Halton Club

A North Halton member has collected the first HOLE-IN-ONE of the new golf season.

Jim Reeves, 27 McIntyre Cres., used a 4 1/2 wood off the tee of the 250 yard par three 6th hole to register the ace at noon Saturday, his first.

He was playing in a two-some with Bill Schenk, another North Halton member when he pulled off the feat, the first time it has ever been done on the 6th.

Jim is the assistant captain of the North Halton Golf men's section.

GEORGETOWN INTERMEDIATE baseball club in all probability will collect a few score more hits in the upcoming campaign than they did during the 1961 schedule but unless they find some hurlers to complement the core of a pitching staff they have now opposing ball clubs are liable to equal or outdo them in the sweat department. Manager-coach-pitcher, Lyn McLaren, Jim McGill, Bernie Dore and Glen Gibbs have been the entire pitching staff since training started last weekend. Ron Ritchie, who has his arms on an infield spot, was shuffled between catching and pitching last year and because of the shortage of good arms may be back on the hill before long. The Intermediates are practicing every night throughout the week.

Hope YMCA Will Revive Soccer for Youngsters

Soccer in Georgetown, which had a life span in the minor ranks of about two seasons, may again vie for the interest of the local sports fans, but not unless the handful struggling to revive it get some assistance, manual and financial.

John Boyd, soccer commissioner for the now defunct Community Centre Organization, told the Herald this week that soccer youngsters are hoping the game will get a shot in the arm when the YMCA gears are set in motion, but that would in any case mean another soccerless summer. Georgetown under the community centre, had Atom and Bantam teams in the county loop for the 1959 and 1960 seasons, but had to drop out last year because of lack of interest.

Council twice kept the soccer shown to give the organizers credits about with grants, but like John Boyd, George Dickson what they need more than the and Bert Shepherd some assistance. All that's needed to come up with the list of facilities is ever there is one, and the organization is such that compared for the field, and a couple of "Transportation for players to the other towns in the league was the big killer," Mr. Boyd said, "and it all leads back to the lack of enthusiasm among the adults. Crowds were small at league games despite the fact that Georgetown teams were powerhouse while they lasted."

The power personnel are ready and willing to again represent the town, and the uniforms, goal nets, and other equipment, are in storage until that day when enough interest is drunk on water as on land.
