

Nothing Like A Fall Fair — Georgetown's Starts Tomorrow

You enjoy the smell of fresh apples, the sound of the fiddle, the excitement of the races, the thrill of the trotting show, the excitement of the horse-and-buggy days, but they are all over for this year. You won't want to miss Georgetown's Fall Fair this week-end.

If you would enjoy the fresh air to the fall, the autumn colors of the maples at the fair, the music of the home team band, then you will want to be with the crowd at the fair, sponsored by the Georgetown Agricultural Society.

The fair is a time-honoured institution, dating back to 1846 when the first fair was held in Georgetown. Yes, those were the horse-and-buggy days, but they set the pace for the big show to be held next Friday and Saturday, October 1 and 2.

The fair gets underway Friday morning, when the many exhibitors bring their handiwork to the hall, and via with one, another for the worth-while prizes offered in the catalogue. The judging begins at one o'clock in the afternoon and by 7:00 p.m. the hall is ready, and will be open to the public — where one can browse around for a nominal fee.

The midway, consisting of rides and games will be in full swing Friday evening too, and there is no admission to the park that evening.

Saturday, however, is the big day, when the crowds converge on Georgetown from north, south, east and west.

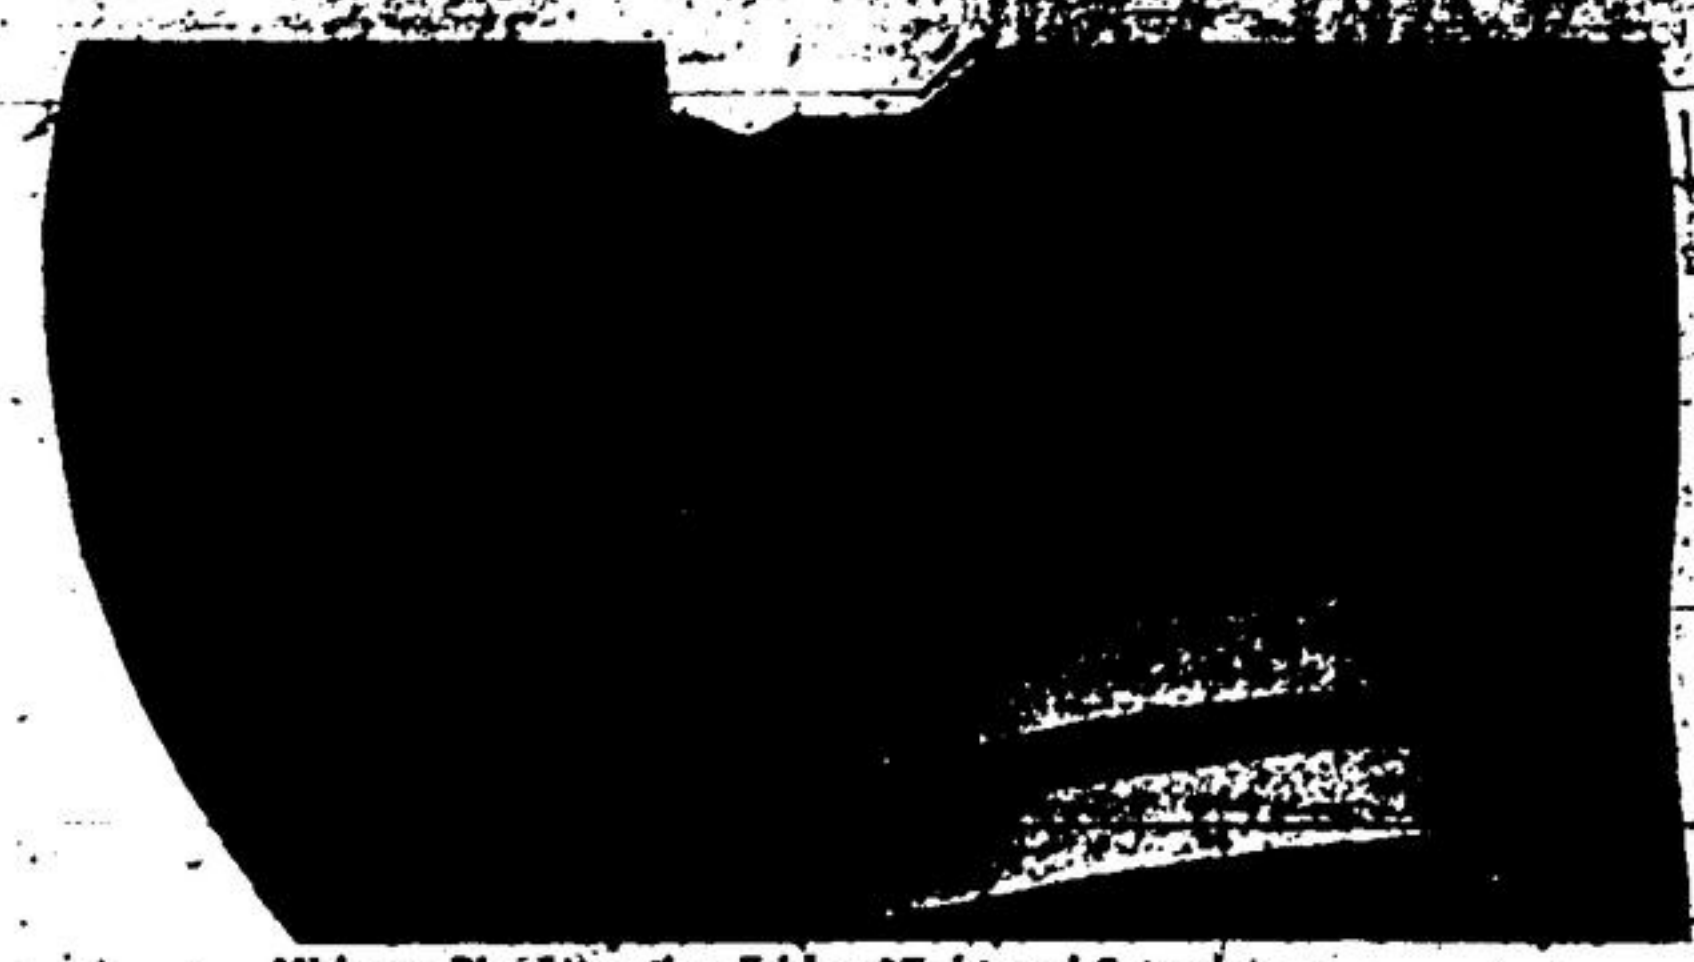

As a special attraction this year, a pony trotting race will be staged in front of the grandstand. The drivers will be young and wear the traditional racing colours. Then, too there will be the usual harness races and light and heavy horse show — with an ever-increasing number of jumpers in the centre ring.

Some of the finest livestock, sheep, swine and poultry will be on show. Junior farmers with their calves will show for wrist watches and cash prizes.

Some of the 1966 cars will be on display, and farm implements, feeds and other supply items will feature the commercial exhibit.

Vince Mountford will again be the capable M-C and the fair will be officially opened by the president Ken Ella, Mayor Joseph Gibbons and Reeve George Leslie of Esquimaux. No doubt the honorary president of the society, Dr. Harry Harley, M.P. and George Kerr, M.P.P. will want to bring their greetings also.

