FLARE FOR THE DRAMATIC

"THAT'S THE WAY COFFEE SHOULD BE MADE"

THE WIDELY DIFFERENT reactions are mirrored on the faces of Chemistry student Glen Broomhead and his teacher Leslie Wise as the climax to their little demonstration sends a tongue of fire skyward. Glenn appears delighted with the spectacular results but Mr. Wise doesn't share his enthusiasm. The demonstration was part of the Georgetown High School Bazaar.

Intermediate Certificates Are Presented at Junior Commencement

Georgetown High School has passed the point when a 'one night' stand filled the bill for commencement exercises.

While graduates will receive diplomas and awards a week this Friday, a junior commencement was held last Friday afternoon and parents were invited to the ceremony.

With Principal J. I. Lambert and school board chairman Douglas Latimer officiating. A musical program was given by choir and band. The Drama Club was directed by Michael Peleschak in the trial scene from The Merchant of Venice. Dr. Charles Wilson directed the choir and band numbers.

ASHGROVE

Racial Prejudice Study By Church Ladies Group

The UCW meeting was held in the basement on Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th with president Mrs. C. B. Dick presiding and opening with a hymn and prayers. Worship service was in charge of Mrs. John McNabb and the theme was 'Peace' with Scripture reading from Fifth Chapter, of Matthew by Mrs. Vern Picket. Offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. John Bellboddy.

Roll Call was answered by the word 'Faith', minutes of last meeting read and correspondence dealt with. A nominating committee of Mrs. J. M. Wickson and Mrs. John McNabb was appointed to select next year's officers. Stewardship Secretary, Mrs. J. Wickson, gave some interesting highlights from the address Miss Bessie French had given at the Presbyterial held in Milton in Oct. The Study Chapter on Race Prejudice was well conducted by Mrs. Ward Brownridge as she told us 'Prejudice does exist, it isn't inherited, it is learned and our children pick it up from us. If we are to progress toward better relationship, there should be more opportunities for Canadians to work, talk and play with other individuals of other cultures in Canada. We need to do things together each one contributing a share of the matter in hand and so many differences will melt away.'

Mrs. Arthur Ruddell thanked everyone and the hostesses for a grand evening and it concluded with a special hour.

The Messengers and Explorers held their meeting on Sunday afternoon in the basement. For the Explorers Thelma Carney had prepared a Worship Service on Peace assisted by Lydia Rentenaar, Lois McNabb, Jimmie Critchell and Lorne Wilson. The offering was designated through the Missionary & Maintenance to the rehabilitation fund for Hurricane Flora. The Senior Explorers concluded their study of the Lord's Prayer, the Juniors finished theirs on Exploring and each made a triptych, showing what they had already learned as Explorers. Red, blue and gold stars were awarded for work completed. The theme for the Messengers was stories of Jesus. Those taking part were David Alexander, Barbara Brownridge, Robyn Bryan, and Jamie Nurse. Mrs. John McNabb told the story of a little boy in India. In the work period woven book marks were made. Mrs. John Bird at the joint meeting gave some thoughts on Remembrance. Sandra McLaughlin played for the hymns and Murray Brownridge was in charge of a game. Final results of the UNICEF boxes gathered Hallowe'en night will be given at next meeting. Grace Bird extended thanks and lunch was served by Mrs. Chas. Austin and Mrs. Marshall McLaughlin.

Show Heart Operation In Red Cross Film

The film shown at the Red Cross meeting in the Holy Cross School Auditorium on Monday, "The Story of a Heart Operation" was an accurate, detailed documentary of an open heart operation on a little girl in the Winnipeg General Hospital.

The film described the workings of the heart lung machine which performs the function of the heart and lungs during surgery.

The role of the Red Cross in supplying the necessary 12 bottles of blood at no cost to the patient or hospital, and the part played by the hospital auxiliary and medical staff of the Winnipeg General were stressed in the film.

It contained a particularly interesting view of the child's heart after the chest had been opened. The colour photography was superb.

A close-up enabled the viewers to watch the surgeon's hands making the actual repair work on the heart.

It rarely pays to argue, and it certainly doesn't pay to risk losing a friend by winning an argument with him.

HALTON MANOR

Costumed Manor Folk Attend Hallowe'en Party

Paper skeletons hanging from the ceiling, lighted jack o'lanterns on the stage and cut outs of witches, cats and bats on the walls, all carried out in the Hallowe'en colours of orange and black, left no doubt in the minds of the beholders that Hallowe'en was being celebrated at the Manor Friday evening, Oct. 25th. The occasion was the annual Hallowe'en party arranged by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Manor and held in the auditorium.

The chairs had been arranged along three sides of the auditorium, leaving a large centre space for the Grand March. Shortly after 7:30 o'clock to the accompaniment of Mrs. A. Led with's piano music, the Grand March got under way. There were many residents, staff members, and children of the latter in costume and the costumes were varied and striking. Mrs. G. Burnell, dressed in pink satin and wearing a gilt paper gown which designated her as Queen of the Manor, and attended by her lady in waiting, Mrs. Mary Davis, had the honour of leading the Grand March. The Queen was followed by an assemblage of happy subjects. A bride and groom found themselves to be in the company of a convict and sheriff, a surgeon and a Japanese Mikado, a railway conductor and a pickaninny, as well as Japanese ladies, sailors, pirates and old fashioned sweethearts, to name only a few of the figures in costume.

After so much fun and excitement, everyone felt ready to enjoy the delicious refreshments that were served. These were sandwiches, relishes, tarts, cup cakes, tea, coffee and orange drink for the children. All the tarts and cup cakes which were very attractive, had been made by Mrs. M. Coffen of the Manor staff.

Before leaving the auditorium, each resident received a box of candy, a sucker and an apple. The suckers had been made and donated by Mrs. H. Babcock, one of the judges.

Altogether, the evening was one of great merriment and gaiety, an evening that will be long remembered by everyone who attended. Mrs. S. Allen announced the program. Mrs. J. Hatherly supervised the serving of the refreshments, and the general committee who made the arrangements was composed of Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. N. Hull, Mrs. J. Randall and Mrs. M. Child.

SORRY

Sometimes it happens and last week it did.

Arrow shirts advertised by Silver's were priced by The Herald at $18.00 when a gremlin line of type was inserted by mistake.

The correct ad with correct price, $5.98, appears this week on Page Six.
