

Four Nephew-Priests Celebrate High Mass

Pope's Blessing for 50th Anniversary

A service unique in Georgetown took place in Holy Cross R. C. Church on September 15 when solemn high mass was sung at twelve noon as part of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peter Healey, 59 Byron St.

The Very Rev. R. R. St. James, V.V. pastor and dean of Corpus Christi Church, Port Arthur, sang the mass. Assistants were the Rev. F. E. Cavanagh, Professor of philosophy theology at St. Peter's Seminary, London as deacon and the Rev. J. P. Healey, pastor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, Labark, as sub-deacon.

The master of ceremonies was the Rev. P. H. Hussey of St. Peter's Church, North Bay. The four officiating priests are nephews of Mr. Healey.

The church pastor, Rev. O. Devent and assistant, Father Zeno participated in the mass also. Mr. Glenn sang "Psalms Angelicus" and Mrs. Bob Healey sang "Ave Maria" and "Mother All Beautiful." The ushers were Harold Pober, Bob Beene and Fred Peter.

Following the mass, breakfast was served the relatives at North Hulton Golf and Country Club and at six o'clock a turkey dinner at the same club was enjoyed. Among the 125 guests present were the Rev. D. Devent, O.M., Cap., pastor of Holy Cross, who read letters of congratulation including a blessing from Pope John XXIII and a letter from Governor General Vessey.

Mr. Healey is a nephew of Smith's Falls, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Healey. His wife is the former Violet Glenn, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Glenn of Alton.

They were married on September 15th, 1912 in St. Ignace Church, Windsor.

Guests of the mass came from Regina, Port Arthur, Elk Lake, Kestel, St. Mary, North Bay, Toronto, Mississauga, Milton, Hamilton, Kitchener, Ottawa, Brantford, Kingston, Leamington and Toronto.

Nursing Will See More Training in Universities

by Alan McPherson, Special to the Herald

Detailed explanation of increasing education in nursing and shortening some courses give rise to the inevitable queries — Will nursing become easier? And will quality replace quantity?

Quite the reverse is the intention of governing bodies, and there is little possibility that the standards will slacken in any respect, particularly since the recent legislation of April 17, and the passing of the Nurses' Act.

This, in effect, creates a College of Nursing comparable to the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and places control of nursing education under the control of its own profession.

Mrs. Blanche Duncanson, president of R.N.A.O. and Dean of the Nightingale School of Nursing, summed it up this way: "Nursing education," she said, "should be provided in schools whose primary function is education."

care, regardless of financial position.

That means inclusion of home nursing in all government and other health schemes which would relieve the burden of hospitals, and place proficient service in any home where sickness is prevalent.

As things stand, a person covered by the Ontario Health Services plan, can be hospitalized and receive the best in medical care and nursing. The same person might not be able to be bedridden at home because he or she could not afford special nurses.

Legislation allowing complete health care would cover nursing in the home and free many hospital beds.

It is strange with these great reforms and improvements, that Ontario students will receive the maximum now in the way of nursing education and preparation for the future, that it must be recorded that history repeats itself.

Parents Meet Staff Is Harrison Plan

Parents of Harrison Public School students were able to meet the staff at the first meeting of the Harrison Home and School Association scheduled for October 1st at the school.

There was also a presentation of citizenship awards to the grade eight graduates and at the close refreshments were served. The association president is Mr. Peter Hedgecock. The first executive meeting was held on September 17th.

"The Ontario Association acknowledges the great contribution which the hospital has made to the education of nurses," added Mrs. Duncanson, "but at the same time it must be recognized that there is dependence on students to augment the nursing service of the hospital when the school is operated by the hospital."

"We believe," she stated, "that the hospital has a large continuing role to play in providing clinical facilities for the student, but her education should come from within the framework of a general system and receive a similar financial support."

"We see," she concluded, "the need in the future of two categories of nurses — those prepared within the university and those prepared in a diploma school."

Florence H. M. Emory, a name revered in nursing circles and the 1926 president of R.N.A.O. commented: "There will always be a need for the registered nurse and probably for some time to come, the nurse who has added a year of academic preparation in a specialized field; but to meet the growing demand for leadership we must have also an increasing number of persons who have undertaken university preparations at both the undergraduate and the graduate levels."

Hal Mooney was One-Time Raider

A former Georgetown, Acton and Guelph hockey star, Harold David Mooney of 1403 Garnet Avenue, Port Credit, who served 15 years as an Ontario Provincial Police officer, died September 10th at Toronto Western Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 47.

Constable Mooney's notable hockey career began in Acton where he lived for over 20 years after his family moved there from Guelph. He played centre and left wing positions for Acton Tanners, Georgetown, Guelph Junior A's, Donald Mudge Industrial in Toronto and he also signed with a hockey club in St. John N.B.

During the last war, he enlisted in the Canadian Army Yrvoost Corp. He worked at Anacanda Brass in Toronto before joining the Ontario Provincial Police. His last posting was at Port Credit.

Fellow officers of the 30-man detachment officiated as pallbearers at the funeral. Toronto Township Police and No. 5 detachment Port Credit formed a guard of honour.

A native of Guelph, the son of Ann McFadden and the late Frank Mooney, he was educated in Acton. He belonged to the town's first scout troop.

The late officer's interest in sports continued throughout his lifetime. In recent years he coached a minor hockey club in the Dixie arena. Prior to his illness, he was commissioned to train an emergency measures group at Port Credit.

His wife is the former Anne Mae Hamill of Guelph. They were married in 1941.

He is survived by his wife, mother, Mrs. Ann Mooney and one sister, Mrs. Harry Otterbein (Helan), both of Acton.

Funeral service was held in Port Credit on September 13, with interment in Spring Crook Cemetery at Clarkson.
