

Consider Banning Cars From Georgetown Park

A motion which would close the town park to vehicles except on big days such as the Fall Fair, was withdrawn for further study Monday by council.

The Smith-Emmerson motion was made as a protective measure for children playing in the park and to protect grassed areas.

"Our park shouldn't be a drag strip for motorists," said C. Smith, who received support from his constituents in his stand from Cravens. They defeated Oakville Wins Group Championship.

Welland Downs Knocked Georgetown Raiders Out of an early spring in the Central Ontario Hockey League season. Young and Hildbrand.

Mayor Hyde said such a measure had been tried a few years ago but had not worked.

"He would file a protest with the Ontario Hockey Association."

"We must remember that the park is used for picnics and people like to drive into it," he said. "Such restrictions might defeat our purpose in having the park used extensively."

The mayor said use of the race track for cars is definitely prohibited and suggested that if cars were barred at the entrance to the track area it might be a suitable compromise.

Best Draws Plaudits In Twenty Mile Walk

Sandy Best, Halton's Federal Progressive Conservative candidate in Monday's election joined with Oakville high school students in a twenty mile walk Saturday and drew plaudits from the surprised terners when he finished 165th. Over 470 students took part in the walkathon.

The course was from Oakville, up the 7th Line to Hornby, across the Base Line to the 4th line near Milton, then down to the Lakeshore highway and back to Oakville. The walkers started out at 9:30 a.m. and finished the match in mid afternoon.

Starting late Best caught the tail-end racers at the top of Reynolds. He overtook them easily, making his way up the middle of the tramping line.

He wasn't without hecklers. Passersby shouted from cars: "Liberals can walk faster than that . . . kids got a lead on you . . . hop one two, three . . . come Sandy, shake a leg."

Despite what non-participants thought, he set a grueling pace. Students were impressed. "He's in pretty good shape," said Randy Levy, grade nine at Blacklock. In order to reach him for a question, one boy had to take off his shoes.

When his brother, Henry Best, arrived in his car to take Dr. Best to a previous appointment as the walkers were on the home lap, he explained he had other commitments. But the students wouldn't accept that.

"He's a quitter," yelled one. Minutes later Henry Best's car was back. "He's cancelled all appointments, and he's back in the race," he told the students.

Five minutes later he was back up with the leaders and still wearing his coat. He didn't shed it until the little army reached the QEW.

"Show a little spirit," he shouted to some of the students as they began to hobble and lag behind.

Everyone was jumping by the time they reached Oakville's Colborne St. Residents gathered by the side of the road, welcomed the weary with cheers.

Grass Fire Season Four Alarms to Date

Firemen have their fingers crossed in hope that there will be no recurrence of last year's record number of grass fires this season. The department answered four calls to grass fires over the past week, however none of them, gave them any trouble.

The first was last Thursday evening on the property of Mrs. A. Dawson on the 9th Line at Glen Williams. The fire was just the case of a clean up getting away from the burners.

The firemen have been unable to determine the origin of the second grass fire which started in the middle of a field near Arundon Ave. at about 8 p.m. Saturday. Boys playing in the area were suspected.

There's two reasons. First, within minutes of each other, complained at least one of Welland's two golf courses that had burned.

The second, Welland has used through the bottom litigant three goalenders in the series, neighbouring grass on an area being allowed only two St. and the flames spread rapidly.

Oak officials viewed the proposal to CNR embankment as a test idea with mixed feelings fire being doused. Firemen decided to wait until later were just packing up to go today before reaching a final turn to the station when decision.

Some said protest others the property of George Best, president Herbie Baker.

Both teams stuck to defense just below No 7 Highway, admitted being concerned, however, over Welland's use of three goalenders.

Regulars Red Acheson and Ron Rivet and darkhorse Jack Bishop as the three who appeared in the Welland goal during the series. Bishop played only five minutes of the first game.

"He's the fellow we are most interested in," said Baker.

Both teams stuck to defense hockey last night, with Oaks outshooting Welland 38-18.

The crowd of 1,500 was down from other record breaking Sunday night attendances and this was blamed on the Chicago - Detroit NHL playoff telecast.

They also enjoyed hiking and using their tracking know ledge to track down the enemy patrol.

Candidate Best, Wife Meet Party Supporters

The 36 voice chorale of the London College of Bible and Missions will present a service of sacred song at Maple Acre Baptist Church on Saturday, April 6th, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Warren E. Adams, B. Mus., M. Mus. Director of Musical Relations at the College leads the choir. Mr. Adams is a graduate of Westminster Choir College, Princeton, New Jersey, and received his Master of Music degree from the College of Fine and Applied Arts, Boston University.

The 14th annual concert will include special hymn arrangements sung by the chorale, as well as quartets, duets, solos and instrumental.

Rev. John D. Cox, Director of Public Relations at the College will speak briefly.

London College of Bible and place.

Mr. Best was accompanied by his wife Eileen and his manager, Henry Best.

Sandy and his wife met all of the group present and later

spoke informally to the group for a few minutes.

The president of the association spoke briefly and commented on the local political scene.

He said if all the Tories got out and worked Sandy would be in the House again on April 9th.

Mr. Clark warned against the conspiracy of workers and he urged everyone to give to extra bush. We've got the green on the run. That's evidenced by the way they're spending money around here . . . as if it was going out of style."

Sands Best reviewed the condition of the community saying that with just a bit more push we'd make it.

St. Andrew's Ladies Model Spring Fashions

The Easter parade was held early this year, not on Fifth Avenue, but last Wednesday in Wrigley Auditorium.

"Easter Parade," a fashion show sponsored by the St. Andrew's United Church Women, displayed springtime finery, Delfos Fashions.

While Mrs. Ada Wilkinson provided a running commentary, models Mrs. Marjorie Eastale, Mrs. Betty Helfant, Mrs. Arlene Livingston, Mrs. Marilyn Sunnucks, Mrs. Millie Todd and Mrs. Mary Zorge showed the suits and gowns.

Striking fashions chosen to home, Mrs. Florence Baker, in hair roller, cream, old beat-up skirt, and stockings down at angles, illustrated how not to appear at the breakfast table.

Then completing the metamorphosis so familiar to every woman, she repainted all dried and glamourous.

What the well dressed young lady will wear was shown by the Misses LuLu Anson, Betty Clark, Karen Findlay, Alison Macintosh, Susan Wells and Sue Rossiter. Having had the sweet spoils of success, two year old Cathy Sue didn't want to leave the stage, but finally left under conditions unknown to the Dior models.

Breaking up the fashion show was a demonstration of hair styling by the Hollywood Beauty Salon on willing model Maureen Williams. This salon created the hair styles for all the girls.

Completing the ensembles were shoes by Bata Shoe Store, and make-up by Beauty Counselor.

Combining to create the set were Beaver Lumber Co., Zorge Construction, McTure Furniture, and Webb's Green houses. The sound system was set up and donated by G.S.Tel.