To meet your friends at Georgetown Fair and enjoy the atmosphere, be you an exhibitor or a fairgoer.

Elections Back to Monday

Last year's experiment in holding Georgetown's municipal election on a Saturday was not successful.

Reeve John Elliot told council last week that there was no indication that the vote was heavier by switching from the usual Monday. And it had hurt some of the local businesses, he said.

Council agreed that the town should return to the first Monday in December for elections, and the by-law will be drawn up accordingly this year.

Monday, December 6th, will be voting day.

Harry Harley Again Liberal Standard Bearer

Dr. Harry Harley of Oakville was picked by Halton County voters as their standard bearer in the November 8 federal election at their nomination convention in Burlington Tuesday night.

The nomination was no surprise. When no further nominations were made the county voters rose to their feet and applauded to their choice on the stage.

First elected to the House of Commons as Halton's representative in 1962 the 39-year-old Dr. Harley was re-elected by a substantial majority in 1963. Close to 100 Grit supporters

Election Flurry

FOR TOWN ENUMERATORS THE JOB'S DONE

HALTON RIDING returning officer Richard West receives voters lists from Mrs. George Barber, Mrs. Garfield McGilvray, Mrs. M. Maynard, Mrs. S. Walsh, Mrs. Ken Richardson, Mrs. Harry Shortill and Mrs. George Walker, some of the Georgetown enumerators during the conclusion of the pre-federal election voter enrolment Monday afternoon. Mr. West was at the municipal office to accept the lists. He predicted an increase of at least 4,000 to the election rolls this time which would bring the total eligible voters in Halton riding to 63,000. Mr. West said the increase could be attributed to the natural growth of the area since the 1963 election when 59,151 voters were eligible. Mr. West said 19 additional polling places to bring the total to 299 for this election have been established to handle the increase. There are 357 enumerators in the riding.

attended Tuesday's nomination convention in Nelson High School, Burlington, and heard the candidate proclaim, "no election campaign is ever won by sitting back and thinking and talking — everyone has to do something — I am prepared to work hard for re-election, but I need your help."

