

LEGION NOTES

by Don. N. Platt

The Georgetown Midget team that won the Ontario Midget Hockey Association Championship will be treated to a father and son banquet by Branch 120. These boys, who worked up through the Legion-sponsored kid hockey, have amply proved that all the time and money was well spent.

In addition, to assist in the purchase of jackets, the Town of Georgetown's gift of $100.00 will be augmented by an additional $125.00 from the Legion, and $25.00 from the Imperial Section.

We will at this point also extend a "Large Legion Thank You" to the many men who, as coaches, managers and referees, spent every Saturday at the arena throughout the hockey season. Their work was the one big factor that made the kid hockey the success that it was.

MEMBERSHIP SMOKER

"A terrific show" was the average of comments passed Friday evening. Remarkable many who have attended similar Branch 120 smokers. "This was by far the best yet." The visitors and new members expressed considerable surprise at the organization and caliber of the entertainment.

The evening was launched with the initiation of seventeen new members in an impressive ceremony conducted by the Branch initiation team. The new members are as follows: J. Harvey, S. J. Henderson, G. A. Heywood, H. F. Hay, J. E. Swan, E. Rogers, M. McLean, T. C. Trower, D. Taylor, G. L. Hallitt, F. E. Yeaton, F. Morton, F. V. McKee, A. Gunning, J. R. O'Halloran, R. Ackroyd and K. Tost.

atives are too great to describe their performance. We hope everyone in town will have a chance to hear these boys sing. They take a back seat to no one. The hope was to have them sing again later in the program but this was dashed to earth by sight of their longing glances and thirsty looks as they left the floor.

"Chuck and Jack", a pair from Toronto, highly accomplished on banjo and accordion, were next on the agenda and were kept on stage considerably beyond their planned time by the applause whistles and shouts of the audience.

TRICKY THUMPING

The Steel Bandits' composed of Jim 'Dirt-Track' Valentine, Art Stamp and Buster Hale, regaled us with West Indian rhythms on their steel drums. The languid life of the Caribbean Islands was well portrayed by Art Stamp who, but for some stout thumping on the head with Jim Valentine's mallet, was prepared to fall asleep at his drum.

Some pretty tricky drum thumping was demonstrated by Art when he pounded away with a cigarette precariously balanced on the edge of his instrument (the Shell Oil Company may not agree with the term instrument). His defiance, however proved insufficient when the cigarette finally galloped across the floor out of reach.

Andy St. Laurent, who was MC for the evening, kept the between-acts portion of the program lively with songs and jokes. The subject matter of Andy's jokes broadened considerably in scope as the evening progressed, much to the delight of the audience.

A melodious and humorous selection of folk songs were sung by the 'Sykes Brothers' These local boys, whose father

8 FT. SONG SHEETS

"Fergy's Swing Along" with the aid of Art Stamp, Buster Hale, and monstrosus 8 foot music sheets, managed to get considerable noise from the audience which did resemble singing. A certain touch of humor was added by the occasional omission of words in the music sheets. We are unable to describe the contortions of Art and Buster as they turned the pages in this monstrous book. Imagination should suffice.

Last, but definitely not least, came the "Copycats". Jack Ferguson, Wright Smith and George Sandifer, with the aid of a tape recorder, produced one of the best ex-respectively, got the whole thing off the ground. To you gentlemen, and your helpers, we extend a sincere "thank you" from everyone.

THE NO-NAME COMMITTEE

A change of pace here now, while we impart some information concerning the historical or archives committee (no name yet). Along with yours truly, it consists of Jean Lockhurst, Alex Taylor, Jim Murphy, Wally Thompson, Harry Savings, Bob Hedley, Gord Reid and Matt McDonough. Except for the continual flashing of our new flash gun, ideas are our only product. However, the photo album will soon be in evidence. All members of the above-mentioned committee are waiting with open arms for pictures relating to the Legion.

Honorable Mention For Fire Poster

Martha Morgan of Burlington, one of two Halton County entries in a new province-wide fire prevention poster contest, has received an honorable mention for her poster on fire hazards.

Her entry placed among the top six girls' posters in the first Ontario Fire Chiefs' Association contest, Chief A. E. Clement of Milton, chairman of the competition, announced today. Martha will receive an "honorable mention" certificate and $10 cash. She's a student at Glenview Public School, Burlington.

She and David Downs of the J. M. Denyes School, Milton, were recently judged winners in the Halton County Fire Prevention Bureau's annual poster contest, and the two winning posters were submitted to the
