W.I. Gets Landscape Tips From Nurseryman

The September W.I. meeting was at the nice new home of Mrs. James McPhail on Tuesday evening, the 18th, at 8 o'clock, with the president, Mrs. Fred Nurse, presiding and opening with the Ode and Creed. Secretary Mrs. Bob Alexander read the minutes of last meeting and called the roll which was answered with "my favorite flower or shrub." It was moved that members do not take the meat club this year. A committee of Mrs. F. Ruddlell and Mrs. Milton Bird will look after buying Christmas gifts for the German boy and girl the Institute have adopted; also a committee of three ladies will arrange for a W.I. party some time in November. Mrs. Bob Cunningham was in charge of the programme and she introduced the guest speaker, Don Hancock of the Garden Centre on the seventh line, one mile south of the Drumquin who spoke on designing and landscaping gardens and also showed colored pictures of ways to beautify one's home and garden with shrubs and flowers. He answered many questions that were asked of him and the ladies felt that with his helpful talk and pictures, a place can be made to look pleasant and beautiful with a little effort on their part.

The excellent motto "Buried seeds grow, but buried talents never" was well given by Mrs. Ford Wickson. Mrs. Russell Hepburn gave current events; a reading by Mrs. John Bell-boddy "Sunsets for Sale." Mrs. J. H. Hunter thanked the hostess, speaker and everyone for the pleasant time and meeting closed by singing God Save the Queen and a social hour.

Rally Day was observed at the church service on Sunday morning. Printed programs were used, the theme being "Hands that heal in the name of Christ." The 1st Scripture from Isaiah 35, verses 1-10 was read by Doreen Carney; prayer by Marilyn Wilson; 2nd Scripture reading from seventh chapter of Luke was read by Mrs. Ward Brownridge. Doris Pickett told the story of the terrible secret of Yong Moon Lee, a Korean boy whose father had leprosy; who with the help of Mr. Kim, a Christian elder and doctors and nurses found a cure for the dreaded disease.

Mrs. Harvey-Nurse with the assistance of Superintendent Charles Austin gave out the seals and certificates to the scholars who had received 80 per cent in Sunday School work this past year.

Congratulations and all best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruddlell who celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary on September 27th. May they have many more years together yet.

The Young People held their meeting on Sunday evening at the home of Bruce Quigley.

HIT THE (DOUBLE) DECK!

In a double-decker bus in New York, a rather inebriated fellow sat near the driver. He kept up a continuous conversation until the driver suggested very tactfully that he would find the top deck more enjoyable. There was plenty of fresh air up there. The drunk was good-natured and climbed up but was down again shortly. "What's wrong," asked the driver, "don't you like the view and air up there?" "Yop," responded the drunk. Then, wagging his head from side to side: "But it ain't safe—no driver!"
