What a difference a piece of paper makes, if the paper happens to be a Press Pass

George Hoare and myself visited the Sportsmen's Show on the last Saturday of the show. In this visit, many things seemed different. Salesmen wanted to talk about their new reels, rods, guns, tent, etc. The magic word was Press, when this word was mentioned, eyes would light up and demonstrations would begin.

George and I received many invitations to visit this lake. that lodge, try this bait, or that rod li wasn't long before George and I were both dreaming of what we could do with think the figure was $10,000"

The other NHL club seeking his autograph on a contract was Boston Bruins, represented. in the Georgian Bay area by ex-Bruin goalie Long John Henderson. Henderson was asked to pick the three stars during one of the Midland-Collingwood games, and he made Jewell his first selection. Talking to Charhe after the game, Henderson lauded his ability and told hime he made three stops that some present NHL netminders wouldn't have touched. Another former NHL goalle, Harry Lumley, who now plays goal for Collingwood and watched Jewell perform from the epposite end of the ice was according to one story, instrumental in his signing with the Wings. Apparently Lumley got in touch with the Detroit scout Icliawing the second game of their play off series in which Midland edged Collingwood 5.4 le overtime; and urged them toe sign him on the spot. In that game Jewell handled 39 shots to 19 on Lumley.

Now a Brampton resident, Jewell works at American Motors there but is home frequent ly' to visit his mother, Mrs. Elaine Jewell, 21 Arletta St. He-
