Lion's Prepare for Santa's 34th Annual Trip & Parade

On December 11th, the 34th annual Lions Club Santa Claus Parade will again wind its way through the streets of Georgetown, delighting young and old as they go.

At the moment ten floats are entered but it is hoped many more will appear in the next week or two.

The theme of the floats runs from nursery rhymes, to T.V. characters, or anything with a Christmas appeal. The Lions Club are trying to interest groups with origins in other lands, to illustrate "Christmas in their Home Land."

For the first time it is hoped to interest Junior Farmers, and 4-H groups to submit entries.

All cheer leaders are also asked to come and brighten up the parade, and inspire the bandsmen to greater effort. There are four bands booked, and two more expected. The strutting majorettes will also be there, and of course assorted clowns.

The Ministerial Association will enter a religious float, in keeping with the season, with young groups from the Anglican, United and Roman Catholic churches building the float.

The parade will move at 1:30 "on time, just as it was last year," to quote Lion Jim Jones, and end with Santa giving out bags of candy. Last year two thousand bags were distributed, at roughly a cost of 25c each.

"Where does the money come from?" The Lions club have been raffling off a doll dressed in ten dollar bills, plus turkeys, chickens and geese to help pay for the parade.

The Lions Club are helped by the business community, both retail and industrial in a co-operative advertising venture, to keep the parade alive, since in many much bigger towns Santa Claus parades have died of the usual disease — spathy.

Businesswomen at Vineland Conference, Discuss Aims

Eight members of the Business and Professional Women's Club attended a Regional Conference of regions 3, 4 and 11 at Prudhomme's, Vineland, on October 30th and 31st.

This was the first meeting of this kind for three regions and if it is found to have been up to expectations it will replace the individual meetings. The Saturday afternoon sessions were individual meetings of the Regions where their annual reports were given and discussed. A work shop followed based on a questionnaire involving current questions pertaining to club aims and objectives and policies.

After the reception and informal dinner each of the 23 clubs presented a one minute talk on their particular club problem. These fell into four categories, leadership, membership, aims and objectives and communications. The three regional advisers and Miss Jane Follet, vice president of the Ontario Clubs each answered one of these categories.

Sunday morning was spent in discussion groups and work shops and was followed by a luncheon where Miss Joan Wilson of Guelph, president of the Ontario Clubs was the guest speaker.

Those attending from town were Mrs. Maureen Walker, Mrs. Ada Wilkinson, Miss Jean Mackenzie, Mrs. Lovene Sanford, Mrs. Elizabeth Buck, Mrs. Clarice King, Miss Hilda Erwin and Mrs. Aileen Bradley.

Find Weather Balloon

Terra Cotta resident John Eves was watching an odd balloon in the sky Wednesday morning, when it descended and came to rest in the brickyard.

The large balloon had a flashing light, and on investigation proved to belong to the U.S. weather department.

He reported it to Malton weather bureau which sent someone to pick it up later that day.

Anglican Missionaries Travel Coast to Coast

The Women's Auxiliary and Junior Auxiliary of St. George's Anglican church had the honour of a visit by two of the church's most beloved missionaries at a recent meeting when Rev. John McMullin introduced Misses Eva Hazell, M.B.E. and Iris Sayles.

Miss Hazell is the founder and honorary organizer of volunteer Sunday School Caravans in Canada and has been doing this work since 1920. With the help of Miss Sayles and young women from England, U.S.A. and Canada (sometimes foreign students) they travel to all parts of Canada holding bible vacation schools, Sunday schools, bible lessons in public schools out of hours, church services, visiting homes and Sunday School by Post members.

During the winter the two missionaries lecture in England, the U.S.A. and Canada to raise money and find teachers, drivers and skilled helpers to carry on valuable work in spreading Christ's kingdom.

To her audience at St. George's, Miss Hazell gave an interesting and inspired talk and with the help of Miss Sayles, showed slides of some of the places visited and the work being done. There were pictures of impassable roads in which they bog down in sticky mud. The vans travelled 73,000 miles last year.

Mrs. Sam Walker, W.A. president, thanked the ladies on behalf of the W.A. and this was repeated by Miss Carol Arthur, Junior W.A. president.

HORNBY

Twelve members of the evening unit of the Hornby U.C.W. met on Monday night at Hoy's Restaurant in Streetsville, where they enjoyed a Chinese dinner. Following they returned to the home of Mrs. Hazel Colgan for their business meeting. Mrs. Barbara Snow, welcomed the ladies and the new officers for 1966-67 were elected: Mrs. Hazel Reid, president; Mrs. Olive Wallace, secretary; Mrs. Millie Craig, treasurer. A committee to form the programs for the coming year was chosen and will include Mrs. Bertha Greston and Mrs. John Wallace.

