ANY LILLIPUTIANS NEED A WINDMILL?

THIS MAY HAVE TOUCHED OFF a mad scramble in Lilliput where accommodation is hard to find these days, but in Glen Williams this scale model windmill, constructed piece by piece by Harry Roffel, (shown here with his boys, just isn't attracting the tourists. Actually the windmill, which has become a modern landmark in the Glen, isn't for rent, but it is for sale. So if there is any update Don Quixote out there seeking an adventure you can master just pay the man, take up your lance and charge this Blanding monster to your heart's content.

Lutherans Plan First Service This Sunday

The first Lutheran worship held for children, and also a service will be conducted in Bible Class for young people of Georgetown, Sunday, Sept. 8, at 10:30 a.m. The name of the new congregation is Lutheran Church. The Rev. John Kiffner, pastored to lead the children of the new congregation, Mrs. Russell Diegel, Mrs. Tra told the Herald that permissibly Barrager and Mrs. John Johnson has been granted for the Kiffner. Pastor Kiffner will temporary use of the Howard lead the Bible Class. The purpose of the new congregation, according to Pastor Kiffner, is to "bring to the on Delrex Blvd. for a future people of the area the message of God's concern for their lives. Preceding the worship service, both physical and spiritual a Sunday School will be at."

Appoint Mrs. C. A. Grant School Area Secretary

Mrs. C. A. Grant, Stewarttown, is the new secretary-treasurer for the board of Esqueusing School Area No. 1. She recently succeeded Walter Biehn, who resigned the position after serving since March. Mr. Biehn has decided to continue as publisher of the Georgetown Herald. Mrs. Grant, who is the former Betty Smethurst, is well-known in the district, is active in ladies' work in the community as a member of Esqueusing Women's Institute and St. John's Anglican Church. An office is being established in the new township hall, which will be used as a secretary's office and board room for the school area. In the meantime Mrs. Grant will operate the position from her home in the village. The board operates seven schools, Limehouse, Glen Williams, Stewarttown, Speyside, Milton Heights and Pineview, near Hornby, which opened for the first time on Tuesday. It combines the former Pinegrove, Hornby, Quatre Bras and Ligny schools.

Oesterle Sculptures Viewed at House Sol

Gallery House Sol, 45 Charles St., starts its second year with a one-man show by the well-known Toronto sculptor Leonard Oesterle. Besides his sculptures, drawings and engravings never before exhibited will be at the gallery from Sept. 7th until the 23rd. Mr. Oesterle was born in Germany in 1915. During the last war he managed, after 8 years of Hitler's concentration camps, to escape to Switzerland. After the war he started to study art, first with Otto Mueller and the internationally known sculptor Fritz Wotruba, and later at art college in Zurich. In 1956 he came to Canada and settled in Toronto. A year later he had a one-man show at Hart House, in 1960 at the Gallery-Moss and the same year he was elected a member of the Sculptors Society of Canada. The London Art Museum and Kitchener-Waterloo Art Gallery have acquired his work for their public collections. In 1962 he was commissioned to do a large sculpture for Oshawa's McLaughlin Collegiate. In 1963 he became an associate member of the Royal Canadian Academy and a member of the Ontario Society of Artists. Last spring he exhibited 22 new bronzes at the Roberts Gallery, Toronto. Art critic Paul Duval wrote of this "one of the country's most inventive figurative artists." Mr. Oesterle is presently a teacher at the Ontario College of Art in Toronto.

Town Objects, Won't Endorse Bridge Plan

Hopes for widening of the "White Bridge" CNR overpass on Main St. North this year are fading. The highway department would approve a widening plan which would raise the highway level and cut off the Dufferin Street entrance. The town shouldn't be paying to roar highway traffic through town" was the way Mayor Hyde indicated his disapproval to council Tuesday. Plans for widening the Mountview overpass have also not been finalized and the mayor suggested council get prices on adding a footpath to that bridge, to solve a pedestrian problem. The town's views will be passed on to a firm of consulting engineers which has been working on both projects.

Mushroom Plant Boosts Esqueusing Assessment

An impressive total of $203,300 in building permits was issued during August, Esqueusing Building Inspector Wm. Halls, told Esqueusing Council Monday night. McNair Products Ltd. took out a permit valued at $100,000 for the construction of a mushroom plant on Highway 25, just outside of Acton. The radio swelled the total with a $7,000 permit for a radio equipment building, plus $30,000 for steel towers. The remainder of the permits were for houses and cottages. A by-law establishing an 8-ton gross weight limit on the bridge between Concession 5 and 6, on the Creek Lane was given third reading and now awaits the Department of Transport approval. The road, which cuts across land owned by Mr. Smallwood, is a dead end running only to Fairy Lake, so council felt it would be better closed. The next township purchase may well be a pair of roller skates. Since the new building office in the Community Hall, council members felt perhaps roller skates for Clerk K. C. Lindsay might be in order. In return for the payment of legal costs and advertising Council agreed to sell an unopened road allowance on Lot 27 and 28, Con. 2 to C. Smallwood. The road, which cuts across land owned by Mr. Smallwood, is a dead end running only to Fairy Lake, so council felt it would be better closed.

