Term, Movies, Sport On December Ballot

Voters Will Be Quizzed Three Part Plebiscite

A three-part quiz programme has been for the Junior 'B' Hockey Club but Coun Smith felt many more activities would be included. Coun Emerson thought that the present Sunday operation of the Swimming Pool was illegal, and thus asked their opinion on three questions: Are you in favour of Commercialized Sunday in submitting the second term for councilors, reeves The Little Theatre and the Rotary Show might also be affected. While individual opinion on the merits of a two-year term had asked that the plebiscite be placed on the ballot, their main consideration be held.

Twenty-First Birthday Is Celebrated By Girls Band

To the skirl of the pipes, the Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band celebrated their twenty-first birthday on Saturday night at the Stewarttown Hall. The fifty ex-members of the band and guests were greeted by the familiar music when they approached the hall, then the head table guests were piped in. Seated at the head table were Joy Haines, corresponding secretary of the band; Ross Norton; Elaine Robinson, Treasurer; Marg Hillier, Drum Major; Pipe Major Allan Mann; President Virginia Walker; Toastmaster Jim Jones; Mayor Hyde; Mary Patterson, one of the founders of the Girls' Band; Bert Marchmont, one of the original drum instructors; Lol Reid, the other founder of the band; Earl Marchmont, another early drum instructor; Marion Walker, Recording Secretary. In her welcoming remarks, Marg Hillier reminded the group that the future of the band lay with the Junior members and thanked the newly-formed Mothers' Auxiliary of the band who catered and served the dinner. Elaine Robinson, chairman of the Re-union Committee, paid tribute to Mary Patterson and Lol Reid, the founding spirits of the band in her reply. Mrs. Patterson toasted Mac Magloughlin, the band's guiding hand for many years. Guest speaker Mayor Hyde gave a brief history of the band since its inception in 1942. The first shipment of pipes ordered was lost at sea during the war. The mayor recalled that he was a member of the Georgetown Men's Pipe Band in 1935, from which most of the instructors for the Girls' band came. Following the banquet, the band played a few numbers, then the mayor called on some of the ex-members, some of whom hadn't touched the pipes in fifteen years. But, donning the glengarries, they tried to become members of the Smith and Stone Quarter-Century Club at the annual dinner Friday, September 27th.

CVCA Didn't Okay Change Mayor Surprised By Letter

A misunderstanding between the Credit Valley Conservation Authority and the mayor was disclosed Monday night, when Mayor Hyde revealed that the requested change in priority from sixth to fourth place for the construction of the Georgetown dams, was not approved by the Credit Valley Authority, as he had told Council a few weeks ago.

At a meeting of the Authority on Thursday, Alex MacLaren, Georgetown's representative, said this was a fabrication, according to the mayor. "I was taken aback," admitted the mayor, "since Mr. MacLaren had taken my letter requesting the change to the chairman, and then returned it to me, before I mailed it to the Dept. of Municipal Affairs."

"It would appear now, that the suggestion did not have the blessing of the Authority as a whole, which would be necessary before the Dept. would consider it," the mayor reiterated his belief that the Silvercreek dam should be built first since it would store as much as the other four dams put together, and at a million dollars less cost. "We are paying the largest share," claimed the mayor. The Reeve corrected him saying, Georgetown is the third largest contributor, but the mayor replied that Georgetown pays the largest share where the dams will be constructed.

Ex-Candidate Henley Predicts "Georgetown Municipal Party"

Sweeping changes were contained in a three-point programme proposed to Council on Monday night, by John A. Henley, a past candidate for Council. He proposed that only the mayor should receive remuneration and that the amount be limited to $1500 per year. In addition, he foresaw the meetings cut to one a month, with committees submitting a written brief at least one week before the Council meeting.

With these economies effected, Mr. Henley maintained that a full time Business Administrator could be hired, whose job, in the speaker's words, "would be to clean up the sloppy waste, institute sound administration, and enforce the policies set by the elected representatives." He predicted the forming of a Georgetown Municipal Party with a five to ten year programme upon which would be candidates would be expected to declare their stand. "In conclusion he claimed, that, as matters now stand, Schools exhibits will be received very soon after the first of the year, Council splits into factions, and all that is really achieved is a public airing of number of rides and games for young and old.

One Week To Go Then Georgetown Fair

Plans are well ahead for Georgetown's big annual event, the Fall Fair, on Friday and Saturday of next week, October 4th and 5th. Exhibitors will bring their goods to the hall on Friday morning and judging will be in progress at one o'clock. It is hoped that the early frosts will spoil the flower and vegetable show, but no doubt exhibitors will try to save their exhibits. A large midway has again been contracted for, with a number of rides and games for young and old. The horse races promise to be a highlight and there will be a fine show of jumping and road horses. A number of eating booths will be on the grounds, as well as displays of new cars and implements. The Lions Club will again look after the gates and police the track, and Georgetown Citizens Band will provide music throughout the afternoon. All in all, it looks like another grand fair for Georgetown; so come out and meet your friends.

