"Good! I'll send you my cheque today!"

Most people today pay for goods or services by cheque -because most people have a bank account. It's the simple, safe way to transfer money to any person at any time.

The next cheque you put in the mail, or cash at any branch of a chartered bank, will be one of one billion that pass through the banking system each year. These familiar alips of paper represent-90 per cent of all financial payments made today, and their fast, efficient handling by the chartered banks is essential to bank customers, indeed to the whole economyof the nation.

To handle the ever-increasing flow of cheques-and to maintain standards of efficiency in the clearingsthe chartered banks have introduced, magnetic ink encoding to be used in high-speed electronic sorting. This new method, called MICR, makes possible a faster, more accurate service to customers, and maintains your chequing account as one of the cheapest, most convenient basic banking services;
