HOW TO PLAY FIRST BASS

"IF A BALL PLAYER WANTS to be instrumental to his team what better place than among the band's equipment to learn the finer points," muses Dougie Ballantine, 15 month old son of Georgetown Minor Ball president Roy Ballantine, "especially if a fella's years to play 1st bass." Dougie found the pile of instruments a perfect resting place after the Minor Baseball Day parade Saturday.

YOU MAY NOT KNOW IT mom, but your ball-cloutin', base runnin', curve-thrown' son is an angel — that is if he plays for Los Angeles of the American League in the GMBA. And if you think this beaming bunch aren't aware of their title take a look at Second-from-the-Right holding his halo in place.

Letters From a "Trouble Spot"

Letters from a Georgetown soldier in Viet Nam

When he received a posting to the Far East, a member of the Canadian Military U.N. delegation, Albert Carter began putting his observations on paper and sending them home to LOL 245. The lodge found the account so absorbing that they submitted them to the Herald and part of a letter appears below as article No. Seventeen of a new series.

The second language of the people is English. When a Thai wants to speak with a Chinese or a tribesman with an Indian, they usually resort to English.

The cinemas are in English, with Chinese and Thai subtitles. Where Saigon sports one English language newspaper and three French language ones besides the dozen or so Vietnamese, Bangkok has three English language papers, no French, one German and of course Thai. Wat Arun, or Temple of Dawn, is usually visited as part of the floating market tour. This was built about 200 hundred years ago to house the victory of the Thais over the invading Burmese.
