WRIGG. KINDERGARTEN TAKES A LOOK AT FARMING

THE WRIGGLESWORTH KINDERGARTEN went down on the farm recently to get a close look at how a dairy farm operates and to put an end to those silly rumours that milk doesn't come from bottles originally. Wilsendale Farm, R.R. 1, Norval was the farm that hosted the wide-eyed youngsters and above owner Spencer Wilson treats two of the small guests, Terry Norton and Charles Peavoy to a ride on their favourite farm animal, the pony. Some of the school's senior grade accompanied the tour to assist teachers Mrs. Agg and Mrs. Bilsborough with the supervision.

Mrs. Patterson gave a short report from the recent Sectional meeting Mrs. Roughley reviewed a section from the study dealing with Formosa. Kindness was text word answered in a verse of Scripture. Mrs. Bert Benton told of the circumstances leading to the composing of the hymn "Who Is On The Lord's Side" by Francis Ridley Havergal, and then played it on her piano accordion. Following the Mizpah Benediction in closing the hostess served lunch.

Charles Armstrong of Armstrong Brothers Quarries, appeared before Council seeking their okay to put extra support piers under the bridge on the tenth line just above Union street.

Armstrong Brothers wants to haul gravel from Easton's pit for the 17th street, in tandem trucks, but the present load limit on the bridge would not permit it.

The piers would be 30' wide running across the width of the bridge in two places. It would have to be a decision of the Dept. of Highways, said Reeve G. Leslie since they put the load limit on the bridge.

The Pattersons visited cousins Mrs. Edgar Patterson and Mrs. Lillie Patterson at Shelburne on Sunday. Mr and Mrs Gordon Booth and family of the sixth line attended the Hume reunion at Terra Cotta on Sunday. Congratulations to Mr and Mrs Tom McGlashon on the arrival of a little daughter recently.
