Palermo Players Capture Trophy Prize from Norval

Two Norval Junior Farmer plays, one with an all-female cast and the other with an all-male cast called to retain the best play award for the Norval club at the Halton Junior Farmers Drama Festival in Knox Church, Georgetown, last Wednesday - but a local performer attracted individual honours.

Taking part in this year's Halton Junior Farmers Drama Festival were: Bird on the Wing - Dinnes Sinclair, Verne Thompson, Margaret King, Lois Hunter, Dan Heisterington, and Jill Taylor.

The adjudicator, Mrs. Jensen of Oakville, said the choice of plays by the competing Norval and Palermo clubs was excellent, and termed her job "a difficult one." Before announcing the Palermo Juniors production of James Reach's Bird on The Wing had capped the Best Play trophy.

The winning Palermo play progresses to the semi-finals to be held in Dundas. Winners there will compete in the Junior Farmers Drama Festival finals at Guelph.

Norval's Stan Hyatt was judged best actor for his role in If Men Play Cards, and Palermo player Lois Hunter was best actress. Runners up were Gail McCollum of Early Frost, and Jill Taylor of Bird On The Wing, and Bill Alexander of If Men Play Cards.

Last year, the Norval club's production of The White Phantom won best play, and members of the cast won best actor and best actress honours.

Georgetown Builder Gets School Contract

Georgetown builder, Roman Kramer, has been awarded the general contract for construction of an addition to St. John Fisher Roman Catholic School in Bramalea. The Kramer tender was the lowest of seven.

The project calls for six classrooms, a kindergarten room, and library. The kindergarten will be completely equipped with its own facilities, and will have its own entrance and play area.

Women's Institute Makes Plans for 1965 Officers Election

Twenty-two members attended a meeting of the Georgetown Women's Institute in Knox Church Hall, Wednesday, March 3rd at which a nominating committee was named. The committee will present a slate of officers at the next regular meeting in April.

Other business included reading a letter of thank from the Georgetown & District Memorial Hospital Board. The letter was in response to the Georgetown W.I.'s donation of a bedtable and two bedtable stools. Thanks were expressed to the committee that planned a dinner party in February. Mrs. G. Bussell gave a reading from a book by Ethel Chapman.

