DEL D'ENTREMENT AND HIS WIFE Kathleen of 14 Durham St., Georgetown, have just won the top prize in a province-wide contest held for the 80 Beaver Lumber Managers in Ontario. The presentation was made in the company's head office in Sheridan Park by Division Manager J. W. Dupras and his assistant W. L. Noble. Del and Kathleen will leave shortly for a week in Nassau.

Nurses Consider New By-Law as Prelude to Collective Bargaining

A new by-law under consideration by the Halton County District of the Registered Nurses' Association will pave the way for collective bargaining to be introduced into the hospitals through membership in the Association.

The measure, however, is only a final report if collective bargaining rights cannot be obtained through a proposed act that has been presented to the minister of health for consideration by the provincial government.

The collective bargaining clause of the new by-law will only be effective if the provincial government, said Miss Doris Gibney, assistant executive secretary for R.N.A.O.

Nurses in Halton County have been pioneers in seeking collective bargaining rights. In 1964 the nurses of the area fought unsuccessfully to have a special act passed to allow nurses the right to bargain.

Since that time negotiations and behind the scenes talks have resulted in tentative agreements permitting nurses up to the rank of supervisor to participate in collective bargaining.

However, no written agreements have been signed and nurses are still trying for an all-inclusive collective bargaining organization.

The clause in the by-laws, which would allow the association to go ahead and organize collective bargaining—says that one of the objectives of the legal corporation would be to regulate employee-employer relations.

Says Delinquency Statistics Point to Wayward Parents

After caustic criticism of Halton county authorities for lack of respect for the administration of justice in placing a "ten-cent" sign at the driveway entrance to Halton's courts, Mr. Justice E. G. Moorhouse last week opened the Ontario Supreme Court assizes with an address to the grand jury in the county courthouse.

"We are living in a thoroughly mixed-up society unknown to our grandfathers," he declared. "They called cigarettes coffin nails and it took 50 years to prove they were right."

He continued: "The moral law is what members of society consider the right way to live and the foundation stone of moral law is justice. He listed delinquency, both paternal and juvenile, divorce, drinking and other deviations from moral standards as problems facing modern society, but he said "No society anywhere has solved the problem of morals without religion, whether it be Christian, Jewish, Buddhist or any other."

LET'S PLAY BRIDGE

BY BILL COATS

It is often necessary to delay setting up a side suit. When the trump are needed for entries, it is essential to plan your play carefully. A hand occurred at a rubber bridge match last week in which careful management of the trump suit allowed declarer to make a difficult game contract.

The bidding:

2D Pass 3S Pass
4S 5C Pass Pass
Dbls All Pass

I was sitting in the North position. When the opponents bid up to four spades on reasonably strong bidding, I decided to sacrifice at five clubs. Down one or two not vulnerable would cost less points than letting the opponents make four spades. As I pointed out in this column a few weeks ago, one of the joys of sacrifice bidding is that, occasionally, you make the contract.

West led the four of spades, which was won by declarer's ace. Declarer is faced with a club loser and at least two diamond losers. The only reasonable place to get rid of a diamond loser is on heart in dummy. If this is to come about, declarer must get to work on the heart suit immediately.

South led the singleton heart and won in dummy. A low heart was led and ruffed. Declarer now ruffed a spade in dummy and led another heart ruffed high. South must not ruff with either the club five or club seven.

Now the time had come to take out trump. The king was led and both the opponents' trump removed in one round. Not wishing to give declarer a ruff and a sluff, West led a diamond. East won and returned the suit but this was the last trick for the defense.

South won the diamond return and led the carefully preserved club five and won in dummy with the six. Another heart was ruffed high, establishing dummy's last heart as a winner. The club seven was led to dummy's eight and South's losing diamond was parked on dummy's good heart.

When dummy is short of entries, you must plan your play from the first trick. Little did I suspect that my hand contained four entries, but declarer found them when they were required.

Bridge Results: 1st pair, Bill Hamilton, Mrs. Kay Coats; 2nd pair, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Jeffares.

HOSPITAL NEWS

By Lea Clark

The regular monthly meeting of the Hospital Board was held last Thursday evening. In our opinion it was one of the best ones we've attended, disposing of a great deal of business, as well as being highly informative. The meeting, while a long one, accomplished a lot of work, as well as (and in our opinion, just as important) exploring possibilities of future needs, growth, etc.

Fred Whittaker and Harold McClure told of their attendance at the formation of the guiding body for the new Nurses' Regional School, to be established in the near future, at and in conjunction with South Peel Hospital. This training plan for nurses will be unique in that it will use the facilities of all hospitals in the group to train the student nurses. The entire cost of administration is expected to be borne by the Ontario Hospital Services Commission.

