

Playgoers Invited to Hear Play Adjudicated

Eric Ming, Gay Lloyd and Ren Hill (standing) in a scene from the Georgetown Little Theatre's 'The Little Hut' which is adjudicated tonight.

Mr. Stanley Richards, the adjudicator of the Little Theatre's production of 'Little Hut', is a man of many talents, with a staggering number of accomplishments.

He has had twenty-two plays published, is a writer for Columbia Pictures, has written numerous television plays for all the major networks, including American and Brazilian networks, and has written books and over 200 magazine features.

Eight of his plays have won awards on this continent and in Europe. In recognition of his achievements, the United States Dept. of State awarded him three successive grants in 1960, 61, and 62, as the 'American Theatre Specialist'.

Following the Feb. 25th first night performance of 'Little Hut', the local entry in the Western Ontario Drama Festival, the Western Ontario representative, Mrs. Betty Miles, will introduce Mr. Richards, who, it is hoped, will give a public adjudication. Local audiences will then have a chance to hear this specialist in his field.

Should he want a short time to assess his remarks, the audience may go up to the cafeteria for coffee, where Mr. Richards would later join them, and give his adjudication from the cafeteria stage.

The Little Theatre Group are most anxious to have a large turnout on this important night.

Former Resident Here Was Papermill Employee

A former resident of Glen Williams and Georgetown, Norman Barlow died at Halton Centennial Manor on February 7.

May Add Vehicles To Works Department

Council is considering adding two new vehicles to the works department this spring.

Monday it was decided to call tenders for a 3-ton stake truck and a one-ton pickup truck.

"Doing Fine" P. R. Praises Red Cross

"I don't know what to say. You're functioning 100%, exceeding your quota on blood donations and money." Capt. E. C. Hopkins told members of Georgetown Red Cross last Thursday.

Ontario public relations chairman, Capt. Hopkins talked about that phase of Red Cross activity. He stressed the importance of the "big C" - communications, which must be developed, clearly, confidently, continuously and convincingly.

He told members that the public relations committee can only function properly if other committees cooperate by passing on their news. And he said the Junior Red Cross work of utmost importance because school children are the workers of the future.

"We have to continue to build our Red Cross reputation, then continually communicate our story to news media," he said. "Show where blood is used after it is donated, tell where our hospitals run short - that's the way to bring out more donors."

In her report, Mrs. John Kliffner, who was elected to another term as president, mentioned local accomplishments. Three clinics had gathered 871 bottles of blood, 600 children had participated in the swimming classes, 18 ladies had graduated in home nursing courses.

Lodging, food and clothing had been provided for victims of a district fire. And $241 was raised in the 1964 financial appeal.

Mayor Joseph Gibbons was presented with a volunteer pin for his service to the society. And a citation to the volunteer ambulance society was received by Dan Scarborough and Cec Davidson for the GVAS.

Cliff Johnson, supervisor at the community swimming pool, explained how instruction is given. In his three years, over 2300 have graduated in one or more of the four class levels. Twenty-two days of one hour lessons are offered.

Officers elected at the meeting to serve with Mrs. Kliffner are Mrs. Al Sutherland, 1st vice president and secretary; Mrs. Don Hancock, 2nd vice president and Mrs. Stanley Walsh, treasurer.

Gerald W. Corbett, D.C. will head the fund campaign again this year, assisted by Al Sutherland. Mrs. John Ferguson continues in charge of the blood clinics, with Mrs. Kliffner assisting. And Mrs. Jack Nieuwhof and Mrs. Ruthland will handle public relations.

Other appointed committee heads include Mrs. Eric Balk (1st, loan cupboard; Mrs. Selby Martin and Mrs. Walsh, diaster; Mrs. Kliffner, emergency aid; Mrs. M. D. Sluypson and Mrs. Martin, home nursing; Mrs. Elmo Atkinson and Mrs. Robert Jones, senior citizens; Mrs. A. A. Landry and Mrs. Nieuwhof, voluntary services; Mrs. Nieuwhof and Mrs. Hancock, water safety.

