

Dynamo, Lime Kilns May Be Saved By C.V.C. Authority Foundation

The Credit Valley Conservation Authority is investigating the possibility of saving the dynamo at the Black Creek Area (Pioneer Village) and the Albion Hills Conservation School.

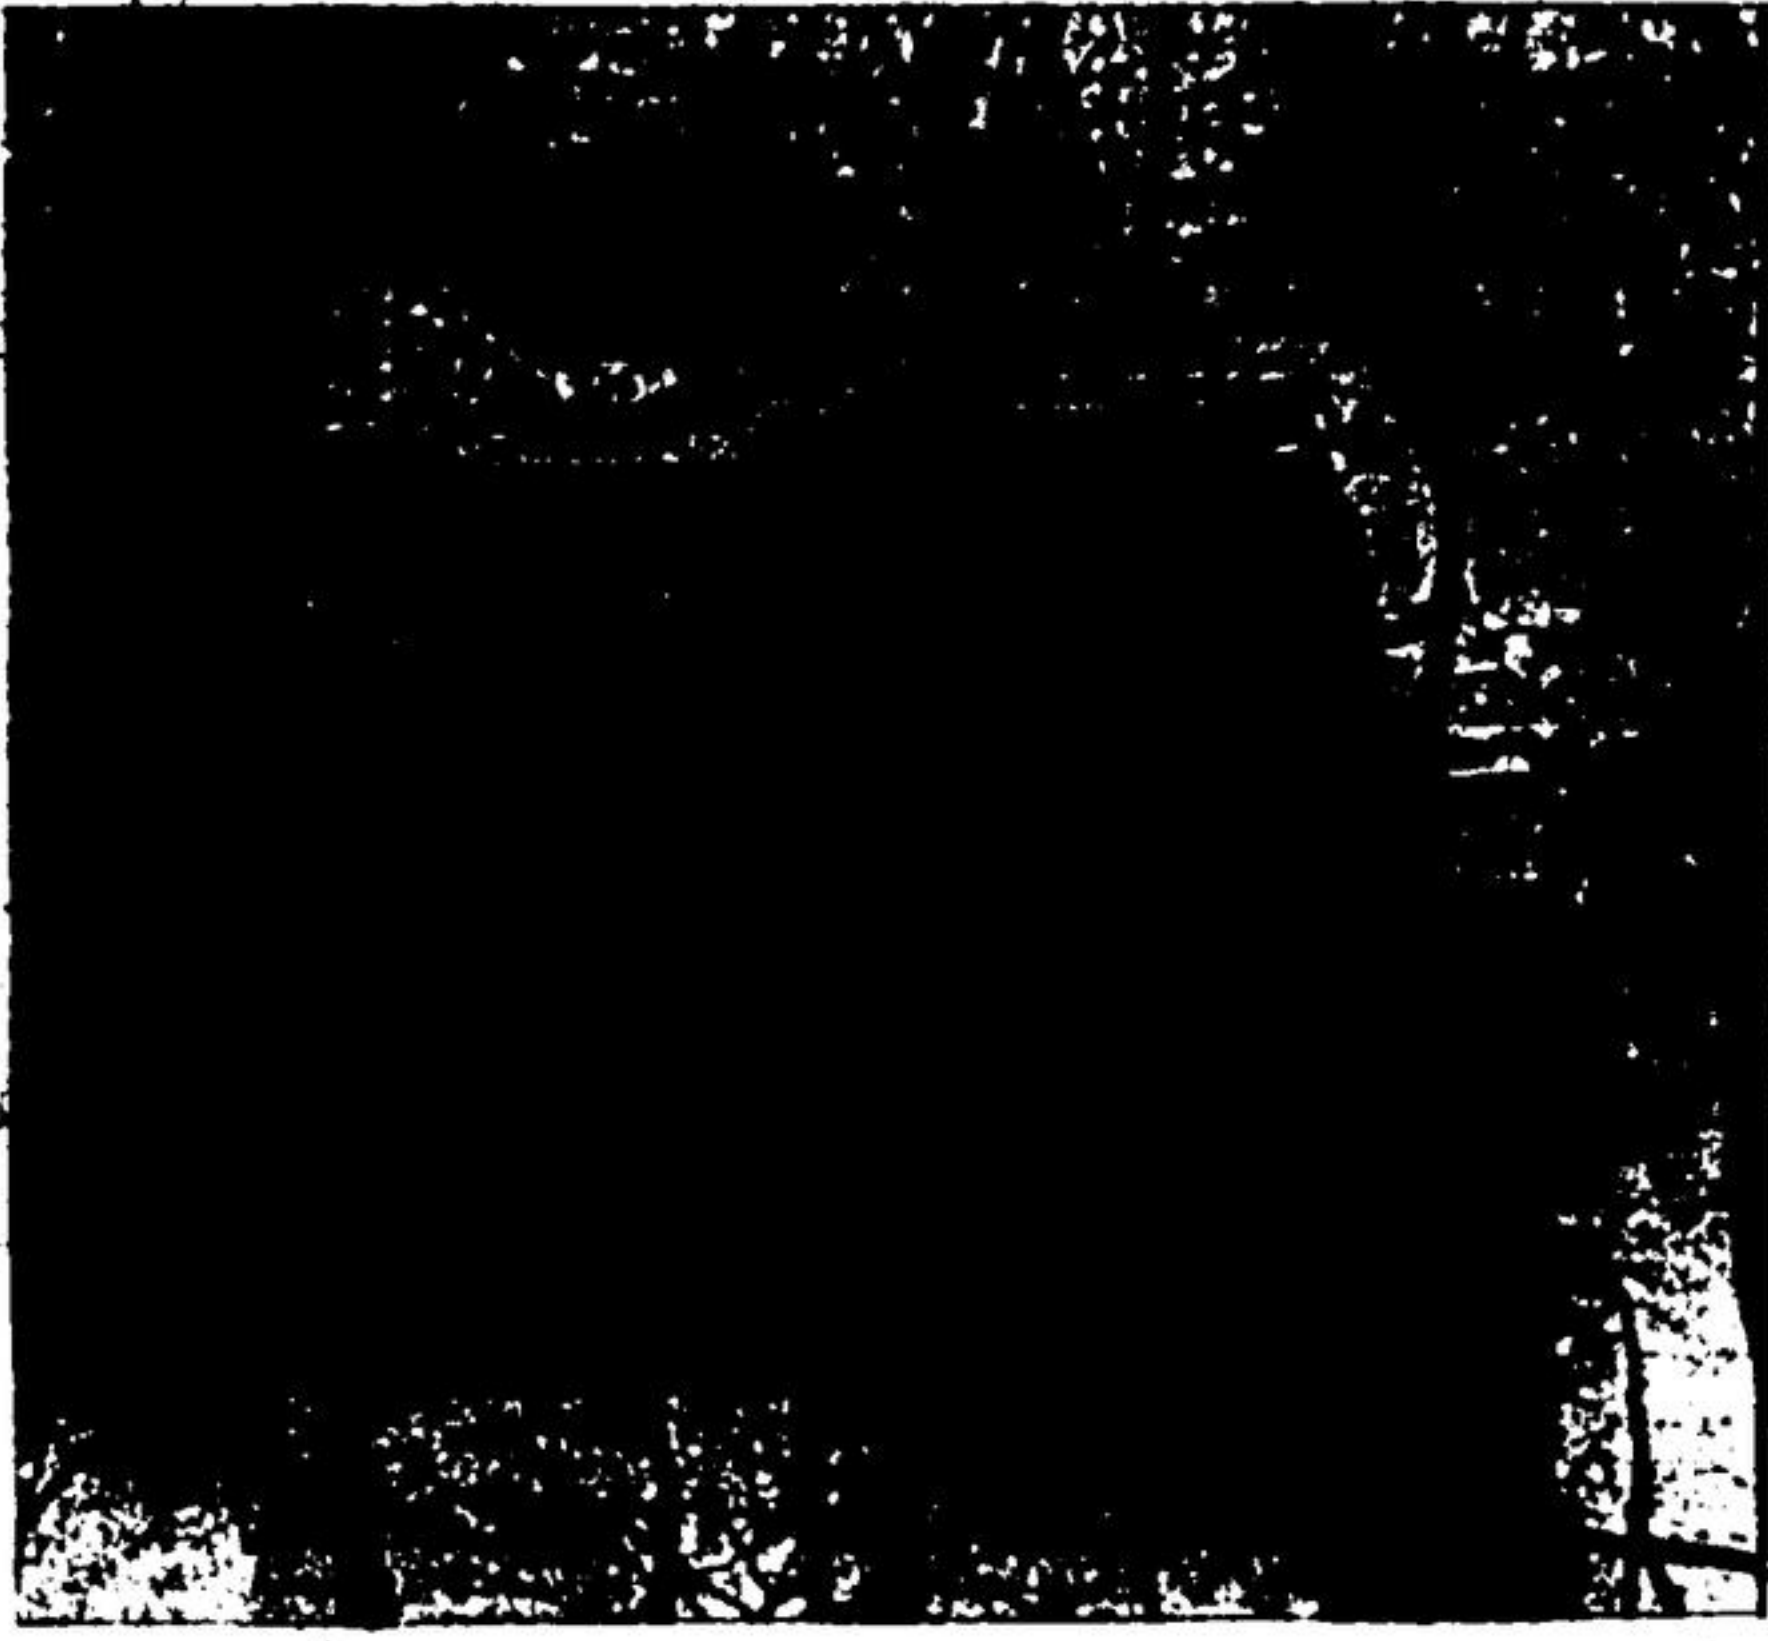

"We know there are many things worth preserving in the Credit River watershed," R. F. Hardy said in giving his report at the September meeting of the C.V.C.A. "This can be done as we see fit if we have Foundation money to spend." Mr. Hardy is chairman of the Historical Records Advisory Board of the Authority. Members agreed wholeheartedly with the report and appointed Mr. Hardy and Authority Chairman Roy McMillan as a committee to work with the solicitors in getting the Foundation organized.

In explaining the purpose of a foundation, Mr. Hardy said that donations from corporations and individuals could be accepted and grants from organizations who have funds