Special Events Mark 60th Church Birthday

St. Alban's Church celebrated the 60th Anniversary last night it will soon be over, week with a number of special events. Sunday evening, Sept. 16th was the beginning of a special week with Evensong followed by a pageant "The Story of St. Alban." About 20 children who had attended Bible School took part in it, led by Rev. R. Home before Barbara left Mal-Stubble. An anniversary antiphon Sunday evening for the them sung by the church choir, Lakehead where she will be previously recorded, was playing during the evening Monday evening about one hundred and twenty-five enjoyed a hot turkeys dinner and afterwards play and euchar. The ladies always have a big share in the work for these affairs, but special mention is due to the men who waited on tables and washed dishes. On Wednesday evening the Ladies Guild held a Tupperware demonstration in the Parish Hall, while in Sunnybrook Hospital, Mrs. Merle Reid won the door prize.

Celebrations concluded on Friday evening with a corn roast and dance. About fifty gathered beside the river to enjoy the corn and all the fun. After all were full of corn, older ones moved into the hall at an evening of dancing with "The Manhattan" and Charlie the Crime. Coffee was served at the club. All were tired after all the activities of the week but all felt they had a good week of celebrating St. Alban's sixtieth birthday.

Susan Preston spent a day last week at the clinic of Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. She expects to go back to hospital in a month to start treatment.

Carolyn Gardhouse is Chosen 4-H Delegate

Carolyn Gardhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reford Gardhouse, Milton, R. R. 5, has been selected as a delegate to the National 4-H Club Week. She is one of seven 4-H Club Members in Ontario selected to represent 4-H Agricultural Clubs.

National 4-H Club Week is sponsored by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs. Each year fourteen delegates from each province of Canada are brought together for a one week tour of the Royal Winter Fair.

The selection is made on the basis of over-all participation in 4-H Club work, and by a selection interview. Carolyn has completed sixteen 4-H Agricultural Club projects. These projects included seven Beef Calf, five Potato, three Forage, and one Forestry Club. It is interesting that in line of these projects she either was first in the Club or runner-up. She has consistently been selected to take part in the Queen's Guineas Competition at the Royal Winter Fair. On two occasions she was a member of a 4-H team from Halton at the Provincial Inter-Club Competitions at Guelph. In the Provincial competitions she was on the second placed team in Grain Judging in 1959, and third placed Beef judging team in 1960.

Miss Gardhouse is presently studying for her degree in Household Science at Macdonald Institute at Guelph.

White Gloves For County Judge

Fall sittings of the Supreme Court opened last week at the Halton County Court House in Milton with 23 non-criminal cases on the docket.

As there were no criminal cases, the age-old tradition was followed as Sheriff Andrew Frank presented the Honorable Mr. Justice Moorhouse with the traditional set of white gloves.

Ten of the cases involve damages arising from motor vehicle accidents, while 10 are uncontested divorces and three are contested divorce cases.

Hospital Auxiliary Work Explained To Institute

Mrs. S. Newstead of Mountview Road, Georgetown, a member of the Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, attended the meeting of the Auxiliary on Wednesday evening, September 13th, at the home of Mrs. Walter Lawson.

Introduced by Mrs. Robert Harris, Health convener, Mrs. Newstead spoke of her work as convener of the Truck Cart committee, and explained the work of the Auxiliary as a whole. She highly praised the volunteers, who in many instances have answered an emergency call to fill in for someone unable to fulfill their duties and also the workers, who supply so many hand made articles, for sale at the Hospital Gift Shop. She had on display several of these items. She also extended an invitation to the ladies to attend their membership tea on September 18th.

Mrs. Armstrong in her usual pleasing manner, thanked Mrs. Newstead, and remarked on the excellent work carried on by the Institute. The meeting opened with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect, with Mrs. L. de Vries taking the Bible Reading. The roll call was answered with a plant slip, passed to the lady on the left. Correspondence and business were dealt with.

The fair committee reported on plans made to exhibit at Georgetown Fair, but members decided to dispense with a branch exhibit at Milton Fall Fair this year.

Mrs. W. R. Lawson read a paper (very kindly loaned to us by Mrs. Frank Petch of Georgetown W.I.) "Women are like squirrels, when the writer Edna Jacques described how we gather our fruit and vegetables, and can, and pickle until we have all supplies stored for the winter. The meeting, closed with the Lord's prayer followed by a delicious lunch served by the hostesses, and her assistants Mrs. J. C. Murray and Mrs. Reg Williams, Mrs. Robt. McDonald will be hostess for the October meeting on the 2nd Thursday.

The south hill was the scene of another accident. Sunday afternoon, when the driver of a small truck, found difficulty rounding the corner, and the truck landed on its side in the west ditch. This is not news to the village folk, it happens too regularly. Fortunately so far there has not been a second car involved.

We in the village have children travelling these hills to and from school, and we fear for their safety. Our sympathy is not extended to those who exceed the speed limit marked clearly at the entrances of the village.

"A sensible safe speed will get you there on time."

Gay Fekken celebrated her seventh birthday on Saturday, Sept. 15th and her baby sister Jane, her 3rd birthday on Sunday the 16th, they enjoyed a little party on Saturday with sister Janet, brother John, Alice and Phyllis Briggs, and Beverly Staddon as their guests.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Rand who have adopted twin daughters, Lisa and Lesley, arrived at their new home about a month ago, and are now nearly 4 months old.
