

Revolver Club Earns Second Place at Shoot

The Georgetown Revolver Club threw off the magic of the young, run of the mill target shooters, and declared themselves a force to be reckoned with in provincial competition when they topped a number of established pistol clubs at the 1962 Ontario Indoor Pistol Championships in Lambton recently.

1962 Ontario Indoor Pistol Championships
Results of the shoot revealed this week to competing clubs by the official scorers revealed that the local team had earned second place, beating out five other teams and being topped only by the Ford Pistol Club.

Individual marksmen from here made an even better showing than the team. Paced by Bud Knepper, who shot the five first, the local squad of seven has to be just about every competitor. Bud's awards included trophies in Centre Fire Timed, Centre Fire Rapid, Centre Fire Gallery Course, Centre Fire Aggregate and Grand Aggregate.

Ken Warwick had the highest score in the 22 Gallery Class; Norm Maher was first in the Centre Fire Slow Sport; Ken Challenger was 2nd in the 22 Cal. Time Fire event and Ab Whitway took 2nd in Centre Fire Rapid and Centre Fire Gallery Course.

Ken Warwick, Norm Maher, Ken Challenger and Ab Whitway completed the four man team. Others consisting of individual events were Terry Balzac, Mick Carter, Ken Brighton and Leyland Maglaughlin.

Finishing behind the Georgetown team were teams from Toronto CNR Pistol Club (No. 1), Listowel Revolver Club, Brantford Revolver and Rifle Club, Toronto CNR Pistol Club (No. 2), and the Oxford Fish and Game Club.

show greenhorns why they're so highly rated among ranchers hunched the bleachers and then extracted waves of applause.

Even the broncs have more vigor than in past years, a fact that kept a steady flow of brules and shakers would-be riders lining up to the ever present St. John Ambulance personnel of the north-west corner of the track. Reg Depper of Woodstock, who suffered a broken collar bone and broken ribs during the afternoon show, was the most critically injured.

The man that played on the longest and collected the most points to repeat as top all-around cowboy was Georgetown's Peter Van Erd, the Flying Dutchman, who last year doubled as Rodeo clown and contestant. Pete came to the Kitchener area from Holland 8 years ago and last year booked up with Wynfield Stutz Farms of Hoy Junction at R.R. 2, Georgetown.

Among Pete's major point getters were a 1st in saddle bronc riding and a 1st in the wild steer race. Lenny Kuski of Hespeler won the steer decorating. Doug Dozier of Palermo, the calf roping, Don Hewitt of Galt, the flag race, Jackie Pufik of Hespeler, the ladies barrel race and Lorna Aylatt of Ridgeville was 2nd in the flag and pickup races.

Another local contestant Bill Hayes, gave it a good try, but finished out of the winners. The chairman of the affair, Bob Brick said the crowd numbered just under 5,000, with the bulk sitting in on the afternoon show. Spectators brought their appetite to both performances according to servers in the beef burger booth and other concessions who did a land office business. At the draw for the pony and tack which was made at the intermission of the night show by Mayor Doug Sargent who pulled a ticket purchased by Larry Murray of Orangeville. The chase bar played over a cash consolation.

The big day was kicked off with a procession from the plaza that wound down Guelph St. to Main, then to Park St. and into the fair grounds. Scouts and firemen who joined countless local entries. The Georgetown Girls Pipe Band,

The Oakville Petrolites, and other floats and decorated cars, assisted the Lions throughout the rest of the day.

Gord Lawrence of Kitchener, baby brother of Bruce and Don Lawrence, handed the mike chores at the park.

Georgetown Golfers Close In Brampton Inter-Club

In their first inter-club golf match of the 1962 season a Georgetown Golf and Country Club team fell a few strokes behind Brampton Golf and Country Club team in an 18 hole competition at the Brampton club, Saturday.

Thirty men golfers from the local club made the trip including professional Jim Burton, who played against the host pro, Bill Richardson. Though they trailed in the aggregate score Georgetown Golf players picked a number of prizes in the individual scoring. They were awarded during a buffet lunch.

The margin between the two clubs however is narrow enough that the local club has hopes of making up the difference when the return match is played over the challenging 18 hole local layout on September 28th. The Georgetown Golf team has never been defeated by a visiting club on its home ground. This weekend the team plays a second inter-club match at Trafalgar Golf and Country Club.

Chase Repeats Again Wins Two Kart Races

Archie Chase, the dominant figure in Kart racing at the North Halton Track last season returned to the game Sunday and took over the reins as if he had never been away. Archie grabbed the lead and held it in the Modified A semifinal and repeated his performance in the final for a pair of big wins. Other Modified A drivers who may have caught Archie were unable to overcome the handicap of starting from the rear of the pack where all major winners are placed. Since Archie had not established a points total this season he started from the front with the lesser karts.

The Modified A heat was taken by Ed Millman, and other heats were won by Gord Foster, Junior Boys; and Tom Van Alphen, Hobby class. Winners in the semi-finals were Eddie Van Alphen, Junior Boys; Tom Van Alphen, Hobby Class; and Archie Chase. Final winners were Rick Curtis, Junior Boys; Al Curtis, Hobby Class; Lloyd Foster Regular A; and of course

A. Chase. Second to Archie was Dave Armstrong and Keith Hunter was third.

Their two girls, Carol and Marg, also take part in the hockey activities by working in the ticket booth in the arena. Our deepest sympathy from Minor Hockey to Tom, Carol, Marg and Greg.
