Close to 400 Adults Flock to Night Classes

Three hundred and sixty adults returned to school this week to sign up for the variety of courses offered at the High School night classes.

The desire to learn seems stronger in the female than the male, with the women outnumbering the men considerably. Keeping or attaining the body beautiful seems more vital to women also, since the men's physical fitness class had to be cancelled for lack of numbers.

Also cancelled for the same reason were seventeen other courses, including Mr. and Mrs. Puzit, Wood carving, Photography, Leathercraft, Metal craft, Pottery, Beginner's Bridge, Chess, Ham radio; Investing for laymen, How to use a slide rule, English Improvement.

Teaching the courses offered are: Mrs. A. Miesner, Physical Fitness for Women, Mrs. H. Moss and Mrs. E. Hess, the sewing and tailoring classes, Mr. Frank Black, oil painting, Mrs. F. Black, millinery; Mrs. D. Clark, hairdressing and personal grooming; Mr. E. W. Dzierzek, Beginner's and Advanced bookkeeping; Miss Edna Boett, Beginner's and Advanced shorthand; Mrs. L. Clark, beginner's typing; Mr. B. Armstrong, business machines and general office practice; M. A. Roberts, automotive mechanics; Mr. E. Emery, electronics; Mr. J. Durie, machine shop; Mr. A. Spright, small gasoline engines and outboard motors; Mr. J. McCulloch, Blue print reading for machinists and drafting; Mr. E. Houthier, Conversational French and basic English for non-English speaking Canadians. It is still not too late to register for the Tuesday Wednesday night school classes.

Council Issues Call For Garbage Tenders

With the contract for municipal garbage pick-up expiring on October 15, Georgetown council Monday ordered a tender call for the job.

Council plans to award a three year contract to the successful bidder.

The Hamms firm, which originally was in charge of pick-up and disposal by the sanitary landfill method, now handles only the actual garbage collection. The town work force assumed the landfill operation some months ago.
