

CHAPEL STREET CHILDREN CHEAT CHANCE

THEY DON'T LEAVE IT TO CHANCE at Chapel Street. Again last year the Chapel St. public school enrolment played it safe by heeding Elmer the Safety Elephant's rules and kept the term accident-free. Displaying the plaque presented to the school for their safety record are Mary Henderson, Lori Wild, Timmy Norton and George Stoddard.

Rumour Many in Race Provincial P.C. Seat

County Conservatives are in the midst of a tremendous flurry of reorganization, appointing committees, selecting meeting dates, and in general streamlining their group for the political battles they know are not far off. Prominent Conservatives tell the Herald that they cannot recall any period in the party's history when the county group has been so active.

The answer is probably that the organization had grown a bit slack in the past years that saw a twenty year reign of the late Stan Hall as MPP, and in 1953 the late Sybil Bennett won for the party on her second try, by Sandy Best, who won largely in 1957 and 1958. However, the picture has changed radically, with Mr. Best defeated in June of 1962 by a hundred odd votes, and the party without a provincial member for the first time since World War II.

The convention to choose a provincial representative is to take place in January, and half a dozen names are prominently mentioned as probable contestants.

Glen Cooper, Oakville businessman, who has played a large part in party affairs in the past few years, has been giving serious thought to running. Mr. Cooper, who at one time was thought to be intensely ambitious for the nomination, stated last week that a "very heavy business schedule" at present forces him to reserve his decision until early in the year.

George Kerr, a Burlington lawyer and treasurer of the party, and Burlington councillor is understood to be thinking seriously of letting his name stand.

William Hourigan, a former councillor in Burlington, is announcing his candidacy this week, and is expected to be a very strong candidate. He is a young lawyer, with his own practice in Burlington, and in the past few years has contributed a lot of time to organizing the Burlington division of the P.C. party. Mr. Hourigan is generally conceded among party officials as the man primarily responsible for the organization in Burlington which enabled the P.C.s to win there with a 2,500 surplus, while gaining down to defeat in the rest of the county.

Mac Sprowl, a district farmer, has announced his candidacy last week in the Herald. Mr. Sprowl is active in farm groups, and has been active in the Conservative party for many years.

Gordon Beattie, Acton, newly elected P.C. president has been mentioned; but due to business reasons and other commitments (including the revamping of the county organization) it is felt unlikely that he will allow his name to stand.

Other names mentioned are Ross Blakie, Oakville industrialist; Roy Coulter, Nelson farmer; Bill Davidson, Burlington florist; Dr. Carl Martin, Milton, warden of the county and a host of others.

However, with the massive voting power of the south, it seems logical that a strong bid will be made by either Oakville or Burlington to capture the nomination and the seat, a quest that has eluded "the front" for many years now. It is believed that of a voting strength of delegates the proportion based on votes cast in the past election, runs at close to 50 per cent, south the Dundas Highway (No. 5).

In all events, with no shortage of candidates, the meeting set (Jan. 25th) in Milton, it is expected that the greatest array of P.C.s in history will be at hand the nomination meeting.

Recall Former Customs When Institute Meets

Georgetown Women's Institute held their opening meeting of the New Year, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 2nd, in Knox Church Hall, with a fair attendance. After the opening (ole was sung, and the Collect repeated, President Mrs. Matthews read a poem "Growing Old", and expressed her best wishes to all members for a Happy New Year.

Something Old
The roll call, "Something Old I Have Seen Die Out" brought forth varied answers and thoughts of former ways of living. Secretary Mrs. Shields read the minutes of previous meeting, which were approved and also the correspondence. Mrs. Snyder reported on the Christmas remembrances to Sick and Shut Ins and Mrs. Palmer on Gifts to residents of the Manor.

Local Council Representatives
Mrs. George Wilson and Mrs. S. Walker were named as representatives to Local Council for this year. Mrs. McTear spoke on the New Year, telling of interesting memories she had of other New Years, which led to other members reminiscing on experiences they had.

Employed Many Years As Store Saleslady

Rev. Norman Young conducted the funeral service on Dec. 29th at the Harold C. McClure Funeral Home for Miss Carrie Evelyn Brown, 76, who died in Point Claire, Quebec, on Dec. 26th.

Miss Brown had been a town resident at 39 Charles St. until twelve years ago. Since then she lived with a niece, Mrs. Al Cameron in the winters, at Peterborough, Meaford, Newmarket, and latterly Pointe Claire, while spending the summers at Lamehouse with a nephew, Frank Brown.

Here in 1904
Daughter of Charles and Caroline Ward Brown, she was born at Lot 4, 9th Lane. After her father's death she moved to town in 1904 with her mother and sisters. She was employed with Jackson's general store and later with the Messes Charles in their millinery shop, where for ten years was an employee of Ontario Ladies College, Whitby. She was a member of the United Church.

Last member of her family, she was predeceased by brothers and sisters John, Elizabeth, Albert, Edith and a sister in infancy.

Horrible Cemetery
She leaves six nephews, and nieces, Frank, Lester, Ward and Florence Brown, Mrs. C. Gillap, and Mrs. Al Cameron.

Interment was made in Horby Presbyterian Cemetery, following the service here. Pallbearers were Jack Williamson, Campbell Simclair, K. C. Lindsay, Percy Leslie, Thomas Brownridge and Graham Farrell.

101st Birthday Party Despite Broken Ribs

Although he had broken several ribs in a fall a few days before, this did not prevent Tom Ross of Toronto from attending a dinner party in his honour at the Wedgewood.

The occasion - the 101st birthday of his former Toronto policeman.

His granddaughter, Mrs. C. V. Waldorf and Mr. Waldorf of 22 Elizabeth St. attended, as did their son Dr. Vern Waldorf and his wife. And their daughter Lee-Anne was a fifth generation guest.

Mr. Ross, a Bruce County native, married at 20 and joined the Toronto police force in 1890. His wife died in 1946 at the age of 83. His skill as a bagpipe player enabled him, during his police service from 1890 to 1924 to form the Toronto force's pipe band. He also formed the Kilwinning Masonic and the White Heather pipe bands.

He has never smoked or used liquor.

When Mr. Ross attained the century mark last year, members of Parkdale Presbyterian Church, where he is still a regular attendee, had a reception which was televised, following the morning service. And he was also a guest on the CBC Open House program.

Peel Will Double Its High School Enrolment

An eight year estimate of pupils and by 1967 an 800-student school would be needed. In 1961 accommodation would have to be provided for 500 pupils with a 900 or 1,000 pupil high school being filled by 1970.

Compiled by business administrator E. Higgins, the report was presented at Thursday's Central Peel District High School Board meeting. It is based on the assumption that Toronto Township and Streetsville will withdraw from the present area.

Expected Drop-Outs
The figures were arrived at, said Mr. Higgins, by considering the number of expected drop-outs and the number to be admitted from Grade 8. Enrolment for 1963 is expected to be 2,398 while 1970 is slated for 4,816 new students.

Present accommodation for next September stands at 750 for Brampton, 1,350 for the Composite school and 1,000 for the new Bramalea school. This makes a total enrolment of 3,100.

Okay Until 1965
The report states that present school facilities will be sufficient until 1965. By 1966, accommodation will have to be found for an estimated 400
