Chapel Pupils Present Music at Halton Manor

By Ariel Thompson
 Mr. J. L. Graham preached another splendid sermon in his series of sermons on the great Bible Evangelists in the Chapel on Sunday afternoon, February 25th. His subject was St. Luke. Mr. Graham read verses 16-30 of Chapter 4 of St. Luke's Gospel and then began his sermon with the statement that this Chapter is the key to the entire Gospel of St. Luke. Luke describes the indignation of Jesus when he saw men acting callously towards one another. This Gospel shows the indignation of Jesus also towards racial and social discrimination and proves that He hated sin but loved sinners.

Tradition tells us that Luke was a Gentile and a physician. In his Gospel he describes the life of Christ and in the Book of Acts he describes the early Church. He was associated with Paul in spreading the Gospel.

Fifty happy faces brought cheer and fifty sweet voices provided music for the residents on Tuesday evening, February 27th, when fifty boys and girls who are pupils at Chapel Street Public School in Georgetown came to the Manor to present one of their excellent concerts.

The residents were sorry to learn that illness had prevented Mr. Val Steen, the principal of the school from attending. A member of the staff, Mr. D. Wright, took over the duties of chairman in pleasant and capable fashion. Mr. Ken Harrison, A.R.C.T., the music director of the Georgetown Public Schools, conducted the singing and played some of the accompaniment.

After Mr. Wright had extended greetings from the children to the residents, the members of the choir fled on to the platform to sing two choral numbers, 'The Orchestra' and 'Come O'er the Sea.' Later on in the program they sang three folk songs, one of which was 'The Gypsy Song.' At the end of the program they sang two sacred songs, 'Love Divine' and the forty-second Psalm. Their singing was excellent and was heartily enjoyed by the audience.

The intervening portions of the program consisted of vocal and instrumental selections. A young girl Luciana Tomazic delighted the audience with her playing of two accordion solos, 'Danube Waves' and 'The Helena Polka,' as did Roger Smith, a Grade VIII pupil, with his two vocal solos, 'A Boy's Song' and 'Now on Land and Sea.'

Six Grade VI pupils blended their voices in a triple duet, singing very sweetly, 'The Shepherd's Song.' Misses June Lynn and Betty Jean Anderson sang two lovely duet numbers, the sacred songs 'His' and 'I' and 'Grand Night for Singing.' Mr. Roger Wade's fine voice made his singing of two solos, 'Boy O Mine' and 'Sweet Steen' a very enjoyable. Mr. Wap is a member of the Georgetown Public School Board. Mary est foot won for his or her group, whereas in the tug of war the person with the widest grin won for his or her group and so on. A record was kept of the marks earned by each group and the Twenty-Ones were declared the winners.

After the laughter caused by this very funny competition had died away, Miss M. Joyce played several piano solos and then accompanied Mr. Viggers, a resident, who had been requested to play the 'bones' for them.

When the refreshment hour arrived eight guests were seated at the head table. This head table had been covered with a pretty birthday tablecloth and bouquets of cut flowers. A very attractive and tempting birthday cake decorated with fancy icing and ighted candles was on the table also. Each of the eight guests wore a paper birthday hat, and received a birthday card and a tin of cookies. The remainder of the residents were served their refreshments at small tables. The refreshments were very delicious and consisted of assorted sandwiches, relishes, tarts, birthday cake and tea.

This truly wonderful birthday party was greatly enjoyed by all the residents and especially those who had celebrated their birthdays in February. There were fourteen of these ladies and gentlemen eligible to be head table guests but only eight were able to attend. The eight in attendance were Mrs. Violet Mann, Mrs. Margaret Banks, Mrs. Jennie Jamieson, Mrs. Alice Reave, Mrs. Christine Given, Mrs. Ethel Flanagan, Mrs. Myrtle Stevens, and Mr. Joseph Hoare.