The idea is unique in North America, and, by utilizing existing facilities, could do a lot to ease the chronic nurse shortage. The school itself will be built adjacent to the South Peel Hospital.

Dr. C. Alan Thompson gave an interesting medical report, mentioning that a new doctor had been obtained to look after the needs of the community. An interesting sidelight was the fact that his wife is a doctor also, at present completing her internship in a Toronto hospital.

The medical prexy also said that he was pleased to announce a new piece of equipment for the hospital, and that he and the administrator had it in the hospital at present on trial and for examination by the medical staff.

Chairman Armstrong reported on the progress of the Bebbek Memorial Fund, and reported a meeting was to be held in the near future between the doctors and board committee, to discuss the form the memorial should take. Mr. Armstrong also reported an interesting letter from a member of the doctor's graduating class. It told of plans being formulated by members of the Class of '60, Medicine, U of T. (140 members now practicing throughout Canada and the USA) to establish a memorial to their classmate.

It is interesting to note that the Dean of Medicine is taking an active part in formulating the plans for this project.

In all probability this will finance a bursary or scholarship in Medicine, at the U of T.

Last year the Board sponsored a number of nights, designed to show local groups and industry, how their donations to the building fund had been used, and to show any interested parties the hospital itself. A further series will be initiated this year, with, we believe, the first night being a 'Ladies Night' for Women's organizations. As soon as details have been finalized, the three board members, organizing it (Elsie Hamilton, Ruth Evans and Joyce Hewson) will promise details for this column.

Two weeks ago we took occasion to mention in this column that there were a few new industries in Georgetown, since the Fund campaign of six years ago, and the subsequent building of the Hospital, and that donations were still not only welcome, but vitally needed. We did not, by any means, try to single out or embarrass anyone, however, there may have been grounds for misinterpreting our remarks.

A friend, and head of a small industry brought this to our attention when he pointed out that his firm had established in Georgetown long after the building campaign had been completed, and it was their understanding that adequate funds had been raised. This of course was the case... but as so often turns out, does not give a true picture. Anyone familiar with hospital financing knows that the Commission pays only the day-to-day operating costs, any extensions, repairs, new services or equipment have to be met entirely by the generosity of individuals, organizations and industry.

This then, is the situation and we feel that industry that has been established in the past few years, should, if possible, help to maintain a facility that they no doubt will use from time to time. It is our firm belief that there has been a great deal of misunderstanding on this point and we hope that the foregoing explanation of our continuing needs will help dispel it.

Our questioner seemed a bit surprised about this state of affairs and promised to take it up with his head office for a contribution.

Expect Dr. Harley to Head Common's Drug Committee

By Farmer Tisington

The Government made it clear last week that it intends to re-establish the Common's special committee on Food and Drugs.

The man almost certain to head up the committee again is Halton MP Dr. Harry Harley, who chaired the committee during the last Parliament.

Originally, the Committee held extensive hearings on the safety of drugs and produced a report last year which made a number of recommendations for tightening up the rules under which drugs are tested, manufactured and distributed.

Just before parliament adjourned last June the committee was planning a series of meetings to investigate drug costs. This is the field the committee will explore this winter and spring as soon as the necessary machinery to establish the committee has been put into operation.

There has been pressure to lower the cost of drugs by removing the present sales tax but former finance Minister Walter Gordon indicated the Government would not take such action until the committee had met and made its recommendations. A similar course is expected to be followed this year which (observers feel) will almost certainly rule out elimination of the sales tax in this year's budget from finance Minister Mitchell Sharp.

Interviewed here following the throne speech, Dr. Harley expressed pleasure that the Government proposed to set up the committee again. He said that he hopes to be chosen as a member of the committee and if elected as chairman he will be happy to carry on the work in the new parliament.

Earlier it was rumoured in Ottawa that Dr. Harley was being considered as a secretary in the new parliament which opened yesterday.

Brownlane Kavala's Josyl was bred by Sterling Brown & Sons, Harvey Station, N.B., and is owned and was tested by Kenneth Ella & Sons, Hornby, Ont. The well known A.I. sire, Brampton Sixth Generation, Gold and Silver Medal Century Superior Sire, is the sire of both sire and dam of Brownlane Kavala's Josyl.

Winter's the time... WHY WAIT FOR SPRING?

WINTER WORK ADVANTAGES

People stand to gain when they have renovation and repair jobs done in winter. Tradesmen are on hand, and so can be quickly on the job, and the extra care and time skilled workmen can devote to a task during slack months gives the plant or office official, or the householder, more for his money. He is also likely to find there are fewer delays in the delivery of materials, and, in the case of an addition to a home or business premises there is the likelihood of earlier occupancy.