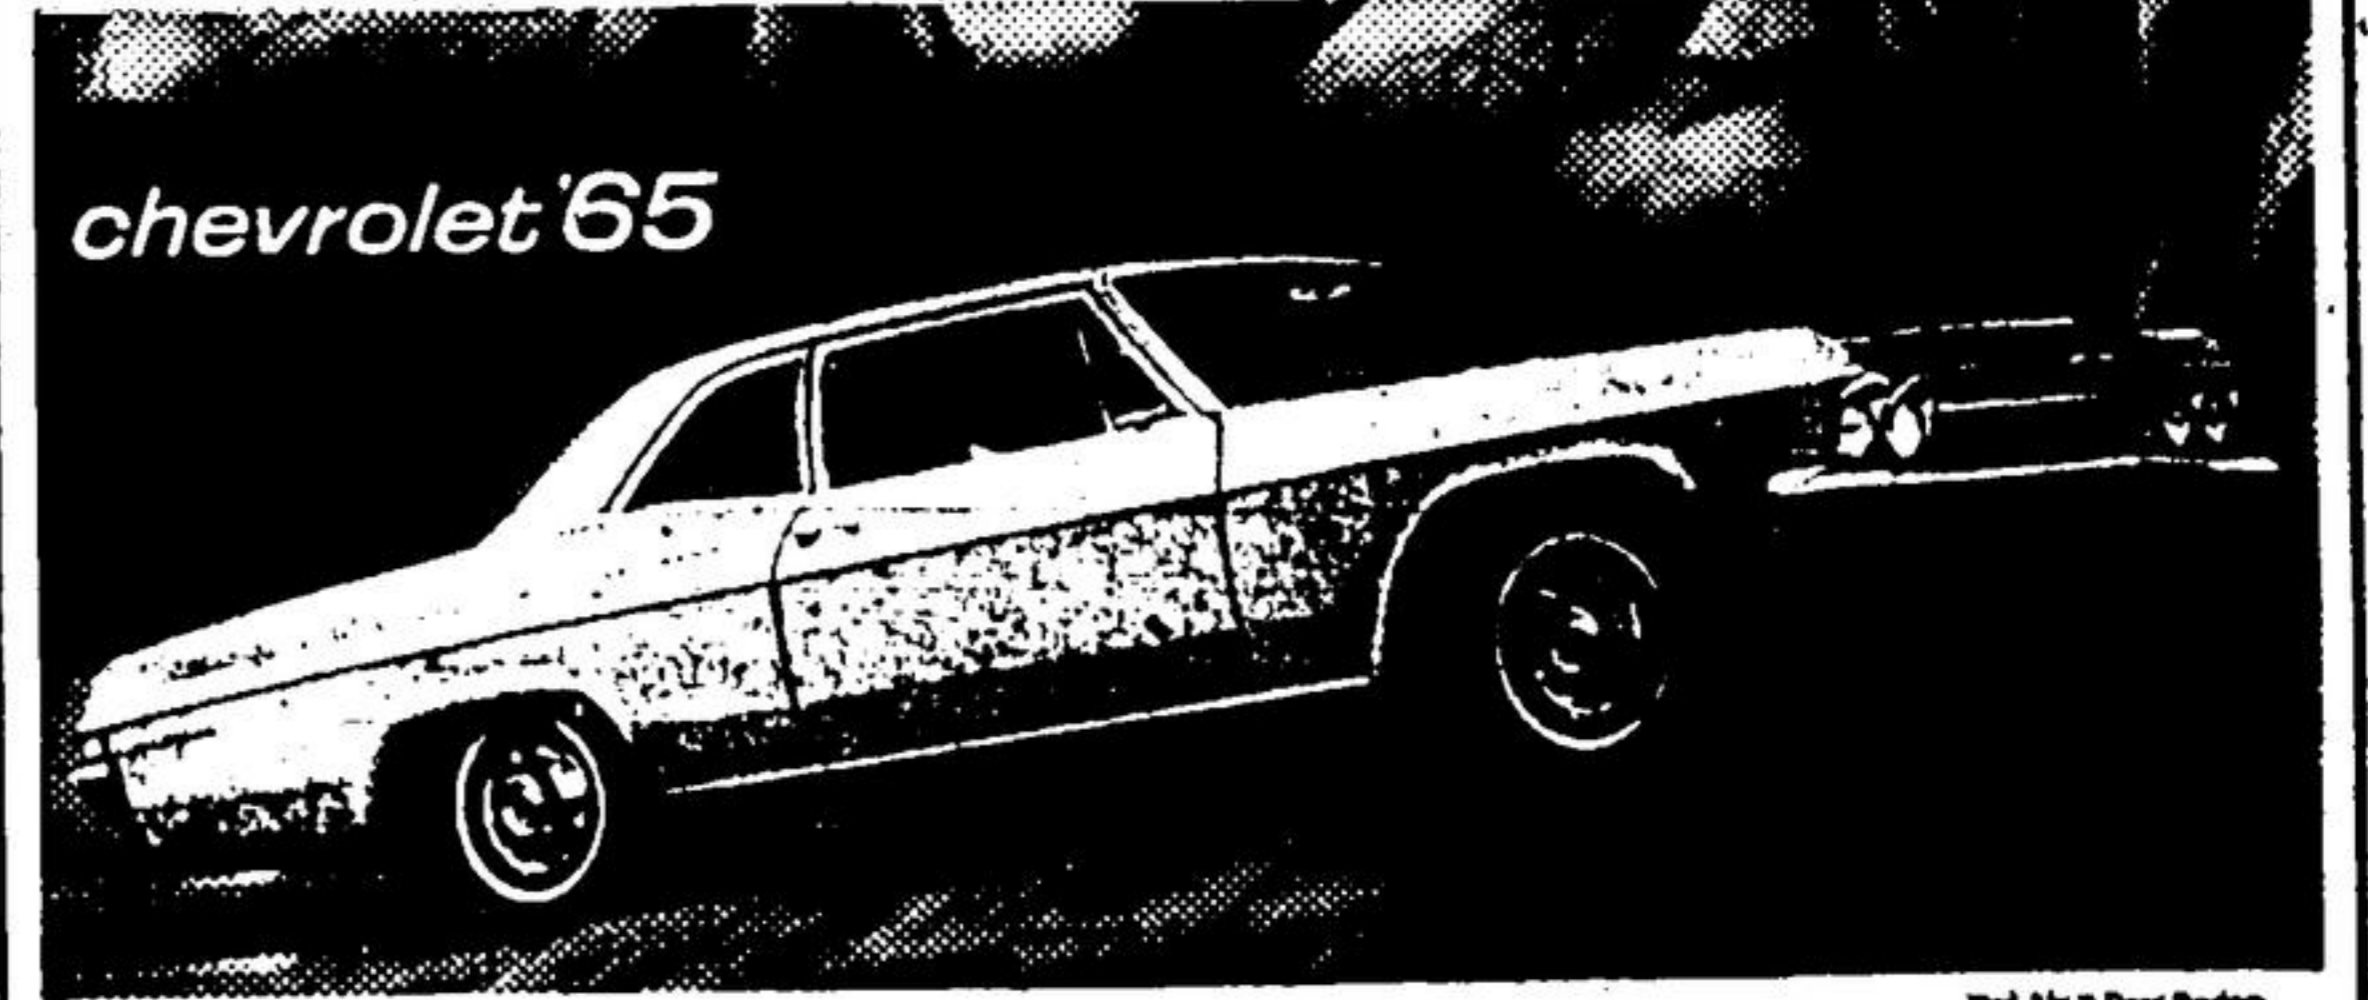

