

And They All Left with Their Scalps!

Young bucks clap their hands in time with the rhythm of an Indian chant as they sit transfixed and watch "Chief" do his barefoot solo on the Georgetown park grass. The Indian dance was part of entertainment paraded in front of a big-top audience at the recent one-day stand of the Gene Gody and Kipling Brothers circus. The circus was brought to town by the Georgetown Lions.

Could Have Been the Real Thing - E.M.O. Exercises Successful

You probably didn't notice that Georgetown was blown flat May 13th. The town was demolished in theory by a rampant tropical-born hurricane which was so violent in this area that it required Halton County's Emergency Measures Organization to swing into action.

Exercise III Wind as it was labeled by the EMO was a complete success according to local EMO Coordinator Bruce McGregor.

Communications functioned well through EMO headquarters in Milton, he said, and valuable lessons were learned which can be put into effect should the real thing strike.

"We found that we would be asked to provide services for the homeless and injured in Hamilton where the hurricane theoretically created havoc, and we tested communications that link us with nine other counties. Our internal communications also functioned well.

From a training point of view the exercise was highly valuable to Halton EMO, he added. Besides the communications staff in Halton EMO at the Milton headquarters were members of

The basic plan for the exercise was that a vicious monster hurricane was born in the Atlantic on May 7.

It has been proved that any tropical storm in the Western Atlantic, the Caribbean, or the Gulf of Mexico can be a threat to Ontario. In the last 50 years about one in 14 hurricanes has crossed into Ontario and about one in 45 has been a storm of extraordinary violence, such as "Hazel".

"It was an exercise to deal with a situation that could definitely happen," Mr. McGregor commented.

About 41 per cent of total government expenditure in Canada in 1963 consisted of transfer payment and subsidies from government to individuals and groups.