NORTH COUNTRY MAYORS GET TOGETHER

THE SECOND three intertown visits between Halton's three northern centres was held in the county town last Wednesday night. On hand as guests of Milton council and members' wives were the mayor, members of council and wives from Acton and Georgetown. The men toured industrial and residential sites, and then returned to the town hall for a discussion of mutual problems. The wives were taken on a tour of the Ontario School for the Deaf on Highway 25. Seen here are Mayor Syd Childs of Milton, Mayor L. A. Duby of Acton, and Mayor Ern Hyde of Georgetown.

EAGLE SIGNALS GETS "GREEN LIGHT"

J. J. HUDSON AND H. W. COWAN, production manager and general manager of Georgetown's newest industry, the Eagle Signal Division of E. W. Bliss Co. Limited, hold a three-section traffic signal which is manufactured here. The first shipment from the Georgetown plant, a quantity of signal heads, went out last week to the City of Hamilton.

Recorded Vote Passes 6-3 Unauthorized Signs To Go

The controversial question of whether we are creating a hard-looked into," insisted the reeve hanging signs again created a ship on them and Robert Lam. "We are trying to encourage commerce and industry," retorted the mayor, "and we should work with them, not penalize them." The motion passed, with the recorded vote showing only four, Elliott and Hyde opposed.

All Out Program Planned For Fire Prevention Week

Halton's fire departments are going "all out" to mark the annual celebration of Fire Prevention Week in Canada, October 6 to 12. Several projects have been arranged by the Halton County Fire Prevention Bureau, to supplement the planned programs of each individual fire brigade. A county-wide poster contest, church parade, fire hall open houses, home inspections, movie showings, distribution of restaurant placemats and other literature, and school fire drills are being combined to emphasize fire prevention not only during Fire Prevention Week, but throughout the year. According to Erwin Lewis of Georgetown, chairman of the Fire Prevention Bureau, "Each year the Halton Bureau sponsors a poster contest for all Grade Five students, on the theme "Fire Prevention in the Home." The boy and girl winners are honored at a banquet later this fall, when they will receive personal and school trophies for their efforts. Their posters are also submitted to an Ontario-wide contest sponsored by the Ontario Fire Chiefs' Association. The Bureau's annual church parade will be held Sunday morning, September 29, when representatives of all Halton brigades will gather at Burlington's No. 3 Fire Hall and march "Yield" signs and election to West Plains United Church signs it was changed to commercial signs.

Car Hits Tree, Burns P.C. Saves Glen Men

An Ontario Provincial Police officer, Dave Richardson of the North Halton detachment may have saved the lives of two Glen Williams men Saturday when he doused the flaming car in which they were slumped over unconscious. The men, Ken Schenk, 26, the driver, and John McEwan, 25, a passenger, couldn't be moved because of suspected broken bones and internal injuries. Police, said Richardson, who happened to be driving through town on an assignment, saw Schenk's car, a 1963 Ford Galaxie, swerve approximately 13 feet off Guelph St opposite Windsor Road, crash into a tree, and burst into flames.

He used an extinguisher from his cruiser to kill the blaze. The men were moved from the car by Dr. R. Martin, and rushed to Georgetown hospital. Schenk was treated for lacerations to his forehead and chin and McEwan for a broken jaw and broken nose. McEwan was kept at Georgetown hospital overnight and transferred to Toronto on Monday morning. Georgetown police said that Schenk was driving west on Guelph when the accident occurred. Marks showed the car travelled along the shoulder for 74 feet before ramming the tree. It bounced back 3 1/2 feet. St. Harley Lowe, who made the investigation placed the damage to the car at $4,000. It was owned by Credit Valley Bottling Works. The police report places the time of accident at 5:20 p.m.

The motion passed with Coun Smith the only objector. Deputy Reeve Hunter did not vote on the grounds he was in the same business. A little later in the meeting Coun Smith and Young sponsored a motion that all signs not approved up to this date be removed, and the engineer instructed to do so. Coun Smith felt it was a loss of time to follow up to the denial. "We just had the Eo-bert sign removed, yet we are aware others are up without approval. If one says a penal morning, September 28, when they all should," he urged. When it was pointed out that brigades will gather at Burlington's No. 3 Fire Hall and march "Yield" signs and election to West Plains United Church signs it was changed to commercial signs. "The engineer is the administrator of the zoning by-law, and over 200,000 other pieces of literature are expected to be brought to his attention to be given to Halton residents through the local fire departments. The idealist credits sound sleep to a good conscience, the realist lays it to a good mattress. Some that contravene are a great asset, I trust.
