

GVAS Decides No Purchase Of Used Ambulance Vehicle

time offered for sale by Government Departments and the G.V.A.S. will be kept informed.

Thus, the motion of permission to purchase as passed by the Council some weeks ago, will not be put into effect at present.

Other matters before the executive were the annual dinner and dance which is to be again held in December at the Legion Hall, a full discussion on the subject of duty.

At a recent executive meeting of the Georgetown Volunteer Ambulance Service, it was decided that the purchase of a used vehicle for remodeling into a replacement for the present Number Two Vehicle, would not be a sensible financial undertaking.

The vehicle in question was brought from Sirshroy and kept in the G.V.A.S. garage for a week to enable members to inspect and offer opinions on it. The majority felt that it would be best to continue with the present ambulances until a more suitable and newer vehicle became available. Such vehicles are from time to time, information on new equipment in the vehicles, as well as the introduction of new members. The matter of holding a First Aid Course was brought up and is to be dealt with shortly.

Chief Dan Scarborough expressed the hope that with the busy summer season over, members will make it a point to drop into the garage on Wednesdays for instruction on new equipment, methods, etc.

CONTINUING ALERTY

Now that the youngsters are back in school, I hope that Georgetown drivers will not relax the caution they've been exercising during the summer months. True enough, the children aren't out during most of the day, but they ARE out on the way to and from school, and during the "lunch hour." (And in total quantities, such as they never were during the holidays.)

And then again, there's a new crop of little ones who are just starting school and haven't had too much experience in protecting themselves from motorists or careless drivers.

I cringe when I read stories of cars jumping the sidewalk and killing or maiming people who just happened to be there. A little four-year-old girl was killed in this kind of accident near Montreal last month, and her young mother had to have a leg amputated. I'm sure none of us ever wants to read of such a terrible tragedy happening in Georgetown.

COLOUR TV

The day of colour TV in Canadian homes is still around the corner, but when it comes, the Bell will be ready to play its part. Only a few weeks ago, at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, RCA Victor demonstrated its colour TV equipment by operating the first closed-circuit colour TV network in Canada, and Bell facilities were used to carry the signals to the television sets located at various points throughout the fair grounds.

You may already know that the Trans-Canada Telephone System, of which the Bell is a member, carries TV from coast to coast for both the CBC and CTV networks. It's also nice to know that the transmission facilities now in use for black and white programs are already of such a high standard that they could handle colour with only minor modifications. That's worth a pat on the back, don't you think?

Have you heard about the Chinese scholar who was giving a lecture when all the lights in the room went out? He asked the people in the audience to raise their hands. As soon as they complied, the lights went on.

"This proves the wisdom of the old Chinese saying," he said: "Many hands make light work."
