RAIDING DOGS SHUN THIS FELLOW

The raiding of a herd of sheep by dogs in a town limits caused some head scratching here since the town doesn't have a livestock evaluator to deal with an injured or killed animal. The dogs were after sheep on the farm operated by Cst. Dan Watson at the Watson Glen Growers property on Mountain Rd. North. At Cst. Watson holds one fellow dog that has been anxious to tangle with the herd.

Fourth Branch 120 Smoker Proves Howling Success

Standing room was at a premium last Friday night as the members of the 120 Smoker gathered at the local hall to watch the contest between the 120 Smoker and the 120 Smoker. Over 200 people were present for the affair. The contest was held in the hall and the 120 Smoker won the contest. The contest was held in the hall and the 120 Smoker won the contest. George town is proud to have a single 2 level in the emergence of the 120 Smoker. A company of 120 Smoker is now in the town. The company is now in the town. The company is now in the town.

The Imperials helped make us the Little Stratford on the Credit with their rendition of Little Nell. It seems that this young girl of fourteen has some real talent. Bill Bannister got into a spot of trouble with a young villain (Boy Builders). This girl's old man (Jack Ferguson) with the assistance of a gentleman (Matt McDonough) demanded and received satisfaction (we never found out how). The fact that the plot was mainly hay was alleviated by Harry Bottoms who, with the aid of printed signs, advised the audience when to display the appropriate reactions such as laughing and snoring. The occasionally forgotten line directed in no way from the overall effect and unless we are careful these boys will be led to Broadway in no time.

As stated these views are not intended to describe the evening as a whole but merely to mention a few points that were so unfortunate as to miss the show sure missed a show.

A Legion Scholarship Is Won
Through the academic achievements of a young lady and the efforts of the Branch 120 Ladies Auxiliary a scholarship has come to Georgetown. Miss Carolyn Halliwell has received a bursary from the Royal Canadian Legion and Ladies Auxiliary. Scholarship for Miss Halliwell will be awarded by the University of Toronto and the congratulations and best wishes of every Branch 120 member go with her.

See Countryside Beauty On Late Autumn Bus Tour

The second annual bus trip to see the beauty of the autumn landscape was provided for the residents by the Halton Major Women's Auxiliary on Saturday afternoon, October 5th. A bus was provided for the trip as a donation by Mr. M. Poole and was completely filled with a very happy group of residents. After following a scenic route, the bus reached its destination at the farmhouse of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson, where a treat of dixie cups of ice cream was enjoyed. Mrs. S. Allen, Mrs. Jean Hatherley, and Mrs. Rose Walker and Mr. John McDonald of the Intimacy staff supervised this very enjoyable afternoon.

Since Sunday, Sept. 29th was the fifth Sunday in the month, the church service was conducted by a group representing the Christian Businessmen's Committee of Oakville.

SILVER-WOOD Institute Has Picnic Meeting at Belfountain
A pleasant afternoon was spent by the Silverwood WI who journeyed to the Credit Valley Conservation Authority park at Belfountain for their October meeting on Thursday, the 11th.

It seemed more like August because the thermometer showed 82 degrees and the meeting was held a few feet from the water's edge. The speaker, Mr. Roy McMillan, gave a very comprehensive outline on how the Authority came into being and stressed the need for water storage and also free planning and then answered several questions about the dam to be built on the Credit River.

The convener, Mrs. G. Henington, thanked the speaker for his interesting address. Mr. Hill said was answered by a gift of a free leaf and giving a gift.

Mrs. Hart, the president, said that the picnic was very successful and the group at Belfountain was very pleasant and with the intention of going back soon.

Food and sandwiches were prepared and served by the group and the picnic was a great success.