Town's Growing Pains Mean More School Board Planning

Whenever Georgetown's growth takes a sudden spurt, nobody feels the growing pains more than men responsible for public school facilities. At a meeting Wednesday public school board members briefly discussed two projects which could become the reason for a lot of extra time at the board table in months to come.

The pending development of the Moore farm on Main St. N. can be of major influence to the public school population picture, and an apartment building proposed for The Park Public School territory, while of much smaller influence, could tax the teaching space there.

Trustees felt they could take a sizeable increase in Park school enrolment in their stride since that building can still absorb approximately 50 pupils, and is designed for additional classrooms if ever required.

But the Moore farm development and its effect on Chapel Street Public School enrolment is a topic of more concern to the trustees.

Working drawings of Georgetown's sixth public school were approved by the board at the Wednesday meeting and on approval by the Department of Education and other authorities will advertise for tenders.

At the meeting date, only the Ontario Fire Marshall's office had okayed, but with nine changes none of which will alter the basic structure.

At the request of the principals' association the school board will have signs printed and posted near the entrances of each school asking visitors to report to the principal's office before going about whatever business they have inside the building.

Howard Wrigglesworth public school principal William Kinrade, representing the principals at the meeting said there have been occasions when parents bringing books or other school items which their children had left at home, had entered the school and gone directly to their child's desk in a classroom with them. He said in some cases a parent was on his or her way out before the teacher even realized there had been a visitor.

Mr. Kinrade said the principals realize the unannounced visitors try to slip in and out quietly because they feel this way they don't bother the staff. But nevertheless the principals should have the knowledge of any such visitor and the nature of their visit.

A police constable told the court that 27 pints of beer were found on the 16 foot boat June 30 after it was stopped on Lake Ontario two miles from the Oakville shore.

"It's an offense to have liquor in a boat not being used bona fide as a private dwelling."

Beer in Boat Charge Hornby Man is Fined

A 43 year old Hornby man was fined $135 including costs by magistrate James Clark Wednesday for having liquor in a boat.

A charge of impaired driving in the operating of a motor vessel was withdrawn by the crown when the man pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

crowns attorney Peter McWilliam stated. The Hornby man's craft was intercepted by Oakville volunteer safety patrol TOWAREF, which was commanded by Magistrate Clark for the part it played.

A member of the TOWAREF crew told the court he saw the accused's boat leave harbour weaving at a high rate of speed. Later, he stated, it was doing tight circles at high rate of speed.

The accused had three Millie people as passengers in the boat with him.

The police constable said he had a brief scuffle with the so-

Mr. & Mrs. Barry Shepherd Honeymoon at Lake Placid

A honeymoon trip to the Thousand Islands and Lake Placid followed the marriage on October 2 of Denise Gill and Barry Thomas Shepherd.

Rev. John McMullin officiated at the ceremony in St. George's Anglican Church which was decorated with bronze and yellow mums. George Dekleer was organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father in the double ring ceremony, wore a wedding gown of floor length white organza and French lace. Her gown had a scooped neckline, lily point sleeves and a long train of French lace. She wore a crystal tiara and shoulder length veil and carried a white prayer book with orange delight roses and ivy.

There were five attendants. Miss Judy Gough, Toronto was maid of honour. Mrs. Vera Shepherd, the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Valerie Baker, Fort Erie, the bride's cousin and Miss Peggy Costley were bridesmaids, and Miss Janet Shepherd, niece of the groom, was flower girl. Senior attendants wore floor length turquoise gowns with empire waists, of chiffon over taffeta, chiffon trains and wedding ring headpieces. The flower girl wore white chiffon over taffeta with turquoise trim. They carried bouquets of bronze and yellow mums.

The groom's brother, Dennis Shepherd was groomsman and ushers were Tony Crimes, George McNeil and the bride's brother Terry Gill. Another brother, Wayne Gill was ring bearer.

At a reception in the parish hall, mothers of bride and groom received. Mrs. Gill wore a royal blue worsted 2-piece suit and Mrs. Shepherd a 2-piece jade green suit with black and white accessories. Each had a corsage of white carnations. Later there was a party at the Odd Fellows hall.

There were guests from England, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ball and Miss Sheila Ball; from Pittsburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gill and daughter; and from Oakville, Toronto, Brampton, Scarborough and Fort Erie.

For her honeymoon trip the bride chose a 3-piece white boucle suit, black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd are living at R.R. 2, Norval. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shepherd, 10 Gairney Drive and is employed with Domtar Packaging, Etobicoke. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gill, R.R. 2, Norval, and is employed with Dallavilland Aircraft.