Seek Approval for $55,000 Debentures

Approval is being sought by Georgetown for a $55,000 debenture issue for purchase of Cedarvale school property as a centennial project.

Council voted Monday to ask Municipal Board sanction for a ten year issue of debentures which would bear interest at 5 1/2%.

Deputy Reeve Wm. Y. Hunter, who has opposed the purchase, was the lone opponent in the vote.

John Wilson and Aileen Harrop Receive Pins at Junior Banquet

Norval Junior Farmers held their banquet and annual meeting on Friday evening, February 12, in Stewarttown Hall with about 100 attending the banquet with more attending the meeting and dance which followed.

John Wilson, president of the Jr. Farmers, was chairman for the banquet. Present were the two first presidents of the Jr. Farmers and Jr. Institute Norval group, Mrs. Marie O'Connor of Toronto, the former Marie Blackall, and Mr. Alan Harrop. Also present were a young German couple who are visiting in the district and have met many of the Jr. Farmers and attended some of their activities while here and visited their farms.

Miss Margaret Alexander introduced the guests at the head table. Gail McCallum thanked the ladies of St. Stephen's Church, Hornby, for the banquet. Ruth Mason led in a song with her piano accompaniment while the tables were cleared and later introduced the guest speaker, CBC Farm Broadcaster, George Atkins, who was a former president of the Halton Jr. Farmers. He lives on the home farm in the south of Halton. He gave a very interesting talk and demonstration on broadcasting, demonstrating how they use the tape recorder and splicing machine.

Margaret Alexander gave the treasurer's report for the Jr. Institute and Ernie Alexander gave the Jr. Farmers treasurer's report. Mrs. Paul May gave the secretary's report of the year which showed a very good year with many various activities and paid tribute to the late Judge George E. Elliott of Milton, who had been interested in the Jr. Farmers activities.

Mr. Doug McDonnell, assistant Agricultural Representative for Halton, took charge of the meeting for the election of officers. Ruth Mason presented a past-president's pin to Aileen Harrop and Paul May presented the past president's pin to John Wilson. Paul May thanked the speaker and those taking part.

The evening ended with a dance to Currie's Orchestra from Campbellville. Lucky spot dance winners were, Edna Fisher and Stan Hyatt and Aileen Harrop and Barry Little.

New officers elected for the year were for the Jr. Institute: President - Ruth Mason, Vice - Gail McCallum, Secretary - Doris Pickett Treasurer - Edna Fisher. For the Jr. Farmers: President - Paul May, Vice - Keith Dawson, Secretary - George Hew, Treasurer - Ernie Alexander.

Scores Parents who Missed New Flag Raising Ceremony
5 Moultrie Cresc. Feb. 15, 1965.

To the people of George Kennedy School district:

Today at 12 noon your children dedicated Canada's flag with a nice arrangement of O Canada.

For this important occasion these children's parent(s) with the exception of five women (including myself) and one gentleman (who did not see it as important enough event to get out of his car during any part of the ceremony) did not see fit to join their children in this once in a lifetime event. The apathy and lack of interest shown by the adults in this vicinity sickens me.

Any mother could have turned off her washing machine, vacuum cleaner or TV set for a ten minute ceremony. The work would be there when they returned, but the flag will never again be raised for the first time. These same people have children in Cubs, Boy Scouts, Brownies, Guides, all

THROAT SLASHED BY SKATE

Dwight May, 20, of Hornby is in satisfactory condition after being slashed across the throat by a skate while playing hockey Thursday night in Milton.

The youth was treated by Dr. C. W. Hillis, and then taken to Milton District Hospital.

May received the two-inch cut when the skate of a player who had tripped came up and caught him in the throat.

organizations that salute and have pride in their country's flag, yet they did not care enough to join the children in the first salute to the first acclaimed flag of Canada.

If this attitude appeared at other flag raising ceremonies across our country God help Canada as the people will not.
