SELLING REFRIGERATORS TO ESKIMOES

THERE ARE THREE PRODUCTS that junior door-to-door salesmen find a minimum of 'selling'. Two are Boy Scout Apples and The Herald and the third is Girl Guide cookies. To mark Girl Guide week, the traditional cookies went on sale on the weekend. Just to see if her salesmanship is of the 'refrigerators to eskimos' calibre, Linda Howat, 32 Henry St., (above) makes Sykes Bakery Shop her first port of call and gets a counter offer from Mrs. Sykes.

Request Council Provide 12-Acre Recreation Park

The acquisition of land for parks should be a town responsibility was the consensus of opinion expressed at Wednesday's meeting to discuss a park for the East end of town. The opinion was summed up in a resolution endorsed unanimously. It read: We, the Georgetown Parks and Recreation Committee, request that Council take immediate action on their motion passed in February, that they initiate discussion with Delrex Development Ltd. for vacant land in Ward 3, leading to the acquisition of land suitable for a municipally owned park. And that it be also resolved that council take such action within the next four weeks, and that approximately twelve acres of land be considered. In addition to the deciding of a name for the committee, Len Lewis was elected Chairman, Roy Ballentine as Vice Chairman and Len Burns as Secretary. Despite a plea by Councillor W. Smith, who acted as chair, until the election of of the Delrex Recreation Association have plans for park rather than parks from tax money, the gathering overruled him. Mr. Smith advised that the land scheduled for school sites. However, if it had gone for parks as it should, he maintained, the town would have

Special Features For Ballinafad Anniversary

Sunday marked the 80th Anniversary of Ballinafad United Church. The guest speaker for the morning service was Rev. Keith Woollard of Burkley Studios in Toronto. Mr. Woollard preached a very inspiring sermon on "His Truth is Marching On" which pointed out God is working through current social events. The morning service was under the able direction of guest organist, Mr. George De Kleer, of St. George's Anglican Church in Georgetown. "Sing Praises" was the offertory anthem, pleasantly sung by the choir. The well-known voices of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Shortall and daughter, Anne, added greatly to the service of praise with a lovely rendition of "Blessed Redeemer". At the evening service, Mr. George Elliott and choir from Trinity United Church, Acton, very ably led the congregation in the service of praise. They were much enjoyed. Mr. Fleming preached the sermon, his topic was "The Dimensions of the Church" which emphasized the Church as a house of prayer for all people. After service the Ballinafad Choir entertained their guests from Acton in the basement of the Church. Refreshments were served. Friends from Churchill and Melville United Churches, along with many guests and relatives were welcomed at these services.

Letters From a "Trouble Spot"

Letters from a Georgetown soldier in Viet Nam

When he received a posting for my civilian clothes, and had to the Far East a member of the Canadian Military U.N. delegation, Albert Carter began as I was. I nearly was cut in putting his observation on paper half by the time I left. This and sending them home to the officers and members of the Loyal Orange Lodge 245 of which he is a member. The razor lodge found the accounts absorbing that they submitted to the Herald and part of the first letter appears below as article No. 9 of a new series.

On Sunday morning, I was awakened by the sound of clanging and banging from the road. On going out there, I saw a procession passing, made up of soldiers of the Royal Army. In front of the Royal Army, what appeared to be a sort of flower vase covered with orange marigolds. Behind him was an officer, and then came a fellow beating on a bass drum with his fists and another banging a set of cymbals together. Next came four men carrying a sort of stretcher on which were clumps of orange marigolds. From the centre of the stretcher jutted a four-sided pyramid of white paper from which pieces of wire protruded. On the wire bits of paper of various colours, with writing on them, were skewered.

Behind the stretcher party was a mob of about 40 soldiers sort of slouching along. THE PROCESSION CAME to a group of native huts and halted. Out of one of the huts came a young lad about 18 or 19. The officer saluted him, and the vase carrier presented the vase. Then officers and vase carrier and members of the party shook hands with the lad, and then started to shake hands with each other. The young fellow, the officer, vase carrier, the stretcher party and some of the soldiers went into the hut. Some of the soldiers took off, and a few remained outside with the drummer and the cymbal-clanger, who proceeded to render a noisy composition.

Back at the Canadian compound, I tried to find out what this was all about, and was told by various people that it was a funeral party returning with the ashes of a dead soldier to his next of kin, that it was a present from his buddies to a soldier on the birth of his first son, that it was a present to a newly married soldier from his regiment, and several other things, all of which boiled down to the fact that they did not know either.

PRICES IN VIENTIANE were high enough to begin with, but when the high spending, free wheeling Yanks arrived, up they went. Now the Yanks, who practically made the merchants into millionaires, have left, but have the prices come down? You can buy your last pair of socks they didn't. Due to some twist of oriental reasoning, the present went up, on the grounds that with the Yanks gone, more profit had to be made on each article sold. The Canadians, British and Australians immediately started the prices up again, on the grounds that sooner or later somebody will have to buy something, and when they do

Parents, your cooperation is to try and correct this situation would be greatly appreciated. Thank you Georgetown Hydro. E. S. Tom G. W. McCallum, Supt.

Kennedy Fun Fair Complete Sell-Out

An overwhelming success was the general comment regarding the George Kennedy School Fun Fair Saturday afternoon. A line up before the doors opened, and a total sell-out by three-thirty backed up the comments.

There were movies for the young fry, run by Mr. G. Corbett and refreshments for both young and old handled by the Home and School Association. President, Mr. M. Lovell, and Mr. J. Douglas. Still under male management was the Fish Pond, tackled by Mr. B. Hetherington and the Auction Sale undertaken by Mr. K. Daley.

For a quarter you could buy a mysterious parcel at the Parcel Post They had been mailed by friends and relatives of the Grade 4 and 5 parents. Postmen for the day were Mrs. J. Dulziel and Mrs. R. McNeilly.

With nickels and dimes clutched in their hands, the children invaded the Child Shopping Centre and cleaned out the comic books, toys and children's jewellery. Mrs. J. Russell, Mrs. F. Spingola and Mrs. B. Ogilvie stood up bravely under the onslaught.

At the sewing table Mrs. E. Braag, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. D. Westrope and Mrs. C. Hildebrandt supervised. In the home made goodies section, Mrs. J. McLaughlin, Mrs. R. Dubien, Mrs. E. Osborne and Mrs. M. Allen watched the cakes, cookies and pies disappear within an hour.

At the candy counter Mrs. Hannon, Mrs. Martino, Mrs. R. Algar and Mrs. Stansell saw a similar disappearing act.

At the "Kennedy Country Store" Mrs. G. Price and Mrs. S. Martin lacked only a cracker barrel to make it authentic. When feet got tired and mother's patience wore thin, the kindergarten room was the Delrex Banquet Hall.
