

Esqueuing Farmers Nix Annexation Bid

Milton's attempt to annex 604 acres from Oakville and Esqueuing Township was rejected on Thursday by the Ontario Municipal Board which asked Milton council to reconsider land owners' wishes expressed at the day hearing last October.

The OMB stated that further consideration be given to the "strongly expressed" desire of Esqueuing farmers who resisted the efforts to remove their lands from a rural township.

Edwin Harrop, William Marshall, and his son, Ken, had told the Board that they wanted to go on farming as long as they lived and that had turned down all developers' offers to sell their land.

They owned a total of 274 acres, the portion of Esqueuing Township sought to be annexed, east of Hwy. 25.

On the other hand, the OMB decision reads, owners of Oakville land lying west of Milton and within the area originally recommended for annexation appeared to be in favour of the bid taken over by Milton.

The original application covered a total of 2,400 acres but was subsequently reduced to the 604.5 acres in question.

The land in Oakville sought to be annexed included the Halton Manor, the School for the Deaf, and the shopping plaza bordering Ontario Street.

Farmers Oppose Idea

The OMB declared itself of the opinion that Milton council reconsider both the desires of the Esqueuing farmers, opposed to annexation, and of the Oakville land owners who "obviously wish to develop their land for urban use."

Therefore the Board referred the matter back to Milton and asked that another decision be forwarded to the OMB.

Directions will then be given for the conduct of any further hearing that may be required, the report concluded, signed by chairman J. A. Kennedy and member A. L. McCree.

Total acreage sought by Milton was 954, divided into 356 acres from Oakville, and 598 from the Township of Esqueuing.

From Milton deputy reeve Austin Ledwith declared himself dissatisfied with the OMB decision and said the Board should come back and explain it more fully.

Spent Bundles

He added the town had spent a lot of money on the annexation bid and hoped to receive a better explanation than what he had heard.

Councillor Brian Best questioned whether the town was asked to read the report, and when the Board has some plan to square off the area.

He charged that it would be very poor planning if the OMB doesn't allow a take over of the Esqueuing land east of Hwy. 25, and added it was almost certain some land west of the same highway was at present owned by Bill Johnson could be obtained.

Nine January Birthdays Marked at Manor Party

Nine men and women residents were the guests of honour at the January birthday party held in the auditorium on Wednesday afternoon, January 20.

The head table looked lovely with bouquets of flowers and Valentine cutouts. The very attractive birthday cake, decorated with many small candles, was placed in the centre of the table.

Additional flowers and Valentine symbols had been used to decorate the stage.

The birthday party was conducted by friends of long standing, the members of the Scotch Block Women's Institute. Their president, Mrs. Robert Irving, and the convener of the party, Mrs. J. Hopkins, were among the 25 members who came.

R. Anderson was the pianist. Mrs. Irving opened the program with greetings and the Mary Stewart Collect was sung and the Ode repeated in unison. The Roll Call, called by Mrs. S. Murray, was answered with riddles and their answers. At this point, Mrs. Hopkins took over to announce the varied and entertaining program.

Mrs. Rowney gave the first number, a reading "Trying Out Pa's New Car." Mrs. H. Michie sang two sacred solos. Two little girls, Susan and Laurie Currie, dressed in attractive light land costumes, danced the "Sword Dance." Sharon Hume sang the Auctioneer's Song. Mrs. G. Black recited a comic selection, and a serious one. A trio of three ladies Miss C. Turner, Mrs. E. McGibbon and Mrs. G. McGibbon sang two songs. Then Miss Turner and Mrs. G. McGibbon sang a duet. Susan Currie danced another Scottish dance as a solo number.

Two young girls, Sharon Hume and Dora Dredge also sang a duet. This very enjoyable program came to a close with the Manor's own Norman Viggers, accompanied by Miss Mary Joyce as a pianist, playing several solos on the 'bones.'

The nine guests of honour were then called to the head table. They were Mrs. M. Hooks, Mrs. Emma Bennett, Misses C. Sutton and M. Thompson and Messrs. G. Sinclair, N. Viggers, G. Williams, W. Grief and Mr. Philip. Since Mrs. and Mr. Grief are one of the married couples residing at the Manor, Mrs. Grief sat at the head table with her husband. While these guests were being seated, the Institute ladies and the friends whom they had brought with them to present the program, assembled on the platform and sang favourite old songs. They included the Happy Birthday song among their members, at which time the candles on the birthday cake were lighted. Each guest of honour was presented with a paper hat and a gift of toilettries.

Very delicious refreshments, donated by the Institute, were served with tea and coffee to a wonderful afternoon. In her speech of thanks, Miss Muriel Thompson spoke of the many occasions on which this Institute has brought delightful entertainment to the Manor, including this present occasion.

Red Cross Plans Three Blood Clinics in 1964

At the request of the Ontario Division Blood Donor Service, the Blood Donor Committee of the Georgetown and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has decided to conduct three blood donor clinics in 1964. That's one more than in previous years.

There are many reasons for the decision to hold three clinics, the most important being that the hospitals will require more blood and blood products in 1964 than ever before.

This increased need for blood is caused by increase in population, by hospital construction which will create hundreds of additional hospital beds, and by new medical and surgical uses for whole blood. One such surgical use for blood is demonstrated by the heart-lung machine. This device performs the function of the heart and lungs — pumping the blood and oxygenating it — thus enabling surgery to be done on the patient's heart. The role of Red Cross blood donors in such an operation is the providing of blood, often as many as 20 bottles for the purpose of 'priming' the heart-lung machine.

With three clinics per year in Georgetown donors will be asked to donate their blood once every four months. This is quite within Red Cross regulations, which permit donors — both men and women — to give blood no oftener than once every three months. The reason for this restriction is that after a blood donation, the liquid portion is replaced by the body within twenty-four hours, and the loss of red cells is made up within eleven weeks.

The first clinic will be held on Wednesday, March 18, 1962, 2 to 4:30 and 8 to 8:35 p.m. at Knox Church Hall. New donors contact Mrs. Ferguson 877-4527. Transportation and parking is available to donors.

CHINGACOUSY

Chingacousy Reeve Cyril Clark asked for a pipeline to carry water from Lake Ontario to Brampton and the township, yesterday, at a meeting with the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Bearing a $5000 name petition from township residents, he asked the OWRC to prohibit Brampton from digging any more high-pressure wells in the township. Reeve Clark said the digging will have an adverse effect on the domestic wells of area farmers and fruit growers.

Unless the OWRC ordered it be stopped, Chingacousy would take the matter to court he said.

A pipeline is now under intensive study by the OWRC.

he was told; it was costly, however, and ground water might be better than lake water.

"We're going to push this to the limit," the reeve said. "I told them the people are solidly behind me."

A delegation attended the Feb. 3 Chingacousy Council meeting, protesting drilling in the Huttonville area. Fred Kerr, spokesman, said they were alarmed about possible consequences.

Unofficial estimates of the cost of a Lake Ontario pipeline run as high as $15,000,000. Cost of finding, drilling and taking the water to where needed could run to $275,000. "You don't have to dig too many wells to pay for a pipeline," commented Reeve Clark.

The Chingacousy wells pump more than 4,000,000 gallons a day. Eleven of them supply Brampton's 26,500 people and two supply the 5,000 residents in the township's Bramalea section.

Some farmers in Chingacousy, the reeve said, have to truck water from Brampton, though mains run by their property.

Reeve Clark said he was well satisfied with his trip to the OWRC. He was accompanied by Deputy Reeve Ed Blair and township solicitor James Beatty.
