REPORT FROM U. N. SEMINAR

Mississippi Editor Says 'Segregated Schools Best'

Because of the support of the local Lions Club we had the privilege of attending the U.N. seminar at the Geneva Park YMCA camp at Lake Couchiching. Both of us were deeply impressed by what we learned there and we wish to share this experience with you. The following is the third in a series of articles based on the different topics that we discussed there.

read his book "Black Like Me" based on his experiences. The problem was again summarized by Mr. Lewis. To Mr. Lewis this is a problem of society, essentially a poisoned race awareness of the entire society. We have created the problem. Let us ask ourselves why, because in actual fact we are thus denying our own freedom. This is the problem of the soul and physic. The lack that we discern in the negro are only reflections of our own lack. The American militant negro departs at the attitude of the white liberal. They want a homogeneous country cannot be created by legislation. Each member must learn to love the others before such a society is possible. It is impossible to ignore the problem which concerns not only the white southerner but also our own souls, we must take action.

Alert Halton Farmers Danger Army Worms

Local farmers received a warning this week from the Halton Department of Agriculture asking them to watch out for the army worm.

This particular pest which goes for corn, barley and wheat crops, bears a suitable name for it can lay waste a field within a matter of hours.

The department warns the farmers to inspect their crops closely in the evenings because this is the time when the army worm comes out from hiding.

YOPSY-TURVY DAYS WELCOME UPSIDE-DOWN DESSERTS

Every homemaker looks for a magic wand on busy, hectic days. More and more the turns to quick and easy recipes to please her hungry family at supper time. Apricot Upside-Down Bread Pudding is the grandmother of convenience food desserts—made with bread and canned fruit. It's just as easy as laying pieces of fruit, centre with a cherry, on brown sugar and butter, and topping with fluffy enriched bread cubes which have been blended with eggs, sugar, fruit juice and milk. Time may be short but this pretty fruit dessert is no short on appearance or flavour and is ready in minutes, served hot and if you like, with whipped cream.

We were then exposed to the negro point of view through a tape by John Howard Griffith, a white man who changed the pigment of his skin through internal medication and travelled as a negro through the deep south. We do not attempt to tell of his findings but heartily recommend that you panhower and Janet Flikkema word full skirted dresses of blue organza over taffeta and carried baskets of white mums. Mr. Flikkema gave his daughter in marriage and Mr. Z. Adrianna was organist.

Town Will Share in Cost of Promoting New County Industry

The present Halton County industrial brochure will not be updated, but a promotional folder will be drawn up and distributed this year it was learned this week.

Georgetown, and each other Halton municipality will be asked to submit pertinent facts which will follow a format set by the county's industrial committee.

There may even be two forms or folders distributed this year, one a promotional folder and one a form for general distributor. The committee is to design its own folder. The committee stated, "There is no merit updating the present industrial brochure."

OLD HALL GETS NEW LEASE ON LIFE

ONE OF THE TOWN'S oldest buildings, the Oddfellows Hall on Wesleyan St., jointly owned by the Oddfellows and Rebekahs is putting a new face to the world these days. The building, originally the Methodist Church, and later a movie theatre has been the IOOF Hall for approximately 20 years. Work started three weeks ago to cover the weather beaten brick and stone front with stucco and, at the photo shows, only detail work has yet to be done. It's the first in a series of renovation work that will modernize the exterior. The Past Grand's Club is supervising the project which will be paid for jointly by the Oddfellows and Rebekahs.