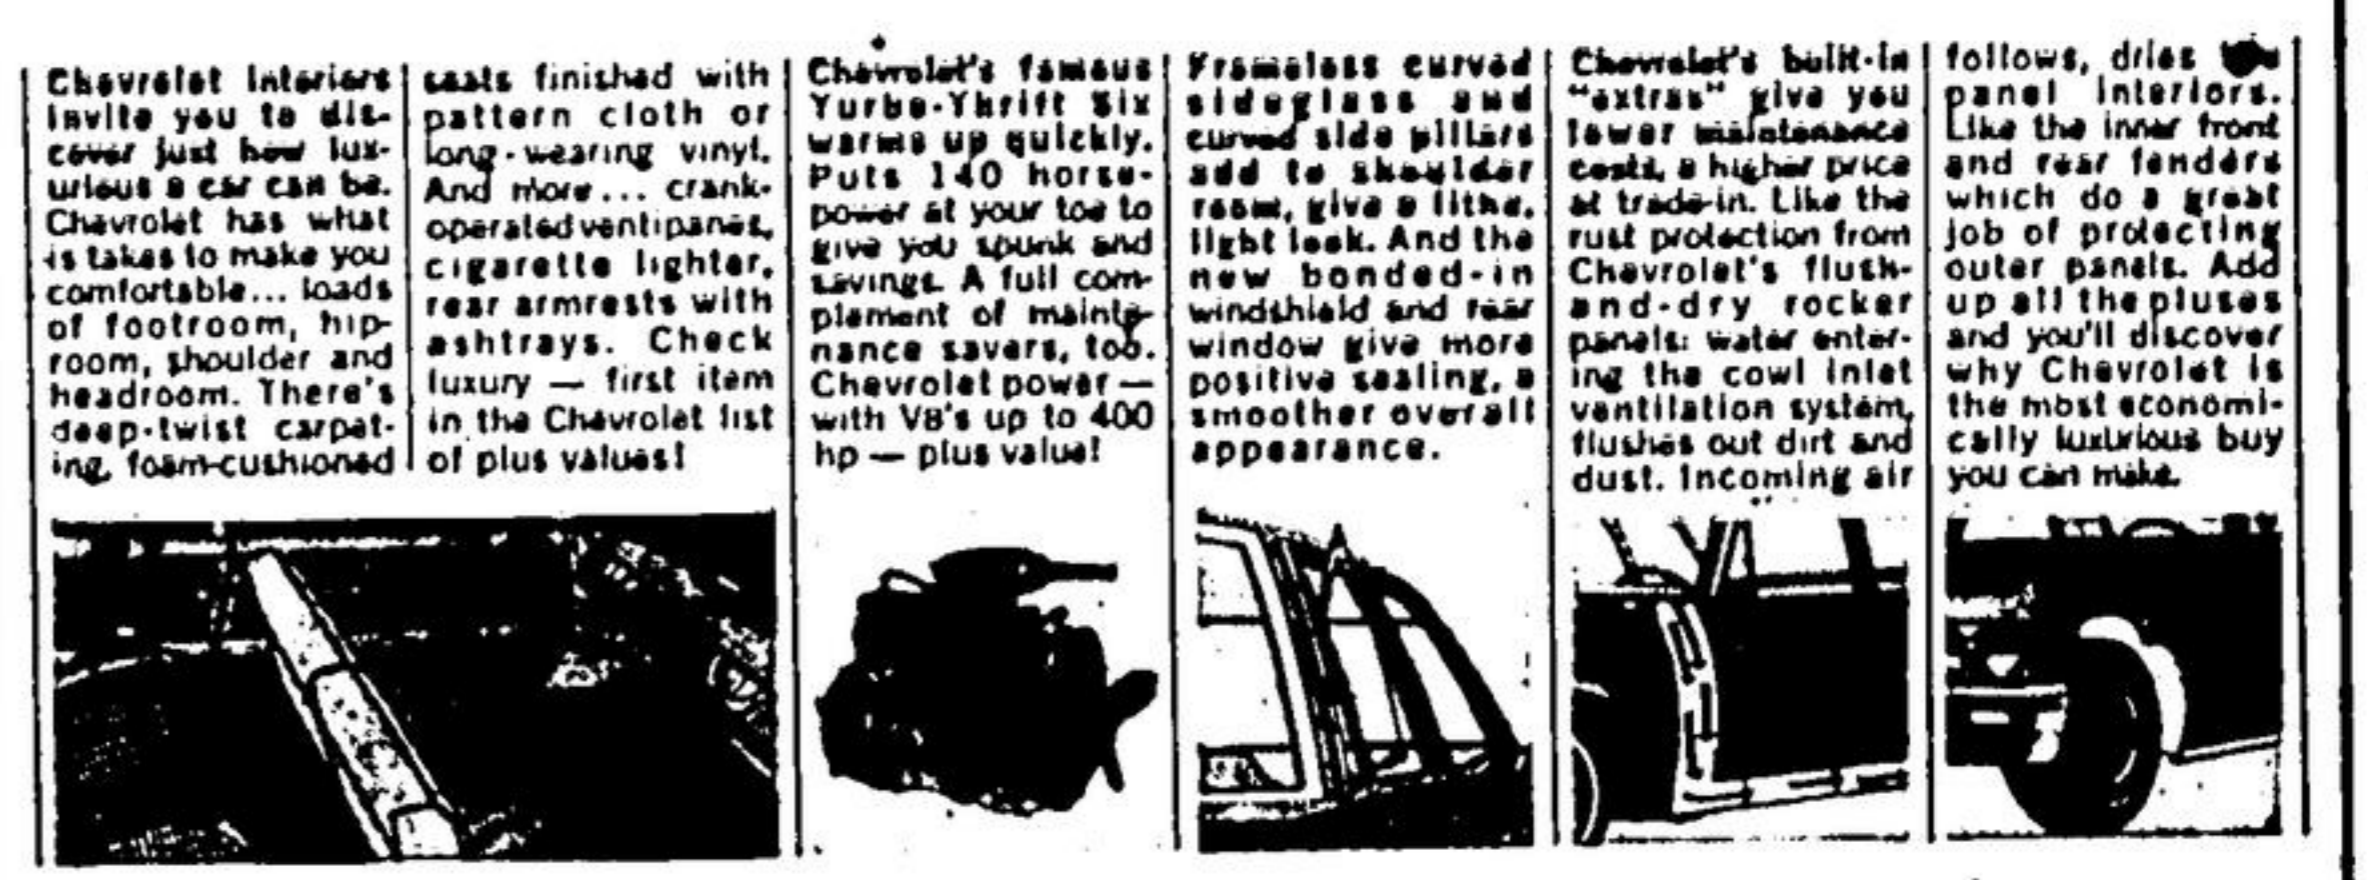

Lunch and a social half hour followed the meeting.
