

"YOU TRY IT FOR A WHILE"

BRADFORD NETMINDER B. Kearnes was so busy handling pucks early in the sixth game of the Raider-Bradford series here Wednesday he was all too willing to trade places with Raider sniper Bud Vasey in this scramble around the Bradford net. Watching Vasey and Kearnes change places are Ford, Kelly, McCoig, and Hassard. Bradford won this one 6-4 and the next 6-3 to bounce Georgetown out of the COHL picture.

Season's End, Bradford Beats Raiders 6 to 3

If Oakville Oaks are hugging the Central Ontario Hockey League title at the end of their best of seven set with Bradford next week or shortly after it will be a fitting gesture if the black and gold team face due north and take a deep bow in the direction of Reiderville.

In their best of 5 semi-finals the Fords and Georgetown kept statisticians hopping to tick off the shots on goal with one hand and the number of bruises per player with the other. And if the scarf and blanket crowd don't think it was rugged in every one of the 5 clashes ask one of the gladiators.

The heavy bodying created a vacuum in some key spots on both clubs and left two hurting teams to joust for the right to progress.

Ken Ford, Don "Spider" Gibson, and Raider sniper Blake Inglis were watching from the stands as the respective coaches juggled lines in a last ditch attempt to weld new combinations. But even some of their 'healthy' personnel nursed secret wounds.

For Bradford the juggling paid off in a formula that had a lethal effect on the Georgetown defense. When the shut-out was over Gary Vasey was backed on a line with George Davis and high scorer Billy Moran and the tally sheet tells the rest. The new trio accounted for 4 of Bradford's 6 goals. Vasey picked up two and Davis and Moran one apiece. Enough to win the series for Brad Walker's Blueshirts without the benefit of Nicholas' pair.

Arena attendants were still placing paid customers with shoe horns when Vasey exploded the home side into a lead that they still owned at the final buzzer, with interest. Davis and Millon assisted. Millon was the instigator of the second marker about a minute later, when Nicholas took the pass from the steady blande defenseman and beat Smith cleanly.

THIS TERRIER NO MASCOT

THOUGH GEORGETOWN Raiders failed to equal their 1961 record when they went to the group finals against Barrie Lakeview, most fans will concede they finished the current season with a tougher defense than they have been able to boast for many moons. Above is just one of the key reasons for the reinforced defensive wall, one Garnet Vasey (no relation) to Bradford's Gary Vasey) who joined the team from retirement, two seasons ago he was an immovable object on the blue line for the Galt Terriors, Canada's reps in the World Hockey tournament, and when not belting the opposition makes his living balling golf balls as the pro at the Inglewood golf club. In the playoff series Elmer Lee went with Vasey and Doug Falby, and Gord Thompson and Gerry Inglis as his first string rearwards with George Grashby and Wally Magdy filling any vacancies.

Irons Whips Kidd In Indoor Mile

Jim Irons, brother of Georgetown Raider, Dave Irons, defeated Canada's outstanding miler Bruce Kidd in record smacking indoor championships on Saturday, March 24th. Kidd had held the lead until two laps to go. However, a burst of speed by Irons over the last two laps provided the Brampton ace with a triumph in the time of 4:10 flat.

JIM IRONS
University of Michigan's Ergas Lepa, placed second, while Kidd was third, well back of Irons. Irons' time bettered the 4:10.6 mark set by Boston's Gil Dodds in 1949. The win by Irons was sweet revenge for the 24-year-old distance runner, as Kidd had won in Winnipeg just one week ago.
