Huttonville-Norval Residents Lose Bid to Prohibit Well

A decision has been reached in the dispute between Huttonville-Norval area residents and Brampton over the use of the Huttonville well an Ontario Water Resources Commission spokesman said last week.

The Huttonville well has an estimated capacity of 1.4 to 1.8 million gallons per day, said W. O. Chisholm, consulting engineer for the commission, Monday.

He said the present developed wells have a capacity of 3.1 to 3.4 million gallons per day and with the Huttonville supply capacities would be 4.5 to 5.2 mgd

He added, "On the basis of a recent projection for 1984 the average daily water requirements, including 0.7 mgd duplication for emergencies, will be 3.3 mgd."

Mr. Chisholm said the earliest Lake Ontario water could be available to Brampton would be 1967 and during the interim, additional well supplies should be established to meet the town's consumption

Brampton councillor John Fox asked the engineer how much effect the Huttonville well would have on existing wells in that area.

Mr. Chisholm replied that only four wells would be affected. He said the commission's well in Huttonville is two depths, separated by impermeable layers below most of the existing wells and consequently would have little effect on them

The effected wells would be deepened or other compensating arrangements would be made, said Mr. Chisholm.

No Man "Forgotten" Said Halton Crown

A prisoner in the Halton County jail has taken exception with Crown Attorney Peter K. McWilliams' boast there are no forgotten men in Halton cells.

The crown made the statement during the first day of the general sessions sittings at the County court, presided over by Judge George Elliott.

"I assure you there are no persons lanquishing in the County Jail as occurred in Toronto recently," McWilliams said, referring to an incident in Toronto, which saw a Buffalo man imprisoned for nearly 100 days.

Judge Elliott called the incident a "black spot" on the administration of justice

Prisoner Robert McAvoy, during an interview with a reporter disagreed there are "no forgotten men" in Halton cells.

McAvoy, appearing in Milton Magistrate's Court, is being remanded week to week in custody until his charge can be disposed of in September. He has been charged, with seven others, of conspiring to defraud elderly persons in Halton and faces 10 different charges.

Seventy-one per cent of the persons who read a newspaper read it page by page; 27 per cent read by scanning.

Original Boat Design Uses Aircraft Features

After working four and a half years on the development and production of his originally designed boat, John Schwingshandl owner of the Norval Body Shop, has put it up for sale.

The boat that looks remarkably like an aircraft, is powered by an aircraft engine, a "Lycoming", with the shielded propellor sitting high up behind. Also like an aircraft is the two seater, one behind the other, closed in cockpit, a most unusual feature in a boat of this kind.

One of the advantages of this boat is the fact it will not only go on water, but on ice, snow, and over brush. Factors which would make it valuable in the north country.

Mr. Schwingshandl would like to sell it for reproduction, so if nothing else his idea would be used.

"I hope I can sell it so I can start another with a complete new design", he said, while his wife clapped her forehead in despair.

Propose Movie Authority Lands

A filmed record of all lands owned by the Credit Valley Conservation Authority was one tentative proposal made by A. M. Greenaway to the members of the CVCA last week. February.

Mr. Greenaway is the newly appointed chairman of the Public Relations and Education Advisory Board, replacing R. K. Harrison who resigned in

Mr. Greenaway said that he was investigating the possibility of filming the areas and augmenting this film in the future. Reels and speakers could be made available to any group interested in conservation.

Maps of the watershed are to be prepared by Field Officer S. B. White with the co-operation of various advisory boards. These maps will show lands owned by the CVCA, tree planting projects, recreation parks and other pertinent information about the Authority operated areas.
