Looking for the Leaks Now Do It Yourself Effort

When an estimate of $337 was given as the cost of caulking the Esqueuse Municipal Building to stop the water leaks, the members decided on a "Do It Yourself Project" to see if they could find the source of the leaks.

"It's time for a little common sense," commented Reeve George Leslie, "let's try the Deputy Reeve's idea of boeing the window, and roof joints, and see for ourselves where the water's seeping in."

So with the experts baffled, Esqueuse councillors will shortly be seen boeing down the building and climbing on the roof, seeking their own solution.

"It's worth a try anyway," commented Coun. Walter Lindsay, summing up the feelings of all.

Not one tender was received in answer to the township's advertisement for snow removal tenders. "I guess we won't have any snow this year either," quipped Coun. George Currie.

"We'll just have to advertise again," explained Clerk K. C. Lindsay, "and hope for better results."

Kin Club Welcomes Four New Members

At the regular meeting of the Kinmen Club on Monday, President, Bob Collett, helped by Past Presidents Clare Burns, Harry Levy and Trav. Moore, initiated four new members: Bob Hutchinson, Doug Ditchfield, Clark Rutherford and Hugh Case are the latest members of this active Service Club.

The initiates were told of the aims and objects of the Kinmen Club, what they can expect from Kin and what Kin expects from them as members. A brief history of Kin from its beginning in Hamilton in 1920 to the present day, tracing its growth across Canada, was read by Harry Levy.

The four newest members of this only all-Canadian Service Club will be assigned to various committees immediately and will be helping the older members with their fund raising and in social and fellowship activities.

Kin Harry Levy in the absence of Stag Chairman, Bill Sunnucks, reported that the annual Stag was another financial success with final figures to come later.

MONDAY BRIDGE CLUB WINNERS

Monday's winners: 1st, Bill Harbour and Jack Coats; 2nd, Bill Hamilton and Lou Bertason.

submitted his resignation as he has accepted a position with the City of Windsor. He paid tribute to council members for their consideration but particularly to Assessor Art Benton for his help and guidance over the past five years. Council accepted the resignation with regret.

The question "is the township liable if they ban train whistling at crossings and an accident happens," which was asked of the Board of Transport last May, was answered Monday night. If the Board of Transport approves the by-law passed by the township, they are not liable. Without the Board of Transport approval, the township by-law would have no effect.

Paul Armstrong and James Sprout were appointed to the Board of Esqueuse Retarded Children's Authority, as their present appointment expires at the end of the year.

The election by-law setting Monday December 28th as election day and setting out the polling places and officials was read.

Nomination meeting will be Monday November 29th.

No Power, Church Supper Has Cold Beef, Salads

Probably suffering the most adverse effect of last week's power failure in Georgetown, Maple Avenue Baptist Church still managed to do quite a job in turning their ill-fated dinner into at least a partial success.

The annual dinner was to have been a hot beef affair commencing at 6:30. Rapid rearranging after the 5:20 blackout turned it into a cold roast beef and salad plate by candle light. Kettles of peeled potatoes and turnips never got to the stoves. The candles were those which had been used in a candle light service in the church.

About a hundred tickets had been sold and about half of the purchasers made their way through the lightless town to partake of the revised menu and hear the speaker, Mayor Lester Cooke of Barrie.

Mayor Cooke told his audience that people today have become a nation insisting on their rights instead of making good their responsibilities. He said that it is time for the minorities to settle down to these responsibilities and show their value through citizenship in the communities in which they live.

Commenting on the life of a Christian in politics Mayor Cooke said he felt a man in politics with Christian standards is probably the kind of leader Canada needs. He said he feels this is the solution to the political enigma which now exists.

He is seeking his fourth term as Mayor of Barrie. Also able to attend the dinner despite the blackout was a quartet, The Forwardaires.
