

Inside Camp Norval . . .

Supervisors Go to School

THOUSANDS OF YOUNGSTERS in Toronto Township will be attending camps and playground parks this summer and chances are they'll be receiving their supervision and instruction from one of the youthful camp supervisors who attended a session in that particular field at Camp Norval on Georgetown's eastern limits last week.

THE GROUP OF TORONTO Township teenagers, eighty of them in all, were at the Norval camp from Friday, June 22 to Tuesday, June 26, and boned up on the arts of teaching handicrafts, swimming, conducting games and contests and campfire story-telling, in preparation for their summer jobs among the young fry.

MR. BILL HARE was camp director, while the supervisors occupied the area, but when the course ended things shifted. Directing the camp this week is Mr. Ruff Edwards of Toronto West End Y.M.C.A., beginning his third year overseeing the recreation of the 8 to 13 year old age group. Eighty-five campers in that age range moved in on the week end for a three-week stay, and when that terminates another flock from the city's west end will take their place. The third group of summer campers will stay for two weeks, returning to their homes when the girls close for the season, about August 25.

THE REGULAR ROUTINE includes overnight hiking around the Georgetown district, games, handicrafts, tennis, basket ball, swimming in the pool, evening campfires, and of course, three squares a day in the main hall.

TAKE TURNS AT STORY TELLING

STORY TELLING is a must for camp supervisors. Here trainees try out their delivery on others taking the course. This week the camp is filled with 8 to 13 year olds.

SNIP, CUT AND PASTE DEPARTMENT

SENIOR TEENAGERS learn the ins and outs of handicrafts so they can work with youngsters at other camps.

AFTER LECTURES, STRAIGHT TO THE POOL

AT CAMP NORVAL, Toronto Township supervisors pour from the main hall after a lecture and make for the change houses and swimming pool.

Norval Girl Guide Enrolment Night

On Tuesday evening, June 26th, a special Girl Guide enrolment was held in the United Church to enroll Barbara Youmans and Debbie Reynolds as Guides. Hostesses for the evening were Janice Carter, Lynda Shea and Donna Fisher who were trying for their badges. Mrs. Pringle was present for the evening. The Guides sang songs and had a game for the mothers and Guides after which lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mr. Earl Hatt has reason to feel proud this past week in the fact that her nephew, Mr. Harry A. Willis, Q.C., of McPherson has been appointed as senator by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Tallac Kjersdal and family, Gunn Brat, Ann and Paul, left on Saturday for Sault Ste. Marie where they will spend the summer.

Local Lady is Attendant at Wedding in Guelph

Knox Presbyterian Church in Guelph was decorated with ferns, chrysantheums, carnations, peonies and snapdragons for the recent wedding of Doris Eleanor Tolton and Gerald (Jerry) David Karn. Rev. D. Crawford Smith assisted by Rev. Williamson officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Tolton of Guelph. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Karn, Guelph.

Susan Miller, Elizabeth Kirby, Brenda Wright and Bonnie MacDougall, all of Eden Mills sang "The Lord's Prayer and I'll Walk Beside You," accompanied by Martin Bauer, organist of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor length gown of chantilly lace over layers of tulle. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped sabrina neckline fringed with sequins and long tulle sleeves. The skirt was bouffant with scalloped tiers of lace and wide border of pleated net at the bottom. A pearl and crystal tiara held her shoulder length veil of French illusion and she carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses with sprays of ivy.

Mrs. Fred Tolton, Georgetown sister-in-law of the bride, attended as matron of honor. She wore a gown of pink organza over tulle styled with full skirt. Her ensemble was enhanced by matching shoes, a headpiece of a large rose with matching net veil. She carried a cascade of carnations to match her gown. Her only accessories were a strand of pearls and earrings, a gift of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Miss Margo McFarlane and Miss Jenny Goodchild, Guelph. They wore ensembles to match that of the matron of honor in yellow and blue respectively. Flower girl Miss Sharon Hancock, Galt, wore a dress of the bride's color, a white organza dress with lace overskirt, full sleeves and large bow at the back. A lace poke hat, white accessories and a silver locket, a gift of the bride, completed her ensemble. She carried a basket of baby chrysanthemums.

Master Ronnie Tolton, Guelph nephew of the bride was ring bearer. He wore a white jacket with dark trousers and carried a white satin cushion with nylon lace trim. The names of the bride and groom and their attendants were hand-embroidered on the cushion by the bride's mother. The bride's gift to the ring bearer was a wrist watch.

Sam Pettifer, Guelph, attended the groom as best man. Esquires were Lawson Tolton, Guelph, brother of the bride and Gordon Karn, Guelph, brother of the groom.

A reception was held for 55 guests in the church hall, following the ceremony. Centering the bride's table was a three tier wedding cake decorated with a musical bride and groom.

The bride's mother received her guests, wearing a flowered green nylon over tulle dress with full skirt and fitted cummerbund. Her accessories were white and corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother assisted wearing a pale blue lace over tulle sheath with white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Later in the evening a supper and dance for 125 guests was held at the Col. John McCrae Hall. Shortly after midnight, the bride announced her parents' 35th wedding anniversary. Congratulations were extended to the bride and groom of 35

Campfire Nights at Conservation Areas

A series of camp fire nights for the enjoyment of the public will be held this summer by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

The "fire nights" will be staged in the various conservation areas on a regular basis with the first one being held last Thursday at Heart Lake Conservation Area.

They will feature sing songs around a camp fire, nature walks along the trails, and after dark, films will be shown on various aspects of the outdoors. Water safety highlighted the Heart Lake event and a demonstration was staged under the auspices of the Ontario Safety League.

Authority chairman Dr. G. Ross Lord pointed out that the "fire nights" outings are free to the public, with the only charge being the nominal 50 cent car parking fee.

"We are hoping that the public will attend these occasions in large numbers. It will give them an opportunity of visiting these areas and we are particularly anxious to have families take part," he said.

Dr. Lord suggests that families bring along their dinner to eat at the selected area, have a swim afterwards and walk along a nature trail with one of the Authority's nature-trail guides.

Other "fire nights" will be held at Greenwood Conservation Area in Pickering Village on July 11; Cold Creek Area, King Township on July 31; Clearmont in Pickering Township on Aug. 3; Albion Hills north of Bolton on Aug. 23; Boyd Area near Woodbridge on Sept. 4.