for use on projects the Authority may plan to undertake. Under the present set-up, donations may not be accepted from any source. "We know the Province does not give grants for matters of historical nature," he continued, and they are the judges of what is or is not in the field of grants. The Historical Records Advisory Board is starved for funds because we get no grants and it would not be fair to expend large sums of tax-payers' money for these projects."

Among the things Mr. Hardy mentioned being worth preserving are the lime kilns at Limehouse, replicas of industrial plants set up in conjunction with flood control dams in the watershed and hydro generating units no longer in use but still in operating order.

Jake Spence, Carol Goodwin Exchange Wedding Rings, Vows

In a double-barreled ceremony in St. Alban's Anglican Church, Acton, on Saturday afternoon, September 25, the Rev. Donald West united in marriage Carol Dianne Goodwin and Clarence Wilfred "Jake" Spence Jr. of Georgetown.

The bride, a registered nurse, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Goodwin, Acton. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilfred Spence, 34 College St., Georgetown, is a barber in Brampton. The couple are making their home at 404 Main St. N., Brampton.

The bride's godfather, Alper Parrot, London, was organist for the ceremony. Yellow ribbons decorated the altar of the church with standards of yellow glads and broom mums at the front of the church and white satin bows with fern and yellow glads.

der in various spots along the river. Donations, whether in money, property or equipment, Mr. Hardy said, will be deductible for income tax purposes when the Foundation is properly set up. He said that he had been in contact with several firms, both local and national in scope, and all had assured him of their intense interest and of co-operation financially in the venture.