House A Shambles After Hit by Bus

Local Tories to Attend Meet the Chief Night

Local Tories will be present at the giant rally being held in Varsity arena Friday evening: "Meet the Chief" night for the leader of the Conservative party, John Diefenbaker.

This will start his campaign and present on the same platform will be Premier of Ontario John Robarts. It is also expected that a large number of the Conservative candidates will be present including Al Mansou, Halton's candidate.

Speculation is rife that Duff Roblin, Premier of Manitoba, who has already announced that he will campaign coast to coast will be there, as will be Premiers Walter Shaw and Robert Stanfield.

The rally starts at 8:00 p.m. and a cavalcade is being organized from the county, with a number from town taking part.

Mr. Diefenbaker has already paid one very successful visit to Halton, where he visited a Tory picnic at Oakville, where 3,000 turned out to hear and meet him.

He met earlier with some 30 P.C. officials, at a steak dinner where he met TV and county newspapermen for a press conference earlier in the day. County vice president Doug Latimer and Mrs. Latimer were present, as were former county president Les Clark and Mrs. Clark.

Glen Williams Family Homeless Due to Wednesday Accident

At press time no estimate has been made of the heavy property damage which resulted when a school bus plunged into a house at the base of a steep hill in Glen Williams Wednesday morning.

Homeless because of the spectacular accident are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wright and their two small children.

Mr. Wright was at his job at Blue Giant, Bramalea, when his wife, year old son, and 2 year old daughter were jolted from their sleep by the bus through the living room wall at about 7:45 a.m.

Taken to the hospital and treated for shock was the driver Claude Reid, of Norval.

The bus one of a fleet belonging to Mrs. I. Haybert, Oakville, had not yet picked up any school children on the morning run. The house, rented by the Wrights since June, is owned by Lloyd Allen of Harrison. It is situated next to St. Alban's Anglican Church and was one of the homes that suffered water damage during the severe flooding in the Glen last spring.

Mr. Wright told The Herald that his wife Marie heard their daughter in an upstairs bedroom scream when the bus hit and ran to her even before she realized what had happened. He

Murray Kernighan New Democrats' Man

Murray Kernighan, a Milton resident will carry the New Democratic Party banner for Halton riding in the November 8 federal election.

The 56 year old chairman of the Milton planning board and chemical engineer won the nomination by acclamation at an N.D.P. Association meeting at the Milton District High School gym Monday night.

He promised about 75 Halton N.D.P. Association members at the meeting his election campaign would be based on national rather than local issues. "I don't agree with candidates who promise certain things for a price if elected," he said. "I am running on the national New Democratic Party platform."

Mr. Kernighan said the U.S. Canada auto pact, while hitting close to home in Halton riding, is a national issue. "And I don't agree with the government's action in this regard," he said.

The N.D.P. candidate is president of Bescon Chemicals Ltd., Milton, and has lived in the riding for eight years.

He is no stranger in the political arena having run twice for the now defunct C.C.F. party in East York in 1945 and 1949.

Mr. Kernighan is married and he and his wife have three children.

Make Duplicate Bridge Available in Town

Duplicate bridge, which has been growing in popularity in this district since formation of the Acton bridge club, will be offered locally starting next Tuesday, October 5.

Arrangements have been made for a Georgetown club with games scheduled each Tuesday evening in the upstairs Legion auditorium.

Wellington (Duke) Wilson, 21 Union St., is organizing the club. It will be affiliated with the A.C.B.L. (American Contract Bridge League) and Master points will be issued to the qualifying players. The club is for men and women, and it is not necessary to pair up as partners. Single players will be paired with others. Nor is it absolutely necessary that a player appear every Tuesday night, as the main idea of the club is to provide a pleasant evening at a game bridge players enjoy.

