their two children will be moving into the rectory beside St. George's.

Hospital Gets Extra County Grant, 16 Beds

An additional grant on 16 and one-third beds was made to Georgetown & District Memorial Hospital at County Council this week. With the approval of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission received, the $4000 per bed grant was paid. The additional grant amounted to $98,000, and the total grant, which is now complete, amounted to $500,000.

Milton Hospital also received an additional grant for two beds, making $12,000.

The progress of the new County Building is being recorded on film, as Reeve Harragrove of Acton told County Councillors. Each day a short movie is made of that day's work, according to the architect, and will be shown to County Council if they wish it.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Packy wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Mr. Kenneth Herbert Davis, son of Mrs. Davis and the late Mr. Wilbert Davis, Barrie. The marriage will take place February 17th at 3:30 o'clock in the Knox Presbyterian Church, Georgetown.

Approve Training Courses for Police

With Cr. Fred Harrison registering objections, council on Monday approved an eight week instructional course for Const. Mike Christopher; attendance at the police chief's convention in Cornwall for Chief Roy Haley; a 5 day training course for the chief at McMaster University; and a 5 day training seminar at University of Western Ontario for Sgt. Jim Bilsborough.

In making the motions, Cr. Don Barrager explained that the police committee was making the recommendations after discussing them at a committee meeting.

The motion to have Cr. Christopher attend the provincial police training school in Toronto from May 21st to July 13 passed without comment, but when this was followed by the Bilsborough motion to go to London from June 4 - 9, Cr. Harrison objected to two men being absent at the same time.

"We should be working to improve our police force. This entails overtime work for the other officers but they are prepared to do it" explained Mayor Sargent.

Cr. Harrison objected when the convention motion was next presented and said he thought the administration committee should have a say in the matter.

He broadened the discussion when he said council should check on all staff holidays and absences.

"I intend to know where all our employees are every minute of the day even if it means putting in a clock for them to punch," he said.

When the fourth motion to have Chief Haley attend a training program from June 17-22 came up, Cr. Harrison asked a recorded vote, and this time found support from Cr. Jim Emmerson, who said he would have objected to the convention motion if he had known the next one was coming.

"Penny wise and pound stupid to object," was the comment of Cr. McNeilly, who said Georgetown has "one of the best police units in Ontario."

"This will make it even better, and the chief has assured us that it won't interfere with efficiency," he said.

Cr. Barrager remarked that policemen had taken similar courses last year and efficiency seemed to stand up under the strain.

Nowadays a business cannot operate without knowing new procedures, and a police force must keep in touch with new developments, he said.

Discuss Jurisdiction Over Appointed Boards

A problem with far reaching effect on all Councils, arose at Halton County Council this week. The question of jurisdiction of County Council over appointed Boards and Commissions will be investigated at the suggestion of the Legislation and By-law Committee. Legal opinion has been sought in the matter.

Legal Opinion

In explaining the seeking of legal opinion, Reeve Byckman stated, "If the County has jurisdiction over all Boards and Commissions, who derive money from them, then the functions of the County Council Committee looking after it should be written into a by-law."

A resolution from the Association of Ontario Counties, asking the Minister of Public Welfare of the Province to enact legislation that will permit the administration under direct control and supervision of the Councils of Counties, sparked a debate on the jurisdictional question.

Question Deferred

The Legislation and By-law Committee at first endorsed the resolution, but when advised by Reeve Byckman that Mr. J. Hillie, of the Children's Aid wanted the question deferred till he could meet with the Council, it was deferred.

Councillor Queries Cost of Lift Station

Querying cost of a sewage lift station which is being erected to service the eastern industrial area of town, Cr. Fred Harrison was told Monday by Mayor Sargent that a report would be prepared for next week's meeting.

Cr. Harrison made his query after a letter was read from the Municipal Board approving a $66,000 expenditure which the town will pay through the Water Resources Commission.

Cr. Harrison said that in 1960, when he was a council member, the town had negotiated a deal with Delrex Developments for purchase of land and equipment for the lift station which was already partially constructed. Purchase price was about $35,000, he said, and he wondered if the completed project would be costing $101,000.

"In 1960 an offer was made to finish it for $75,000. Now DWRC has hired a consulting firm and it's apparently going to cost us $26,000 more than that," he charged.

The councillor asked if it had been wrongly engineered, or whether last year's council had made an error.

