

Organized Safari to Track Ogres, Thunderbird's Nest

The Cub and Scouts of the 3rd Georgetown Pack and Troop spent a Saturday hiking through Spirit Valley a farm owned by Dr. A. A. Kingscote of Eden Mills. Along with the 1st St. James Cub Pack from Guelph, and the 1st Spirit Valley Guide Company, the boys were the guests of Dr. Anthony Kingscote, Assistant Rover Leader of a Guelph Rover Crew, and his wife, Dr. Barbara Kingscote, Captain of the 1st Spirit Valley Guide Company.

Following opening ceremonies and a brief roundup of the day's events, the group started out in style, to follow a blood-stained (red wood) trail of some troublesome "ogres" (the word was used by the boys) to a large tree trunk. The trail led to a large tree trunk, where a large ogre was seen. The ogre was a large tree trunk, and the boys were seen to be very interested in it. The ogre was a large tree trunk, and the boys were seen to be very interested in it.

At the tree, he came up to the tree and watched for others. When all were gathered at the tree, Dr. Kingscote explained that perhaps because of the size of the party (some 125 persons) the group was not as quiet as they might have been, and it appeared they had scared off the "ogres". For this, Dr. Kingscote was thankful, since the objects hanging from the tree (trying pens, boots, pop bottle, etc.) were things that the "ogres" had taken from the house.

On the way back to the farm for lunch, the group stopped at various rock piles and collected fossils and interesting rocks for their nature collection. Because of the cold and wind, the group ate lunch in the barn, during which short yarns were given about New Zealand by Mr. E. Hall, a 3rd Georgetown Cub father. During the morning, the boys heard about the Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, by 3rd Georgetown Scoutmaster Norm Herbert.

It was quite a windy day, for which, in a way, the Cub and Scouts were all thankful. During lunch time, Dr. Kingscote had many of his different kites flying from various places around the farm yard. He gave the boys a yarn on making a simple type of kite, and explained some of his more intricate kites.

After lunch, the group was out on the trail again, safari style, in search of the Thunderbird's nest. This they found after a trek to the top of a steep hill overlooking the farm and in the distance, Guelph. In front of the Thunderbird's nest, which by the way, was quite elaborate, was a large treasure chest which Dr. Kingscote discovered to the delight of the group, who filled with chocolate covered donuts!

After the treat, the individual groups set about small museum of the nature objects collected as fossils. These museum turned out to be most interesting, and contained everything from a puff ball, skeleton bones, seed pods, down to an honest to goodness dead mouse! A short campfire followed, and then the group
