

Driver's Skull Fractured In Union Car Collision

An R.R. 1, Terra Cotta woman and her two children and a R.R. 2, Georgetown man were injured when their cars collided at the Union Church intersection east of Glen Williams during a heavy fog Wednesday Nov. 11.

Taken to Georgetown hospital was Mrs. Anna Kroll the driver of one of the cars, her daughter Frances 11, and son Harry, 8, and the driver of the other car Jim Schraa.

Mrs. Kroll suffered a fractured skull, Frances a fractured bow, and Harry lacerations in his body. Schraa received injuries to his right leg.

Chingacousy police said Mrs. Kroll was southbound on the town line when the car driven by Schraa collided broadside at the intersection.

The Kroll car, a 1964 Chev was completely demolished by the impact. Sgt. DeSantis who handled the investigation said damage to the Schraa car, a 1960 Chrysler, was $700.

The collision occurred at 4:30 p.m.

Estimate $60,000 Cost For CNR Pedestrian Overpass

A pedestrian overpass at the CNR station was discussed Saturday with the engineering firm of Demas & Smith by a council committee.

"It would cost sixty to eighty thousand dollars" Deputy Reeve Hunter reported to council on Monday. "If we did it right now the town would have to pay a large share of the cost. There would be a subsidy of perhaps 75% if it went through the right departments."

Reeve Elliott is worried about danger to pedestrians using the John St. subway and said council should use all haste in finding a solution.

He said the lights in the subway might make it less hazardous, and suggested council meet with CNE officials to discuss further improvements.

"Haste is necessary, but we must also think of subsidies," said Cr. Smith. "The matter is in the proper hands now."

Reeve Elliott doubted that 75% subsidy is available on an overpass.

Cr. Emerson said there is no such subsidy. Council has an aerial survey and a traffic count is the next step and April 15 is the earliest this can be expected, he explained.

After that comes engineering. The deputy said that he had meant that a subsidy of 75% is available on a traffic survey and he corroborated the news that pedestrian crossings do not qualify.

"Some years ago, subway improvement was estimated to cost $70,000 and council of that day felt the town couldn't afford its 50% share" Mayor Gibbons observed.

"The last I heard, to put the subway in proper shape would take $400,000" said Cr. Emerson.

A letter read in the evening's correspondence carried a request from Union Local 474 at Donlar, asking the town council in solving the problem caused by CNR action in closing off a stalled crossing.

Kinettes, Mothers of Kinettes, and guests.

Attending the dinner were President Gail Collett and mother Mrs. Clarice King; Kinette Mary Cooper, daughters Cindy, Becky and Kelly; Kinette Marilyn Sunnucks and mother Mrs. Delma Haslop; Kinette Mona Milne, daughters Denise, Susan, Marie; Kinette Eva Middleton, daughters Joy and Linda; Kinette Ida Alcorn, daughter Robert; Kin wife Alta Alton, daughter Debbie; guest Lena Burns, daughters Janet and Patricia; Kinette Sylvia Dearney daughter Jackie; Kinette Nancy Ellis, daughter Sherry; Kinette Jackie King; Kinette Bonnie Levy, Kinette Joyce Mahaffy, daughters Kim and Sherrine; Kinette Jean Murphy; Past President Donna Moore, daughter Shirley and guest Mrs. Anne Sunnucks; Kinette Lorna Taylor, daughter Karen; Kinette Christine Toit and guest Mrs. Pat Henderson; Kin Wife Marie Wright and mother-in-law Mrs. Leitha Wright. The registrar Christine Toit reported 100 per cent attendance.

After a turkey dinner served by the Women's Auxiliary two draws were made with Kinette Joyce Mahaffy and Kinette Nancy Lewis the winners. A very hilarious skit was presented, skit Matilda Quismquat (Kinette Donna Moore) and daughter Mildred (Kinette Ida Alcorn), who seemed to have many magic tricks up their sleeves and in their purse. They climaxed the show with a shower of whipped cream. The children went home and later the business portion of the meeting took place. The most important item was the fact that the Kinette Club has decided to support a needy family for Christmas. Names for the Scholarships were decided for the High School Commencement.

To end the evening a game of Court What was played with Mrs. Rex Haslop the winner. A final thank you to Kinettes Mona Milne and Rosine Levy for organizing the evening.

Society Would Abolish Capital Murder Penalty

Member of a society which is promoting abolition of the death penalty for murder in Canada, William McMurry spoke to the Kinettes at their meeting last week. He is a Toronto lawyer.

Introduced by Dean Taylor, Mr. McMurry explained that his group believes that the crime rate would drop with such a change, and stressed that they favour sentences of life imprisonment for convicted murderers, and that psychopathic killers be given proper treatment in institutions.

The group will eventually approach the government for a change in laws when it feels it has enough public support.

Business dealt with at the meeting included planning for sale of Christmas trees and the annual stag night in the Legion auditorium this Friday.

Sacred Concert Brings Good Crowd to Knox

A well filled Knox Presbyterian church heard an evening of sacred music Sunday presented by a group of West Toronto men.

The choir is composed of men from various churches in that area, mainly Presbyterian, Baptist and United. They are drawn together by a common love of music and perform twice monthly.

Organized in 1942, the choir is directed by William McCaul and Gerald Clemens is accompanist. Hymns and spirituals were included in the concert and Mr. McCaul played a selection from the Mass as a trombone solo.

Rev. Norman Young conducted a short service prior to the concert, with a brief meditation which he titled "Music at Midnight."

Overheated Pipes But No Fire Damage

Overheated pipes at a cottage on Lamb St. touched off the fire call Monday noon. Chief Erwin Lewis said a space heater was the cause of the fire threat but it was brought under control before any damage could be done.
