JUNIOR FIRE MARSHALS FASCINATED BY FILMS

THE NEXT GENERATION of Georgetown home owners should be more fire hazard conscious than the present one if interest in the Junior Fire Marshals organization is any indication. At an open house at the fire hall during Fire Prevention Week, last week, public school age youngsters flocked to the hall to view films and take a closer look at the department's firefighting equipment. Fire Chief Bob Bonfield said he was more than pleased with the success of the Open House.

Farm Women Important Role in Farm Safety

The roll call was answered that are happening on farms by members of Equus magazine today. Concerning fatigue, try to sleep with an article to be sure and avoid too many late hours. A variety, including social activities during the day, chocolate layer cake, can the seasons of harvesting when head pears, black currant jelly, the greatest number of the garden-fresh tomatoes, cucumbers, beets and most dangerous bar salad relish, home made machines are in operation. Try and maintain a jovial atmosphere at meal time and ad guest towels, tea towels, ear rings and a cake of bath other breaks in the day, don't wear which our auctioneer during the day, don't close properly, the state "how it could be used." Mrs. George Atkinson was our able auctioneer, and unless Mrs. Jones has, and Mr. Frank Peck gets that extra dollar, he is going to lose. And out sooner or later, for Helen and crop conditions are bad, holding up an egg separator during any particular harvest (the type given out by the Valler Brush Man) managed to get two bids from the same item found its way into modern-day for 25c. No doubt one house-ehold will be eating angel cake from now on (no joke on us).

The meeting held Thursday, October 11th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald, opened in the usual manner with the Institute Order when the hours of 10-11 a.m. Mrs. Stewart Collett, Mrs. L. de Vries took the bible reading.

Mrs. Herb Reid gave her report of the District Meeting held in Milton, Ontario last October 1st. The annual donation was made to the Poppy Fund.

An invitation from Lumsden House Institute to attend an Ontario Hydro Cooking demonstration, to be held in the Lumsden Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening, October 31st, was accepted and several ladies hope to attend.

It was decided to continue with the Annual Halloween party to be held in Equus Community Hall, with all the aids of the community invited to join. Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Mrs. Robert McDonald, Mrs. George Atkinson were appointed to plan the evening's activities.

Mrs. W. R. Lawson, as program convenor for the evening chose as her topic "Agriculture" and spoke briefly of the different aspects of farm life and read a poem entitled "Mourning on an Ontario Farm" by Edna Jacques. Mrs. George Atkinson read another poem by the same author, entitled "Late Autumn."

Mrs. Lawson then spoke of farm safety and called on Mrs. Herb Reid who read a paper prepared by her husband entitled "The Role of Farm Women in Farm Safety" where Mr. Reid endeavoured to point out the important part farm women play in farm safety, which read as follows:

1. The farmer's wife should familiarize herself with all the operations of a highly mechanized farm of today. It is not necessary to have a detailed knowledge of all operations, but a reasonable knowledge of why and how specific jobs are done. 2. She should analyze her husband, or whoever is operating a specific piece of equipment for the day and gauge her actions to the man's moods etc., as fatigue and temper are one of the major causes of the serious farm accidents could be seen, such buildings as the new and the old school, St. John's Church, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawson and the former residence of Mr. Jim Brown, which of course is missing from the view to-day as it burned to the ground last March. This was all very interesting and Mrs. Reid finished with slides of the ladies taken in June at the Fiftieth Anniversary Banquet. "O was some power the gift to us."

BALLINAFAD

Entertain City Group At Hay Ride, Meeting

The Young People's Union of the Ballinafad charge entertained a group from Howland Park United Church in Toronto on Saturday night. Following a hay ride through the village and along the back roads they enjoyed outdoor refreshments at the home of Louise Snow. They also met for a regular meeting on Sunday night and joined in the service at the Thankoffering meeting of the United Church Women. The president of the United Church Women, Mrs. F. J. Shortill, presided at this meeting and the worship service was conducted by Mr. T. Gibson, leader of the after-noon group using as the theme some thoughts on Thanksgiving. The offering was received and dedicated by members of the CGIT group and the speaker was Rev. Sung Kook Shin from Korea and now a student at Emmanuel College. He told a little bit about his hiding out and escaping from Korea because he had spoken Christianity in the schools. He also spoke briefly on the new study material "Rim of the World" which is being installed on all equipment before it is put into operation. This is in her justified right to harp and nag, and she should do it with all the force she can command. Modern farm machinery is designed to do an efficient job of processing our many modern and varied farm crops and has, to a degree, removed a considerable amount of the drudgery and heavy work from these chores; but to do this, it is complicated and dangerous if common sense, patience and caution are not exercised. To sum up: is your husband a gentleman? If he is, tell him to treat machinery like a lady, with patience and respect. (We hope Herb finds a few moments in the off-season to fix the door and the stove and at least talk about the new dress. It might help maintain the jovial atmosphere and it may avoid accidents in the farm kitchen.) Mrs. Reid showed coloured slides of some of their farm equipment, buildings and cattle, as well as the Reid children, Bill, Walter and Brenda, in the background of some new hall. All proceeds went towards the building fund.

The Scout Mothers' Auxiliary met for their regular meeting on Tuesday night with the president, Mrs. Angus presiding. After repeating the promise, the business was attended to while the ladies decorated baskets for the boys to use on apple day which was on Saturday and the boys were received very well as they covered the community and surrounding district and they would like to say thank you to everyone who helped them in this project. Although the cup of tea was enjoyed at the close of the evening, it was decided to forego lunch at our regular meetings and have it only on special occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McEneary returned on Sunday from their trip to the West coast.

Friends of Mrs. Bert McMenemy will be sorry to learn that she is confined to hospital again.

Miss Beatrice Hills has been staying with her niece in Acton for the past few weeks.

The Sunday School attendance on Sunday reached a total of 65. A film entitled "God in Creation" depicted the beauty of the Fall season.