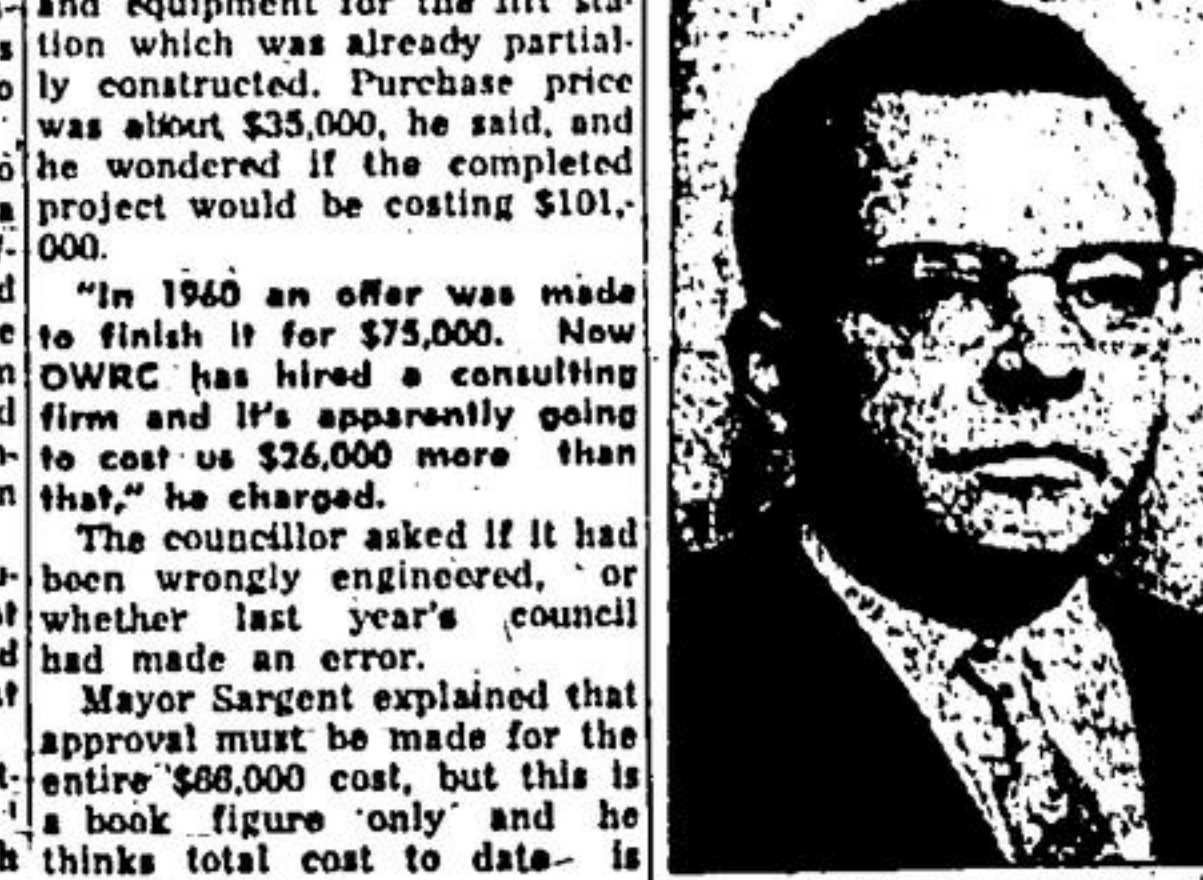

Mayor Sargent explained that approval must be made for the entire $66,000 cost, but this is a book figure only and he thinks total cost to date is only $56,000.

"I had an idea Delrex was asking $32,000 at that time," said Deputy Reeve Hunter.

Cr. Harrison said he thought the town bought it for about half of the asking price.

Mayor Sargent said that as there seemed to be doubt about the exact figures a complete report would be brought up to date next week.

Joins High School Advisory Board

A Varian Associates man, John Matthies, 5 Orchard Blvd., has been appointed to the Advisory Board Committee of the Georgetown and District High School, filled a vacancy left by Ed Mall's appointment to the school board. Mr. Matthies joins Art Spolight, Jack Crichton, and Dick Prust on A.B.C.

Scenic Views Shown To Horticulturists

Re-Elect Chris Walker Organization Leader

The Georgetown Horticultural Society held its annual meeting last Wednesday evening in the Howard W. Gillesworth School. In spite of the frosty weather, Chris Walker as president was able to extend a welcome to about 40 members.

The meeting was opened with a showing of coloured slides by J. L. Colter, a member of the Georgetown Society. His excellent photography had captured the beauty of many scenic spots across Canada and the fine showing was a real treat for those present.

86 Members

The latter part of the evening was devoted to the business of the annual meeting. Chris Walker, as president, spoke of the activities of the Society during the year and reported a 1961 membership of 86. The secretary treasurer's report was presented by J. N. Bird. Receipts for the year included a Legislature grant of $99 and expenditure showed a sum of $184 had been spent for horticultural purposes. D. M. Wingrove and L. S. King, had served as auditors in 1961.

Walker President

During the election of officers the president vacated the chair in favour of the secretary treasurer. A slate of officers prepared by a nominating committee appointed at an earlier meeting was presented, and as there were no further nominations, these were declared elected as officers for 1962. Elected president, Chris Walker; 1st vice president, H. J. Herder; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Wm. Boyle; Directors for two year term Mrs. H. J. Herder, Mrs. F. Gol-

Addition Ground Broken

Construction of Georgetown's long talked of technical wing technically got under way last week when ground was broken behind the present high school building on Guelph St.

The costly structure with equally costly equipment will be for the most part paid for by the Federal and Provincial governments. It will be usable in September.

Ratepayers Auxiliary Sponsors Card Party

The East-Georgetown Ladies Auxiliary had a card party at the home of Mrs. George Farrow, Norton Crescent, on January 18th. Prizes were won by Mrs. H. Fiedler and Mrs. R. French, both of Raylaw's Crescent and Mrs. T. Bels of Mount-try Crescent. Coffee and refreshments were served.

FAMOUS MURAL AT LIBRARY

O'KEEFE CENTRE PATRONS who have admired the much talked-about Seven Lively Arts mural, which dominates the main entrance foyer of the theatre can now see the original seven painting right here. The paintings and design layouts are currently on display at the public library and will be there until January 28th. Above, librarian Rosemary Jordan inspects one section of the R. York-Wilson mural dramatizing "Music."
