

"Deadwood Dick" Audience Gets Spirit of Melodrama

It was a rollicking evening of fun Saturday night at the Little Theatre presentation of "Deadwood Dick." The black hearted villain was booed, the true blue hero, was cheered, and the pure lily-white heroine was applauded as the audience was caught up in ye olde melodrama — a story of the old west, when men were men, and women were very virtuous, or very evil, and never the twain did meet.

"Curse, foiled again," muttered villain Redman Blackburn played to the hilt by Ron Hill, as he stroked his black moustache. Nary a viewer guessed of course, that he was really Deadwood Dick in disguise. Justice prevailed in the end; however, and he got his comeuppance, when he died a prolonged death, clutching frantically at his black heart.

The scene throughout was Calamity Jane's "Mammoth Saloon" — a den of evil and iniquity, where card playing and demon rum are indulged in freely. Vera Macdonald captivated the part of Calamity Jane completely, as the heart of gold showing frequently through the hard exterior.

The play ran the gamut of all the time worn cliches, from young innocent betrayed by a cad, to the blind pure maiden facing a fate worse than death, whatever that is.

Foundling Lily Blossom, the sightless tender prairie flower, perhaps the most difficult role, was portrayed by Edith Baumgartner. She roused not only the audience sympathy, but also the protective instincts of heroes Ned Harris and Wild Bill Hickock. Tony Lloyd and Gordon Hunt were the two truest bluest heroes of them all.

Rose Blossom as Joan Crawford, the epitome of all the popular womanly virtues of the time, sighed and fainted her way through the evening.

Bill Barratt as Judge Nix up held the law, when he was upholding a glass, and Carolyn Dalfen as La Paloma, an exotic Mexican adventuress, periodically showed her knees with wild abandon.

Kirby, Cummins are Newest Domtar 25 Year Men

Membership of the Georgetown division of the Domtar paper mills 25 Year Club stands at 32 this week after Mervin Kirby and John Cummins were welcomed into the select group last Friday. A dinner and evening of entertainment was held for the membership in the Hotel Queensway in St. Catharines complete with floor show, featuring the violin playing Hansen Sisters.

Approximately 200 quarter century members from the mill here and mills in Toronto and St. Catharines attended the affair.

H. E. Mason of Montreal, vice president and managing director, gave the keynote address, and the general manager, J. H. Robertson was a head table guest. Georgetown was represented at the head table by the resident manager, Jack Critchton, and the president of the Georgetown 25 Year Club, Ted Gorth.

One of the two new members, Mervin Kirby, is on loan from here to the mill in Trois-Rivières, Quebec, and was unable to attend. John Cummins is a maintenance supervisor here.

Of the 32 members, 11 are retired, and twenty one are still employed.

Two members, Joe Armstrong and Alex Mcumber, passed on during the year and two minutes of silence was observed in their honour.

Young Georgetown Dancers Compete at Peel Festival

A number of Georgetown children were among those taking part in the Dancing Peel Festival held this year in Clark Hall, Port Credit.

The Festival is sponsored by the Brampton Rotary Club and lasts three weeks.

The results of Georgetown children, pupils of Vicki Lay, are as follows:

NATIONAL
Leslie Gillett, 83, Bronze Medal Award, Lynne Roy, 80; Robert Liesler, 74; Deanne Lay, 73; Darlene Tolles, 70.

TAP DUET
Janie Bouskill and Diane Stoutley, 74, Bronze Medal Award, Leslie Gillett and Rita Timms, 69.

BALLET GROUP
Janet Cass, Dorian Lay, Veronica Nemeth, Diane Hill, 70; Enzoe, Medal Award.

JAZZ SOLO
Janie Bouskill, 73.

TAP SOLO
Janie Bouskill, 69; Dorothy Lusk, 67.

BALLET SOLO
Rita Timms, 69; Darlene Tolles, 68; Bobby Hart, 68, L. Leslie Gillett, 65; Deanne Lay, 65.

DEMI-CHARACTER
Rita Timms, 68.

Regarding the Festival, Mrs. Lay said that the standard was high, of a professional level in the action division and it is an excellent training for children to be confronted with the proficient performance of others. She said this creates an incentive to work harder and accomplish more.

The Festival motto is "They do not heat each other, but face each other towards perfection."

Response So Good May Ration Space

Response to the World Flowering Match, which will be held October 9 to 12 at the Conn Smythe Farms near Caledon has snowballed so rapidly, that space for displays may have to be rationed.

Flowering committee secretary, Herb Norry, said last week that a proposed "tent city" is rapidly being filled by exhibitors wishing to display their goods. The city, on a 50 acre field, "will be larger than any at other matches and we may have to ration the space," said Mr. Norry.

Preparations are well under way for the presentation of colors to the Lorne Scots (Peel, Ufferton and Hallow) regiment during the match.

CLUB MIDTOWN

by Kate

Well, I offer no comments concerning last week's dance as really there is nothing to comment about.

This week we present our old favourites the LUCERNES. If you can believe what you hear there will be a new addition to the Lucernes, playing the sax, this Friday. The admission again will be only 75 cents; the door will be open at 8:30 and the first big set will start at 9:15. So if you don't want to miss any of the fabulous sounds I suggest you come up around 8:30. As you will probably see, we have new and bigger posters. These are up in real good time so keep your eye out for them. Right now there is nothing much planned for the future as we are not sure a dance is wanted in Georgetown; but as soon as we can see it is we will be sure to plan a lot of great things to keep you busy through the summer months.

The time has come to leave you now but I will be back next week. Be good and I'll see you all this Friday at Club Midtown. (won't I!)

15 Bowling Hopefuls Eye Trip to Jamaica

Fifteen Georgetown bowlers will be in action on Saturday, May 25th in Burlington where the final round of the Players Bowling Festival will be concluded. The tested, each bowler will be hoping that they are one of the fortunate fifty winners of an all-expense paid trip for set will start at 9:15. So if you don't want to miss any of the fabulous sounds I suggest you come up around 8:30. As you will probably see, we have new and bigger posters. These are up in real good time so keep your eye out for them. ### Increase Coverage On Town Fleet Liability

A revision in the town's fleet liability policy was made by council Monday.

Third party liability was increased from $200,000 to $300,000 for an extra premium of $63.

At the same time, a number of town vehicles were deleted from the collision policy, on the advice of the insurance firm. The equipment is so far depreciated that it's felt any compensation in event of loss does not justify the insurance premiums.

Vehicles deleted from the policy were a 1949 Chev half ton truck, 1951 Ford pickup, 1953 International dump truck, 1951 Chev ambulance and 1933 International stake truck. Total premium saving is $169.

Cr Young opposed the motion, wanting to keep the dump truck covered by insurance.

Seek New Location Red Cross Cupboard

Improvements in the public library will force a new location for the Red Cross cupboard this fall.

In a letter to council the Red Cross group has asked town assistance in locating a convenient depot for the loan cupboard which fills an important function for district people requiring unusual equipment such as hospital beds, crotches and overbed tables. Emergency supplies are also kept on hand in this free service.