In concluding his report, Mr. Hardy said it is the hope of the committee to have the Foundation in operation this year to the point where donations may be accepted from the 1964 income.

Pays Tribute To Student "Most Waste I've Seen"

The funeral service was held Wednesday, September 30 for Robert Sanderson, 17-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sanderson, 19 Charles St., and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. George Greenward, 22 Guelph St., who was killed in an automobile accident Sunday, September 27.

The youth, a Gr. 12 student at Blakelock High School in Oakville, was fatally injured when his car collided with the rear of another and turned over, throwing him onto the highway. He was run over by a third car.

Another Blakelock student, Joanne Dick, 18, who was a passenger in the Sanderson car escaped with cuts and bruises.

Sanderson was a youth who was liked and respected by fellow students and faculty. He was a better-than-average scholar, served on school committees and was a sports standout.

Blakelock athletic director, Ron Ziegel, summed up Sanderson's death simply by saying:

"It is the most waste I've seen in my limited career."

Ziegel last night said that seldom does a Grade nine student make the junior football team.

"But Bob did — and he was a starter," the athletic director said.

Ziegel noted that seldom had he seen a grid star any rougher than Sanderson was.

"He simply loved bodily contact."

Sanderson and two other Blakelock football standouts, Ralph McFeeters and Terry Herron, started their grid careers together and had moved up the line to the senior club this fall.

"Bob and Ralph were twin fullbacks behind Terry all along," Ziegel said.

And the teammates didn't confine their talents to the football field. All were members of Blakelock's track and field team.

"Bob was a sprinter and usually ran relays — with these same fellows, McFeeters and Herron," Ziegel said.

"Bob's athletic career was centered mostly around football but he did play basketball," Ziegel said.

"But it wasn't his game. He played it the same way he played football — rough," he added.

Bob was also proficient at baseball and hockey.

He also played hockey with college and juvenile teams and had played against Georgetown last season.

Bob was president of his Color House at Blakelock and treasurer of the Athletic Association.

And he was a straight 'A' student.

He was the son of Lloyd Sanderson, Bronte, and brother of John.

The service was at Knox Presbyterian Church, Oakville, conducted by Rev. T. M. McKennel. Interment was in Presbyterian Cemetery, Collingwood.

Local Council of Women To Support Mysore Drive

Georgetown's Local Council of Women agreed to add their support to the current campaign for funds by the Mysore Project to which they have been regular contributors in the past. The members voted to back the campaign after they heard details of the drive from Mrs. Jesse Wyatt.

Mrs. Wyatt was one of several members giving reports at the meeting, the first of the new term. It was held Friday, September 25 at the home of Mrs. R. T. Paul.

Others addressing the meeting were Mrs. Floris Nodwell, Social Welfare; Mrs. Jack Kay, Local Council of Women; and Mrs. W. Johnson, on recent findings of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Mrs. Johnson's report dealt with recent tests and investigations into the use of margarine in cooking, relative value and reliability of different brands of toasters, and analysis and findings relating to spices not offered on the market. General discussion followed the consumers report.

The meeting was opened with silent prayer following which Mrs. Wyatt welcomed the members back.

After the minutes, and treasurer's statement by Mrs. Nodwell, Mrs. Paul presented the correspondence much of which dealt with the work of the National and Provincial councils. Both had recent conventions.

Inquest Finding Sparks Move to Standardization

During the investigation following the drowning tragedy at Terra Cotta, in a pool operated by Credit Valley Conservation Authority in August, Chairman McMillan reported, it was found that there seemed to be no recognized uniform standards for safety protection in swimming areas under Conservation Authority jurisdiction. A resolution was passed asking the Chairman's Committee, which meets at the Biennial Conference at Prudhomme's Gardens in October, to bring in recommendations for standards to be a guide for conservation areas with respect to lifeguards equipment and regulations in swimming areas.

IT'S THE TRUTH

If we make the best of little opportunities we find ourselves more able to accept larger ones.