No Applications Yet For Lions Loan Fund

Since the establishment of the Lions Club Educational Fund almost a year ago, not a single application for a loan has been received, according to Dr. Al Thompson, Chairman of the Committee. The loan is available to any one recommended by the High School who fulfills the entrance requirements to their chosen field. This applies not only to universities, but also to Teachers' College, Ryerson Institute of Technology, etc. Scholarship winners too, are eligible, since the Lions Club feels that the average scholarship will not cover all the costs involved. The amount of the loans is not set, rather it is a sliding scale, with the number of applicants, and the available money, being the guiding factors. The matter of repayment is left to the conscience of the individual, but the hope is that every recipient who benefits will repay in order to benefit the students coming after. The members of the Educational Fund Committee are, Dr. A. Thompson, G. Hewson, J. Mathies and I. McLaren.

Council Defers Decision a Week

There are strong indications that Georgetown stores may be allowed to open for business on Thursday nights in the near future. A week ago, merchants in the Delrex Market Centre petitioned council for an amendment to the closing by-law which would allow them to stay open until midnight. They say local people are going out of town to shop that night. New provincial legislation has washed out the former system of petitions for opening and closing, leaving the sole discretion to a local council. The matter was discussed by council at this week's meeting with Cr. Jim Young's planning committee asked to come up with a recommendation. Mayor Hyde favours a trial period, perhaps three months, of open Thursdays with a minority decision to be made after open to all merchants and ratepayers to express opinions.

Midland 'Giant Killers' Town Baseball is Over

There'll be no more baseball for Georgetown Grants this year. The Intermediate A Giants were forced into an early retirement Monday when Midland copped the second game of three OBA playoffs series here by a 5-2. Midland won the first game 9-2 Saturday on their home diamond. The Midlands scored in each of the first two innings in the series opener before Georgetown manager a pair of runs in the 4th. Midland snapped the tie in the fifth and then crushed the visitor with a 6-run uprising in the 8th for the decisive victory. Giants' two runs were scored on a double by Jim-James that sent Tracey Barrager home, and a throw to second by the Midland receiver that enabled Don Melachlan to romp in from third. Bernie Dore went the distance and took the loss. Gord Diamond hurled the win. Monday, the Giants' started Glenn Gibbs but lifted him for Dore in the third after Midland jumped into a lead. They had a 5-0 margin when George Baouette hit a bases-loaded triple that pushed both Grant runs across in the sixth. There was no further scoring.

Victoria Scholarship $300 to Paul Baker

With a total of $5600.00 in scholarships and bursaries already announced, further awards were forthcoming last week for graduates of Georgetown High School. Paul Baker has been awarded a $300 scholarship at Victoria College, U. of T. by the Alumnae Association. Carolyn Hallitt, who will enter the same course at Victoria, modern literature and language has received a $500 Dominion-Provincial bursary. A $400 Atkinson Foundation award has been received by Mary Jean Tucker, who will enter the Arts course at University of Western Ontario, London. Robert Fisher, who has accepted a $3000 scholarship at the University of Waterloo where he will study maths and science, has been offered a similar scholarship at McMaster, which would pay his tuition for four years plus a small cash payment. Robert scored over 90% in his upper school maths and science papers. Fisher and Baker are both Ontario scholars and have $500 Dominion-Provincial bursaries, as has Miss Tucker. Another bursary winner, Ralph Bailey, will study electronics at Ryerson Institute of Technology in Toronto.

Local Doctor, Wife 50 Years Married Junior, Senior Units Town Citizens Band

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur McAllister, 50 Main St. N., celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary recently. They were married at the bride's home near Shawville, Quebec, on August 26th, 1913. After a month's wedding trip to western Canada to meet relatives in Winnipeg and Edmonton, they came to Georgetown where Dr. McAllister has practiced medicine ever since. Congratulatory messages were received from families of nephews and nieces and others in Toronto, Ottawa and Huron County and a telegram from a quartette of relatives in Edmonton was being made so that there would be a framing from local friends. The wedding anniversary cake was made by Alvin and senior hand Rose Passmore, who live near Exeter and was sampled and enjoyed by local relatives and by Rev. and Mrs. Gordon M. Holmes of Hamilton. They were neighbours several years ago when Mr. Holmes was pastor of First Baptist Church in five new members here. Dr. and Mrs. McAllister have one daughter Jean M. and one son Arthur E. of town, an engineering student. The band which placed second in its class at the CNE is to be split into two bands it was learned Monday. The committee in charge of the band said that the suggestion will be divided into Junior and Senior units. At first the committee considered splitting the band into the two groups for practices only and have them perform in public as one unit, but the decision Monday night would have the split made permanent. A spokesman said the division was being made so that there would be a framing from local friends. The present membership of the band stands at forty. Anyone interested in registering to be trained should contact committee member Clyde Jeanie employed with the Transportation Commission or one of the other members of the committee. The band held their first full practice of the new season on Monday night they meet in the Chapel St. School from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m.

FIVE GENERATIONS MEET
