The birds were sadly outnumbered and out weighed and the boys possessed keen appetites so it was no contest. All that was left after the feed was more material for making bone necklaces.

Prominent Local Couple Have 63rd Anniversary

Thursday was a happy day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gibbons, 20 Guelph St., when a number of friends called for a cup of tea and to express best wishes on their 63rd wedding anniversary. They are both natives of the district. Mr. Gibbons, just turned 82, was born in Glen Wil- liams. His wife, who will be 90 this August was born in Geor- getown. They have been active in the community all their life. Mr. Gibbons operated a bake shop for many years in the present Herald location. He was one of the original members of the board of Parks Management. And it was through his gener- osity in leasing land behind Main St. at a token price that a community parking area was created some years ago.

Closing Deadline Brings Change ... Or Does It?

An 11:00 p.m. closing dead- line for meetings, set by coun- cil earlier this year, has not had too much effect. Frequent- ly, a rider that meetings can continue later with a two-third vote has prolonged the sessions. A week ago, Cr. Hildebrandt tried unsuccessfully to wash out the legislation. Monday he took another tack, and moved that the chairman should cer- tain whether there is any new business to be discussed before an adjournment motion at the early hour of 10:30.

Demands Rezoning Says Apartment-Plans Are Drawn

Solicitor George C. Hewson sought action from council Monday on behalf of a client who plans erection of an ap- artment building on Walter Street. Rezoning is necessary for a building permit to be issued and Mr. Hewson pointed out that his client had proceeded with plans for the building when council originally en- dorsed the idea. Last week council reversed its decision after a letter from Delrex De- velopments objected that it would hurt potential ap- artment land in the subdivi- sion. Mr. Hewson requested coun- cil to pass a rezoning by-law. The Delrex firm had not asked council to stall action, he said, and would make their objec- tions at a Municipal Board hearing which is necessary be- fore any rezoning is finalized. Council asked Mr. Hewson to provide plans for the ap- artment which will be stud- ied by members. The subject will be discussed again at next Monday's council meeting.
