Underpass Too Costly

Estimated to cost $400,000, improvements to the John St. railway underpass are not feasible in the opinion of Cr. Fred Harrison.

Mr. Harrison told council Monday that Damos & Smith, consulting engineers who have been engaged to study improved railway crossings, suspended detailed investigation last week on his advice.

The firm is completing cost estimates on widening railway bridges on Main St. and Mountanview Road. And It estimates a pedestrian overpass at the CNR station might cost $65,000.

Sewer Back-ups Damage maeting of the George Ken East Town Basements

A heavy rainfall Saturday caused considerable damage to basements in the eastern part of Georgetown Saturday. Reports of water seepage and sanitary sewer backups were prevalent at Monday's council meeting. Complainants include Frank Hayward, Langstone Crescent, Mrs. J. D. Grigg, Prince Charles Dr., R. S. Perry, Shelley St. and Mr. Crawford. And letters were received from J. E. Rawlings, J. Browniee and N. S. Buckley, all of Delrex Blvd. Many more suffered the flooded basements.
