THE ROADSIDE IS THEIR MARKET PLACE

LIKE SO many other market gardeners in the district, the Ken Arnolds of RR 2. Non-1 have their hands full these days keeping the roadside table stocked with all the many kinds of produce that catch the eye of the passing motorist. Such stands are expecially abundant in the Norval area and as the various crops reach and pass makerby the table top selection changes. The strawberries and asparagus that attracted this moscin in now and beans, potatoes and raspberries are taking their place. ist are out of : r make up his mind are Mrs. Pat Arnold and Mrs. Agnes Arnold.
