

Co-operation Meant Success Says Bantam Tourney Head

by Red Asseltine

Bantam Tournament Chairman, once again a full and exciting week of hockey and new friendships has drawn to a close. From Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, to West Kildonan, Man. to the north and Wellesley, Mass., to the south they have come and gone but shall not be forgotten.

To the good people of Georgetown who opened their hearts and homes to the many boys from across the country, go my sincere and heartfelt thanks. Without this fine cooperation our tournament certainly could not function. The friendly atmosphere and kind cooperation of all Georgetown citizens is to be highly commended. The many handshakes and pats on the back I received as teams left town, congratulating on a wonderful tournament and town, I would like to pass on and share with the good people of Georgetown.

There are many jobs that go to making a tournament of this size and calibre a terrific success. Four main ones are: Ida Alcorn and her Kinettes, who have done a wonderful job of billeting and always had ample beds on supply; Janet Emmer-son and her feeding crew filled the many hungry stomachs with the finest of food; Chas Storey and his time keepers kept the playing records perfect, and the real big one which figure accounts for the smooth running, time scheduling, best criticized job of the tournament, goes to Bryan Lewis and his referees. Ten of these men did the whole week's tournament and three of them took a week's holiday to be on hand. Thanks a lot, fellows. Also to Don Gosling and Lou Pankenn, thanks alone cannot repay their cooperation; also to that great gang they call the Rink Rats, they were never late with a flood or a scrape.

To the many others who helped make our tournament a success, my many, many thanks. To mention names would be endless, but if you helped me in any manner, no matter how small you know I shall not forget you. So till next Easter season, happy summer to all and again many, many thanks.

BUT THE RULES WERE OUT OF THIS WORLD

SIR CHATSWORTH GOSLING and Baron Von Pankenn (back row) were the International officials who mishandled the exhibition game between the Kinettes and Teen Femmes at the Bantam tourney Saturday. Here they keep a watchful eye on Kinette Ida Alcorn (left) and Pat Davison. When not refereeing ladies' hockey, the whistle-happy duo are arena manager Don Gosling and assistant Lou Pankenn.

Our own local Girl Guides aided them again this year along with some members of the Red Cross. If ever awards were given for devotion to duty, this man and his wonderful staff warrant one. Thanks again Mr. Hart to yourself and your wonderful helpers.
