Red, Green Set Yule Scene With Symbolic Meanings

The traditional colours of the Christmas season are red and green. Yet these colors have meant different things to different people over the ages. Colour has been used as the symbol of abstract ideas from time immemorial.

In early and medieval Christian art colors had a mystic or symbolic meaning. Red is dicated Passion. In its good sense it was a symbol of divine energy and love and the creative power of the Holy Spirit, in its bad sense if was a sign of hate. In that meaning it became an emblem of Satan.

Emerald green is often the symbol of hope and growth in many Christian paintings.

Colors played an important role in medieval magic and superstitions. For example, the famous 'philosopher's stone', which the alchemists thought would turn base metals into gold and cure all diseases, was thought to be colored red, according to the Encyclopedia Americana. Red was also a favorite curative color in more recent superstitions.

In Indonesia, the people think a piece of bright red coral will keep its owner's teeth in good order, and there are people everywhere who are sure that a person owning a ruby will live to a ripe old age.

Green was a sacred color among the ancient Egyptians who wore it as a symbol of hope and the joy of spring. The Muslims carried this symbolism throughout the Middle East, and the faithful, on returning from the pilgrimage to Mecca, wear a green turban.

IN GERMANY . . .

For Germany children the Christmas season begins with the hanging of a calendar showing a painted house, on December 1st. Doors and windows of the house often hide pieces of candy.

Two old women friends met on the street for the first time in years. One of them said, "How is your son these days?"

"He's a schizophrenic," replied the other.

"Really ... What is he?" asked the woman. "Where is his office?"
