Golf Courses Spruce Up Eyeing Early Openings

Both Georgetown golf clubs are starting to show evidence of the first stirrings that preceded their annual renovations.

Members returning to the local clubs will find some changes. The North Halton layout of course is slightly altered while construction machines carve out new fairways as stipulated in the expansion plan. But manager Hyrton stresses the construction was made a three-phase program so that the members would not be bothered by machinery on the nine holes designated for play this season.

One of the toughest holes on the Georgetown Golf and Country Club layout, the par five 4th, has had some of its teeth pulled. The green has been moved to the tee side of a deep gully and the par reduced to 4. A footbridge over the gully, partially knocked out by flood waters is being put back in serviceable condition.

"KEEP INFORMED..."

Some people disagree with "Sinc", not many miss his twice daily assault on injustice, hypocrisy and anything else that comes into the sites of his news blunderbuss. Like the best baseball umpire, Sinclair calls 'em as he sees 'em and if 'em are hot on... well, that's life. The comment you hear most about Sinclair is "I can't afford to miss him because I never know what he's going to do next." He's heard at 11:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. (as if you didn't know) — and with his "Let's Be Persons!" at 11:45 a.m. and "Show Business" at 5:45 p.m.
