SUE'S THE COOLEST

- Peter Jones Photo

FIRST TO BEAT THE HEAT WITH POOL PLUNGE

IT WASN'T PLANNED that way, but Sue Smith's first to plunge the water of the Georgetown Community Swimming Pool this year. She agreed to pose at the poolside for Georgetown Herald photographer Peter Jones to play up the Pool Opening this weekend but once inside the fence the attraction of the cool aqua on a hot day was just too much.

$27,700 Too High for Building, Council Says

The old post office can be long to the town for $21,700. But council feels the price is much too high and is appealing to the Post Office Department for a review of the all from the federal government price.

Much too high for a 27 year old building which originally cost $35,000 to construct? Mayor Hyde told council Monday.

Renovations to convert the Mill St. property into municipal offices would cost at least $15,000, he estimates. The said Mr. Hildibrandt. It could federal, M.P. Roller Skating Out Floor Too Costly

The arena board's plan to lay the opinion of other members that the arena facilities year round instead of just during the winter will have to rely on something other than roller skating.

A fact finding committee appointed to look into the feasibility of using the arena's cement floor for roller skating found it to be a tremendous expense.

The spokesman said the board that the arena floor could take a toll and continue to see some wear and tear.

A committee spokesman said the next possibility may be the next possible. The Herald Monday that one of the schools visited had a special trap success of a recent wrestling match surface installed specifically for roller skating and has the local board interested.
