

A home nursing course sponsored by The Georgetown Red Cross is slated to get under way in January.

"Illness can strike at any time without warning, therefore we feel mothers owe it to their families to be able to recognize and treat minor ailments," a Georgetown chapter spokesman said in explaining the value of the course.

By-Law Passing Means Cedarvale Now Town's
Final stage of Georgetown's purchase of the Cedarvale school property came Monday when third reading of a by-law was passed.

The by-law awaited municipal board approval before final action could be taken. The board, on November 22, gave its approval to purchase which will mean a debenture issue next year. Acquisition of the property is Georgetown's centennial project for 1967.

Freeze, Bad Roads Nixes Hockey Game
The big freeze on the weekend brought a cancellation in a scheduled OHA Junior C hockey game here involving Georgetown Raiders and Orangeville Hornets, Sunday.

The game was postponed because of icy road conditions. Georgetown's club was notified about an hour and a half before game time.

Ontario Provincial Police advised the Orangeville team against making the trip. The game will likely be played sometime toward the end of the schedule.

Storm, Power Failure But Church Service Goes On
White Gift Sunday, was observed by the Ballinacraig congregation the first week in December with members of the Sunday School assisting in the service and the Junior Choir singing special music.

Last Sunday the sacrament of holy communion was administered to a very small congregation due to inclement road conditions. The guest minister was professor Blackman, teacher of New Testament at Emmanuel College in Toronto, and well known for his book published on the study of the Bible, as well as his contribution to "The Interpreter's Bible." His presence on Sunday was an answer to the old saying "where there is a will, there's a way." The Toronto subway was not operating due to bad weather conditions so he arrived by train where he was met by Mr. George Bate and then to Churchill and back to find Ballinacraig Church in darkness due to a power failure. The services were most impressive, in spite of all the problems.

Miss Jean Lawr was home for the week-end and on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lawr had their family together for dinner, observing their wedding anniversary as well as Peter's twenty-first birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Perryman celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary also on Saturday. Their family held a dinner in the community hall when the number of relatives and close friends came to offer congratulations and good wishes.
