

PRINCESSES APLENTY AT STARDUST BALL

SOME PEOPLE keep the strangest pets. Here Grade 12 student Mary Harlow sits one out with mammoth Mardi Gras mascot, a 40 foot long amiable dragon.

The Enquiring Reporter

What Do You Think?

Do you feel the University of Toronto students demonstrating in front of the US consulate accomplished anything, were they sincere or were they just doing it for kicks?

Some perhaps did it for kicks, but by no means all. I feel they accomplished what everyone accomplishes when they stand—They let the world know their opinion.

Mrs. W. E. Dooks, Brampton
Yes they accomplished something. At least they drew attention to the situation.

Mrs. F. Whitaker, Myron St.
It shows that university students care about things other than university activities, and as a teenager I'm happy other teenagers are concerned.

Bruce Sully, (daughter of the artist currently having exhibitions at House 50)

Yes of course they accomplished something. The marching and protesting has pressured the American politicians into some action finally.

Lynne Hyde, Cherry Street.

I don't think they accomplished too much. Why pick on a particular injustice done by the United States, when there are injustices all over the world, and right here in Canada, ignored by the university students. Why should we embarrass a good neighbour.

Tony Lloyd, Windsor Road.

Yes, I think they did. I feel that the negroes were being unjustly treated, and the U. of Toronto students were trying to call attention to this injustice.

Rick Currie, Elizabeth St.
I think they accomplished a certain amount by bringing it to the attention of the authorities. But I feel some certainly just wanted to be in on what was going on.

Chris Fisher, Edward St.

LOCAL ACTORS IN CHILDREN'S AID SLIDES

There will be a surprise for those attending the annual meeting of the Halton Centennial Manor, when familiar faces appear on the screen.

In the audio-colour slide presentation "Children in Jeopardy", members of the Georgetown Little Theatre will appear, having deserted the stage and taken to the silver screen for this occasion.

Acting out the different roles will be, Bruce Westwood, Lynne Hyde, Michael and Mary Peleschak, Chris and Betty Fisher, Tony and Gay Lloyd, and Vera Macdonald.

Mrs. R. Hill, a case worker for the Children's Aid, and a member of the Georgetown Little Theatre, helped put her group "on the screen".

See how GMC's

Engineering Leadership makes HANDI-VAN

the ideal combination of carrying capacity, loadspace and power.

Big 48" x 49 1/2" double-wall construction rear doors mounted on sturdy wide-spaced hinges — the kind of doors a hard working delivery van needs.

A fine GMC Engineering Leadership feature — optional at extra cost side doors for big, bulky loads. They're on the sidewalk side for convenience and safety.

Handi-Van has an all-steel, corrugated floor. It's flat from one end to the other. And it's only knee-high from the ground to help you load heavy and bulky cartons.

With 211 cu. ft. of loadspace, bulky goods can be moved with ease. For heavy goods, Handi-Van's one ton capacity provides for more cargo, fewer trips.

A city delivery van needs big, wide vision windows. And Handi-Van has them. Side windows feature handy adjustable ventilators for selective ventilation without draught.

GMC Engineering Leadership has given Handi-Van just the right blend of power and economy — a standard 120 hp 6 or an optional 140 hp 6.

Announcing! The all-new Handi-Bus. And now you can get the Handi-Bus . . . the handy way to carry people. There are two of them, Handi-Bus and the Custom Handi-Bus. Depending on optional at extra cost seating arrangements, you'll carry five or eight passengers. Handi-Buses have the same GMC Engineering Leadership features that have made Handi-Van so popular — a compact 90" wheelbase, a fully rust-proof sturdy body structure and a wide selection of optional equipment and window choices.