The fee for a night's game is nominal, only 50c per person. It is hoped there will be large turnout of bridge players next Tuesday for the initial night. Anyone wishing further details may obtain these by phoning Mr. Wilson at 877-3615.

Teaching, Nursing, Business Calls Graduates of Grade 13

New Record for GDHS 24 to University Sets

Georgetown & District High School has set an all-time record this year in numbers of graduating students who will continue on with studies.

Of 37 graduates, only one is not registered in a university, nursing, teaching or accounting course. And that one also has university as a goal, returning to high school for a year to upgrade her standing.

These 24 young men and women have enrolled in university courses. Toronto leads the field with 8; University of Guelph and University of Western Ontario 5 each; Waterloo 4; Waterloo Lutheran 3; McMaster and York one each.

There are eight at teachers' college; one at Ryerson; two in nursing and one in chartered accounting.

Beside the graduates, a number of local young people who passed their Grade 13 at other schools this year, or at G.D.H.S. in past years, swell the total total for higher education.

Here's what the Grade 13s are doing:

KEITH ALLEN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, 47 King St. E. University of Waterloo, science. Kalth's 80.3% won him a $400 Ontario Scholarship, as well as a U. of W. scholarship.

Industrial Commission Sales Agent for Town-Owned Land

Georgetown Industrial Commission will act as sales agent for the land which the town has purchased from Delrex Developments, Ltd.

In a motion Monday, council empowered the commission to be exclusive agents with council having final authority before a sale is concluded. The town has purchased approximately 164 acres at a cost of $100 an acre.

Cr. Powers opposed the move, saying council should first decide on conditions of sale and give guidance to the commission.

His statement that the cost of land is "way down on the list" when a firm decides to locate was disputed by Cr. Young.

"It was certainly a deciding factor in the Economy firm coming here" he said.

Reeve Elliott raised the question of what the town would offer a realtor who brings a prospective buyer.

"Do you want to pay a commission?" asked the mayor.

"I'm asking you" said the Reeve.

"This is the first time I've heard a commission mentioned" said the mayor.

Cr. Francis said realtors will be negotiating with the industrial commission and wouldn't be opposed to paying a commission for a sale.

Decrease Traffic Island For Better Garage Exit

A traffic island at the Maple Avenue intersection, part of a highway widening program, will be reduced in size.

Council on Monday decided to ask for reduction, in order to clear a problem whereby an east exit from Armstrong's Garage would be blocked by the island.

The question of new lighting on the highway was also discussed. Tentatively planned for the north side of the Highway, some councillors would prefer the new lights to be on the south side, as this is where there is a majority of pedestrian traffic.

The Bell Telephone company will be asked to consider re-

Mayor Says Town's Position Complicated by Land Sale

Purchase of an industrial acreage by the town as part of a residential land release to Delrex Developments was described as "very complicated" by Mayor Gibbons Monday.

Last week the Delrex firm in a letter asked that the town's purchase be waived on 11 acres which it has sold to a new firm coming to town.

The mayor queried the town's position in this.

"This property is included in our agreement to purchase" he said. "Is Delrex going to give us the $11,000 for the sale? Was it proper for Delrex to sell it when it was owned by the town and shouldn't we insist that the town get the $11,000?"

The agreement by-law calls for purchase of 175 acres, he said, and now the town is buying less. Unless the by-law is amended, council could find itself in an awkward position, he said.

"If it proves one thing" he concluded. "Many statements have been made that we couldn't get industry without owning land. That hash is pretty well cleared up now."

Agreeing that the situation is complicated, Cr. Jim Young

Baptists Hear Hamilton Minister at Anniversary

Large congregations at First Baptist Church 11th anniversary service Sunday morning and evening heard Rev. James Taylor of Hamilton deliver special anniversary sermons.

Mr. Taylor was one of the two special guests at the Sunday services. The other was Mrs. Andrews of St. Paul's Baptist Church, Georgetown. Mrs. Andrews sang Canticum during the morning service and Eedeeming Grace and Great Joy is Mine, in the evening.

Mr. Taylor's sermon topic at the 11 o'clock service was The Church of Christ, and at the 7 o'clock service, The Relevance of the Crucified Lord. The day's scripture readings were 1 Cor. 12: 12 to 31; and John 19: 13 to 22.

Special music by the choir included Lord, I believe, Rock of Ages, and Just As I Am.

Rev. Lloyd Wham, minister of First Baptist, conducted the services.
