

DAY FOR YOUNG DUFFERS
NORTH HALTON JUNIORS AND INTERMEDIATES START

MEMBERS OF THE special men's section committee Frank Wallace, Jack Armstrong, and Ernie Smith got assistance from North Halton pro Russ Kelly in signing in some of the Juniors that took part in Junior and Intermediate Opening Day there Friday. Mac MacKinnon and Dick Crichton were other Seniors helping with the day.

INTERMEDIATE GIRLS Liz Davidson, Jill Runham, and Judy Nash watch their foursome partner Pat MacKinnon launch her game. This was the first time that the North Halton Club had held an Opening for the younger ranks.

In last week's column, I kidded a lot about my yearly trip to Lake Nipissing and Waltham Inn. With all kidding aside, the fishing wasn't as bad as I made out it was. The truth of the matter is, that it was a case of yours truly taking too long to smarten up. The Walleyes weren't in too much of a biting mood, you might say they were nibbling at the tails. I saw many anglers with rods bent just about in two, until the fish got within netting distance. Then their lines would go slack and up would come a frightened looking minnow.

After this came they now down by the tail. Then I opened to me a few times. I wanted to spring my little sur-pulled in my minnow to have prize on Mister Walleye.

A minnow to anchor task. I made up my mind to spring a fatherly sort of way. If my little trap on my friend was at this time that I noticed Walleye when he took his first how cold the little fellow look little nibble. I didn't want ked. Then, much to my sur long when twitch and price, I noticed someone had whamoh, I set the hook. I stripped him of his outer gar smited to myself and thought ments, scales and all well. I surprised you that time, old this made me really mad. I friend And boy, was I ever leaned over the side of the surprised I had just caught a boat, nearly tipping it, and in Pike Oh, well, back to the you want to play do you? Here we are well into the Well, the game was on! First fishing season, and still we I lowered in a neck team, hear of hunting accidents. On Mrs. Wm. Dwyer, Most Honest two minnows in a spreader.

Now the stage was set and the fags (my two fishing buddies) waited for the action to start. It wasn't too long before it began. My rod "leave a little twitch, so I gave it a little Georgetown Golf and Country Club members and their gues again and again I watch it is well cooling off in their back. It wasn't too long be, own swimming pool in two before we were twitching in weeks perpetual motion. It was some Construction started on the time later before I realized long-awaited pool last week that I was the only one doing. The excavation work was by any twitching. My lines gun last Thursday and comp Ron Lane friend had gone somewhere later on the week end, and this else. I found out where, when work the contractor is cons Monkman I turned to my fishing but fracturing the framing "chisholm dies". They weren't interested. The pool is 50' x 24' and will in my troubles they were too, slope from a shallow wading Conlidge area to a depth of 9' at one Davison area to a depth of 9' at one Well! There and then I decided. The site is on the north ded to give Mister Walleye a west corner of the clubhouse little surprise. Just before I Georgetown Golf and Coun lowered the next easy minnow try Club is on the 10th Line down to the dark depths, I en- of Equising near George gaged another hook in the minnow's northern limit.

Trail by 6, Midgets
End Game 15-6 Winners

Georgetown's mightiest Midget, Terry Hay, won his third straight game with no defeats. Along with his team mates they took Milton Midgets an art 15-6 on Saturday night in Milton.

In a game that featured anything and everything, Milton hopped off to a quick 6-0 lead at the end of the second inning. Georgetown struck for five runs in the 3rd on six singles by Cummins, Hay, Arbie, Coolidge, Chisholm and Monkman.

In the top of the 4th, Cummins reached first on an error to the short-stop, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. The next two batters popped up and struck out and Cummins was sent home on a passed ball that went over the dead ball line on the catcher, despite the dispute of the Milton Manager.

The game remained tight until the top of the 8th when the balloon burst. Cummins again reached first on an error and scored on Arbie's double. Gus Holmes singled and both he and Arbie were driven home on a big triple by Coolidge. Big Don Chisholm blasted a home run to score two more runs; with the bases empty, Terry Lane got hit by the pitcher. Monkman drew a walk and Mike Tost singled to load the bases. Lane scored on a squeeze bunt by Cummins leaving two men on base. Danny Arbie got his second double of the inning and with some alert base running stole third and home. Gus Holmes then drew a walk and stole second and third much to the delight of the crowd. At this point it became evident to Manager Richmond that Milton was trying to delay the game and when Milton tried to intentionally walk Terry Hay, Terry was ordered to strike out for the third out.

With Milton trying desperately to delay the game so it would revert back to the previous inning when it was a six-all tie, Mike Tost came in to relieve Terry Hay and he quickly retired the Milton batters, making Georgetown's big nine runs count.

Georgetown had 18 hits, scored 15 runs and committed three errors. Milton had five hits, scored six runs and committed five errors.

Hornby Captures Two Lusty Belting is Key

Hornby Intermediates won two games last week and moved into second place in the Halton County Rural Softball League, behind the front-runners, Glen Williams, by virtue of a powerful attack.

Wednesday night Hornby had little trouble disposing of the Omagh Junior team, 14-4, in a game played at Omagh Park. Gary Hamilton pitched the first eight for Hornby and picked up the win. John Willmott relieved him in the 9th.

Blake Inglis and Don Learmont led the Hornby attack against two Omagh hurlers, D. King and Mery, Curtis, each with a home run. In the first inning, singles by Graham Gillies, Don Learmont and Art Brooks combined with two Omagh miscues to net the winners four runs in the second inning, an error, a single by Ross Cunningham and a double by Art Brooks produced four more tallies.

In the fourth inning Jamie Cunningham singled, Blake Inglis tripled, Don Learmont was safe on a fielder's choice, Ross Cunningham and Art Brooks singled and Dave Leslie doubled to give the winners another four runs. Before the game was over Inglis and Learmont collected home runs and Hornby added another four, to make the final score 14-4.

Friday night at Palermo, Jamie Cunningham, the regular Hornby short-stop was forced to pitch, when no Hornby hurlers showed up for the game. Cunningham pitched a strong game in allowing Palermo only one run in nine innings.

Hornby scored four runs in the third inning on a walk to Graham Gillies, a double by Blake Inglis, an error a two base hit by Dave Leslie and a double by Art Brooks to wrap up the game. In the fifth in-
